

Global Awakening News

Commentary and Guidance for Enlightened Change During Rapidly Changing Times

“A-List” Updates “Epilogue”

April-August 2013

Links to print-formatted PDF (approximately 467kb) of this Update:

<http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/Epilogue-Apr-Aug-2013.pdf>

or

<http://www.newearthsummit.org/pfcn/Bulletins/Epilogue-Apr-Aug-2013.pdf>

Contents

- Letter to readers, one and all
- Miscellany
- Synopsis of Concluding Essays
- “Epilogue” to A-List – “Nothing More to Teach”

Appendix

- Compilation of NES posted essays after the Jan-Mar 2013 A-List Update
- Correction energies invocation write-ups

Please note that this marks the end of the A-List. I will endeavor to stay in touch through e-mail correspondence.

Current A-List members are welcome to email questions and comments to me directly at info@pfcn.net.

- Alex

Letter to One and All

August 16, 2013

Dear A-List Readers,

It has been a most difficult “journey” for all concerned and as we near an important stage of completion, I am using this Epilogue and its compendium of postings to include my parting comments to all concerned.

This “Epilogue” announces the posting of three of the four essays and marks the end of the A-List. These concluding essays were summarized in the last Update. As usual, it includes an Appendix of NES posts made since the January-March Update.

Over these recent years, we have written primarily to support the ascension and spiritual evolution of those who are most advanced and focused in their process. This has required a level of personal capacity that exceeds that of the vast majority of human Selves. I know it has been very difficult at times to maintain a high level of patient focus. Do not drop your attention now. We are nearing the conclusion of all this for our 3d levels of Self.

There is nothing more to teach. All that needs to be said and more has been published over several years to provide necessary depth and background, guidance and insights into the spiritual ascension and transformational process, and to provide workable methods to help you to reconnect your Self above and below.

We have presented this material directly, not through channeled intermediaries, or by relying on others who may only be quoting from others.

Creator of All is calling in all its parts (minus the corruption of the Dark). Our own higher level/soul beings are being asked to do the same for its domains of being. Our human level Self is a microcosm of all of this and thus is also asked to “pull itself together” in terms of completions, detachment, and high attractor –and to offer our deeper spiritual learning from this lifetime and all human existence to the greater evolutionary growth of the totality of our being.

Each of us can make a spiritually informed conscious choice for our human Self. The vast majority of humans make “non-choices” by default and are now on an unstable rollercoaster running on unstable ground. Let it be. It is in the hands of Creator of All. Your greatest Service is to attend to your own process.

Thank you each and all for your being here and for your willingness and fortitude to focus on what is truly important: your existence as a spiritual being. All my best to you!

-Alex

Miscellany:

For new readers:

Occasionally someone will remark that the A-List Updates are “too long”, etc. This is partly because Updates have included an Appendix of all significant NES posts made since the previous Update. The actual Updates are otherwise relatively short in length. We inadvertently made it easy to ignore the NES forum site where most of this material first appears in various contexts. There will be no more dedicated A-List Updates or commentaries on the state of the spiritual transformation and ascension process, I suggest to bookmark the NES forum page and check it at least once a week. The material we publish is for those who are serious about their spiritual evolution and the ascension and transformation process. Given the paucity of clear information today, we have had to address many levels of this reality, including human society.

Main NES front page: <http://www.newearthsummit.org/>
Forum shortcut: <http://www.newearthsummit.org/forum/>

Questions & Comments

As you read and consider the concluding material, you are welcome to email (info@pfcn.net) questions and comments. These I will consolidate with responses and post them at the NES Forum (without attribution).

Lastly, for whatever reasons, some continue to ask where this material originates from. I have explained this in various Updates and in Global Awakening News over the years. The spiritual or esoteric nature of this material is directly present with me and I possess an unusual depth of knowledge covering an unusually wide range and depth of human affairs. The same goes for John Crawford who has made important contributions to the material. This may be hard for some to accept, but there you have it.

No “-isms” here!

It is my insistent wish and intention that nothing organized, nor any sort of “-ism” be formed that may claim to represent our work or claim to be based on it. The work of Global Awakening News and the A-List Updates series is for you to use in your way. It is freely and publicly available for anyone who is serious about spiritual transformation and ascension, to access for themselves without any intermediary. There is never to be any fee charged by anyone for this material and there are no “authorized” teachers for this work. It is free. May you be free.

- / -

Alternate PFCN “Articles and Bulletins” site page now at New Earth Summit Forum site

May 4, 2013

Link to this announcement:

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1420.msg6019.html#msg6019>

Now available at the NES forum site:

<http://www.newearthsummit.org/pfcn/>

Original site: www.pfcn.net

I will be testing the links to determine if there are any "glitches" from the transfer. The purpose of this is to provide redundancy for the substantial body of material we have published over the years. This may be useful during periodic Internet outages which can be anticipated to increase over time.

- / -

Please note: Original links imbedded in each article will not change, thus if you are reading a PDF - or an NES post - that refers to an A-List Update or Global Awakening News article at the main PFCN site, it will take you to that site and out of the NES Forums domain.

Any link inside a document from the original www.pfcn.net/ website that does not translate over can be easily corrected by you in your browser window by substituting <http://newearthsummit.org/pfcn/> (document filename.pdf).

New navigation links have been added to the primary NES home page (<http://www.newearthsummit.org/>).

Our main email address (info@pfcn.net) will not change.

- / -

Library of All Published Materials

If anyone wants a CD-ROM with all of our PDF's that are presently online, please e-mail me your postal mailing address and I will send you ours. I ask twenty dollars ($20) to cover USPS priority mail and the bother of making and verifying a disk. Otherwise, if you have a fast Internet connection, a link will be posted at PFCN and NES for two or three very large compressed zip files that you can download and then un-zip.

- / -

The Concluding Essays:

The fourth of the concluding essays, “Problems of Dissipation”, will be posted at the NES Forum and the PFCN site when it is ready. It was more important that I first finish this Epilogue and conclude the A-List “Updates” process. Please check the NES forum in the coming week or so for follow-up posts.

Each essay includes an appendix of supplementary “end notes”. This was to make it possible for each essay to focus on its main theme with minimal digressions. The series was originally summarized in the January-March 2013 Update:

#1) “The Human Question” came about from a decades-long ongoing examination and re-examination of the potential and appropriateness of extant humans as a vehicle for spiritual intelligences to learn and evolve through. This process required examining how things were in the next levels up from human, which in turn required examining more of the state of the souls and higher level beings that were hooked into the human level of awareness.

Link: <http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/The%20Human%20Question.pdf>

#2) The “Queen of the Machine” essay came about from explorations of the energetic spaces underlying 3d and from assessing the state of the “correction energies”. The implications of the situation with levels below 3d density have yet to be explored enough. Perhaps it will be answered post-“corrections” by those who have learned the most from this demented realm of existence quaintly referred to as “3d”. My preliminary observations are that there is evidence of a primary or primal root template that has been suppressed and distorted from the inception of all that the Dark manifested or eventually dominated. When the dark side machinery is removed through the larger transformation process that is underway, then what remains?

Link: <http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/queen%20of%20the%20machine.pdf>

#3) “Ascension, Death, and Transfiguration” emerged from over a year of contemplation of the state of the ascension process and those at their human levels who had an affinity for this. Background to this probably spans most of my human lifetime here and my knowledge that true life exists without any need for a conflicting duality and the illusion of “death”.

Link: <http://www.pfcn.net/bulletins/death%20and%20transfiguration.pdf>

#4) “Problems of Dissipation” developed through the consideration of the larger questions of the relationship between higher self/higher level beings and human self and the seeming inability to meaningful influence changes at the human level. This touches upon what I have come to regard as a second flaw in the greater creation process.

Coming soon.

“Epilogue”

The existential catastrophic crisis... Nothing More to Teach

August 20, 2013

NOTE: I address these concluding comments to the widest possible audience, not only to the “A-List” or NES forum contributors. -ASK

An existential crisis is emerging for many (but not all) who have been most seriously focused on their spiritual evolutionary growth and reconnection to the Oneness and their own higher levels of being. Once one has adequately dealt with one’s basic inner process, this crisis tends to center upon whether you identify as a spiritual being or a human. This is not a false dichotomy and it bears directly on one’s ascension process as this is one of the strongest and most hidden of the control memes.

Some continue having difficulty detaching from the “ties that bind” them to human 3d society. The process of identifying and letting go/resolving one’s attachment to one’s 3d human existence are for most the gentlest and most instructive approach. For some, once one has achieved the Realization that one is indeed a spiritual being and not a “human”, the rest of the process can go more easily. For the majority of spiritual aspirants, it is important to work both of these tracks until they converge in Realization.

If one cannot consciously decouple their Self from the limitations of human-identified-human, consider that when this level of existence ends a new one opens up for you. Your new existence will most closely reflect your core beliefs of your consciousness and overall vibrational state.

For most of those who are not spiritually-focused, another type of personal catastrophic crisis will be encountered. For some, there might be a preliminary “warning”, perhaps involving a situation of extraordinary level of mass death and destruction somewhere other than where they may reside on Earth. The next stage would directly affect their own human existence.

These events I refer to tend to strip away anything and everything that one may be attached to. It will be at the moment of personal catastrophic crisis, that so many who are enthralled and inured to the human reality matrix will be obliged to let go in a moment of opening to and surrendering to higher realms of existence –as there is nothing left in the ordinary human world that is meaningful to hold on to.

- / -

Some of you have been reading here for six or seven years. It is time to conclude this work and attend to what is before us.

Our work in recent years has been to help a portion of the remaining fraction of Selfs who are not under the thrall of the Dark to find their way in developing their own unique connections to Source and their own higher level being. I have done my best not to support patterns of deception, and to assist the larger transformational and ascension process which entails the separation of the Light from the parasitic entwines of the Dark.

As I wrote in “Queen of the Machine”, It is easy to be emotionally dismissive and haughtily write off the 3d human-Earth experience as “failed”. It is entirely another matter to understand how and why this occurred and what lies ahead. The same applies to one’s own development as a spiritual being. It is for one’s own greater spiritual evolution and that of creation –and that is the point to bothering to learn any of this.

As your own consciousness and awareness learns to penetrate beyond the falsehoods and illusions, more “Light” can shine where none has for a very long time. This is part of each of your own spiritual development and evolution and represents an important service to the greater whole.

- / -

Earth as the familiar 3d density planet is most likely to be cleaned and cleared. Guided from higher levels of consciousness it would be prepared for a new role. There is also the possibility that Earth as a “3d body” will be destroyed and a new version of the original creation experiment established.

In any case, none of this is “actionable” at the human level of being.

What we have termed “new earth” is a higher vibrational state that is the “ground” for a new way for higher level/soul beings to experience individuation and something of relative density.

- / -

Disclaimer caveat: The following are very subjective and intuitive estimates, yet are also partly based upon statistical data.

Of the portion of humans who most identified with spirituality, regardless of religious affinities, those who focused on ascension or spiritual transformation has been a small fraction. Over a period of a few decades from the mid-1980's to present, the majority of humans acknowledged that spirituality is important, etc. But this reveals nothing to distinguish it from the commonplace social-spiritual version of “political correctness”. (One example is from the IOOW2000 national social science research that showed roughly thirty-one percent (31%) of USA households having an affinity for “spirituality” regardless of their religious or non-religious tendency).

It would be closer to 10% or 15% who strongly identified with the importance of spirituality in their lives (roughly 600 to 800 million, projected globally) and of this portion, roughly 5% to 10% were more seriously concerned with spiritual evolution and ascension (roughly 30 to 80 million). Over the latter part of the first decade of year 2000, this dropped to roughly about 2% to 4% (roughly 12 to 32 million).

Over these decades, personal capacity eroded as fewer and fewer made spiritual evolution a priority in their human lives. This was partly due to widespread propagation of deceptions and false hopes, partly due to the severe ballast effect that takes a heavy toll on most everyone in human society, and partly the result of being surrounded by an essentially hostile human society. In the face of all the difficulties, this remaining small portion was more determined than ever to make a spiritual breakthrough.

In recent years, the remaining fraction dropped to 10% to 20% (leaving roughly 1 to 6 million) around 2010-2011, and then again leaving roughly 100,000 to 1,200,000), and further attrition into 2011-2012 leaving even fewer who retained the needed energetic and conscious capacity to “stay the course”. But as before, in the face of great challenges, this core group developed even greater energetic capacity.

As of this writing, I suspect this number continues to erode to this day to perhaps only tens of thousands or even thousands who are ready for a conscious ascension process in which their individuation and spiritual learning is retained as they embark from “3d” Earth.

However one may personally assess the situation, either estimating these fractions up or down, it is must be regarded with detachment, understanding there were enormous hurdles to overcome, including deceptions of the “new age”, multiple avenues of social misdirection, ongoing grip/attraction of the falsehoods of “civilization”, and of course discouragement and physical-emotional fatigue leading to spiritual exhaustion.

- / -

While some readers who are newly coming in to the published GA:News and A-List material have retained their capacity to read and contemplate this material. Yet others have made it clear that they lack this capacity and can only handle simple and short pieces. This is partly due to the prevalence of the severely contracted “sound bite” and text-messaging “narrow band thinking” that is endemic to present day society. This was a problem a few decades ago in developing television content. Today the problem is exacerbated by orders of magnitude. The overall degeneration of basic mental faculties assures that humans will never be able to deal with anything requiring complex thinking and long term attention to nuances. (This is comparable to stunted physical growth of large populations following long term disease, famines, or wars that interrupted and restricted familiar food supplies.)

- / -

How many readers here took up the “crystal body” exercises and the other basic practices we offered and explained? While none of these are “panaceas” for “spiritual ignition” (yes, everyone likes a panacea!) they are among the most energetically “clean”, direct, and simplest aids in one’s “expansion-ascension” process. We also provided the key principles to one’s own psycho-spiritual process. And people still write asking for yet more examples of a “high attractor” for themselves, as if there was some “catalog” to pick from.

I estimate that 20% to 40% attempted these various practices, of whom perhaps 10% to 20% persisted with serious intent.

- / -

There are some profound implications in the concluding essays, some of which are touched on explicitly, others are left for readers to give careful thought to by extension and inference.

I understand that it is very difficult from the human level of illusion of self to understand that it is possible that this “self” is presently not guaranteed any permanency as a sentient individuation in the larger scheme of things –even with their own higher level of being.

It is my assessment that this is one example originating from a “second flaw” in the creation process, something which is addressed in the fourth and last essay, “Problems of Dissipation”. This is also an example of a type of “spiritual irresponsibility” on the part of some higher level/soul beings. Thus it is an important element being addressed by the “corrections process” at the higher levels.

Anyone who thinks that “leaving 3d” results in some magically pristine existence in “4d” is in for a surprise. The fallout (fall-up?) in the next levels up from all that has been concentrated in the lower density is still present quite a mess to clean up.

Much work is needed "up there" and this is why the "corrections energies" filtering continues its refining process through the next levels up. As the vibrational levels increase, there is less and less of any Dark forces influence.

When "all is said and done" it will be as if the Dark never existed. Thus even memories that do not serve one's spiritual evolution will largely be gone –and any individuations of consciousness that require memories of density in their structures will no longer have cohesion.

- / -

For those who are most ready, there are their higher levels of being to attend as you move to your "rightful" place in your own greater being, your spiritual Home that connects with the higher Oneness.

- / -

The ascension and transformation process leads to groups of higher level/soul beings developing their mutual responsibility as they learn to become "creator-beings in training". By example they encourage and facilitate others who have yet to be caught up in the process. Each one who moves into the new energies of the ascension process will be directly aiding the process of many. But this is not something that we can do for or to others. Rather it is more like a natural inductive effect. First one, then another, then more, as it grows. This is one of the big changes occurring now. The main work is shifting now to the next levels up.

Despite all the impediments over too long a time, there are nevertheless the largest numbers of spiritual beings here and now that are in this transformation and ascension process.

"...those who can move on in their spiritual growth and evolution must do so. If you choose this, there is nothing and no one to wait for... The ripple effect of the forward movement will be of great service as it will free many more who will "take flight" and enter new states of spiritual awareness that can also inform ones day-to-day existence. It is what could be called approaching "escape velocity". This is the awakening."

Each of us is more than our human self. Remember who and what you are.

I thank you for each and every one here for their being.

-Alex

Appendix of Essays Posted After the March 2013 A-List Update

At the Center... ...page 15

Notes from May 19, 2013 through August 23, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg6109.html#msg6109>

“Special Status” ...page 17

August 20, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg6104.html#msg6104>

Ascension and the “New Age” False Ascension ...page 18

August 15, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1436.0.html>

Reflections on “End Times” Brinksmanship

Waiting for ...? What? Why? ...page 21

August 18, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1435.0.html>

The Big Changes -- About Those “Feelings” ...page 25

August 15, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1432.msg6101.html#msg6101>

Feelings and Intuitions – The Abysmal or The Higher Light ...page 28

August 13, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1432.msg6092.html#msg6092>

Follow-up comments - Re: Feelings and Intuitions – The Abysmal or The Higher Light ...page 31

August 13, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1432.msg6093.html#msg6093>

Humans - Cancers - Corrupted Nature ...page 33

July 31, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1429.msg6080.html#msg6080>

“End Times” Insanity ...page 34

July 30, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1430.msg6078.html#msg6078>

Addendum to “End Times Insanity”

Redemption and “Suffering” of Souls ...page 36

August 23, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1430.msg6108.html#msg6108>

Supplementary to “The Human Question”

Binary or Quantum? Dual Mind as an Aberration ...page 46

July 29, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1431.msg6079.html#msg6079>

Pacific Islands: Human Story in Microcosm ...page 50

July 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1429.msg6076.html#msg6076>

In “His” Image –Creator of All ...page 52

July 15, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1416.msg6066.html#msg6066>

Apocatastasis –

Transformation of Matter, Biology, & Consciousness ...page 54

July 5, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg6055.html#msg6055>

If it is of any help... A little of what I know ...page 56

July 15, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1416.msg6069.html#msg6069>

Excerpt from “The Human Question”

A Grand Unification ...page 60

July 8, 2013 - corrected for typos

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.958.msg6057.html#msg6057>

The “Microcosm” of “You” ...page 63

June 27, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.958.msg6049.html#msg6049>

Next Levels Up Where Illusions and Delusions of 3d are Played Out “A Kodak Moment” – and a short update ...page 64

June 28, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1374.msg6050.html#msg6050>

Having a “3d” Experience

Dolphins, Humans, and Spiritual Beings ...page 67

June 12, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1425.msg6041.html#msg6041>

Growing Your Own Spiritual-Energetic Capacities ...page 72

June 17, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1424.msg6044.html#msg6044>

Ascension Breakthroughs ...page 74

June 16, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1374.msg6042.html#msg6042>

Getting Off the “Merry-Go-Round” and “Surrendering” ...page 79

June 2, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1416.msg6035.html#msg6035>

Postscript Re: “We are at the end...?” ...page 83

June 3, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1422.msg6036.html#msg6036>

Re: “Caught in the middle with the pressure on high”

Comments ...page 85

May 28, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1422.msg6028.html#msg6028>

“Caught” but Really Free ...page 88

May 30, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1422.msg6034.html#msg6034>

Additional Comments on “Next Levels Up ...page 92

April 4, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg5999.html#msg5999>

Earthchanges & The Greater Changes ...page 93

April 22, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1383.msg6013.html#msg6013>

Follow-up: “Earthchanges & The Greater Changes” ...page 97

May 15, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1383.msg6024.html#msg6024>

Timing of the Changes & Some Whys and Wherefores ...page 105

May 26, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1401.msg6027.html#msg6027>

The “Eschaton” & Point-of-View ...page 112

April 25, 2013 – completed May 9, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1401.msg6021.html#msg6021>

Questions before Embarkation: ...page 117

May 6, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg6020.html#msg6020>

“Magic Slippers” – Personal protocols ...page 122

April 23, 2013 – edited May 9, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg6017.html#msg6017>

Whispers of the Dark & Waking Out of the “Dream” ...page 123

April 17, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1374.msg6014.html#msg6014>

Continued discussion of “Problems of Ascension”:

Glitches in the Matrix – Waking in the Dream ...page 128

April 10, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1374.msg6007.html#msg6007>

Continuation of “Problems of Correction and Ascension”

“What Remains?” - A Question of Deception ...page 130

April 14, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1374.msg6008.html#msg6008>

“Crystal Body” and Related Practices ...page 133

Sunday June 9, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1424.msg6039.html#msg6039>

- / -

The “Corrections Energies”

An Invocation, An Intention, An Attention - Basic version ...page 136

Correction Energies Update ...page 137

July 18, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1379.msg6072.html#msg6072>

About potted plants...

Re: Addition to “Correction Energies” ...page 138

July 21, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1379.msg6073.html#msg6073>

- // -

At the Center...

Notes from May 19, 2013 through August 23, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg6109.html#msg6109>

“At the center of the most secret of all secrets is that you are not a human being, you are a spiritual being that has the use of an Earthly host body. What you do with this Knowing is up to you.”

As important as it is to truly Know this deepest secret of all, there is something else which is closely related:

- /-

Most human personality selfs are inherently self-centered, human-centric, and for the most part, barely aware of the forces that have created them as an individual personal self. Human self-centeredness and limited point of view presumes (incorrectly) that one’s personal identity is the product of one’s overall social and physical environment and later on in life, one’s choices.

Self-centeredness impels humans to seek outside agencies to blame for “the troubles”, the “un-rightness”, the “suffering”, etc., all that repels those who are seeking Truth about human existence.

Most humans have very little capacity with which to understand what drives the human world and the dynamics involved. For some, it is more than enough to acknowledge and understand a little something of the existence of a global elite, the shadow powers behind the public façades of power. Few comprehend anything about the dynamics within the power elites and those who carry out their aims. Fewer still comprehend anything about the corresponding dark forces from a higher vibrational state that have worked through diverse forms of human agencies to carry out their general aims. And fewer still, comprehend that even within the higher level Dark forces there are contentious differences, similar in pattern as those differences among the human level power elite. And even fewer yet can understand the nature and origins of the Dark forces.

Of those humans who intellectually acknowledge any of these things, only a small fraction understand these things from a spiritual perspective as well as an intellectual one. So, there is the mental or intellectual level of acknowledging the possible existence of something “other” and there is the understanding of such things through direct spiritual knowing.

But even among those who at the least have an intellectual understanding of the spiritual dynamics, human self-centeredness dominates as now they can blame invisible dark forces for “the troubles”, etc.

Recently we have re-introduced a variable to those who are spiritually-oriented, one which concerns the problems of their own higher level or soul being –their nearest spiritual “home”.

And again human self-centeredness skews the learning process for some who are given to suspicions of anger and blame and discouragement with their own higher level being. This can lead to a type of spiritual nihilism that may blame and reject Creator of All as well. Part of this problem stems from the lack of direct communication between them as a human Self and their greater levels of being. At the least it leads to the dissipation of one’s spiritual energies needed to complete one’s transition process here.

Human self-centeredness also includes simplistic, erroneous notions suggesting that human “you”, as a part of a larger spiritual intelligence, is here on Earth to pay off karmic debts, settle old scores, fulfill “missions”, experience reincarnational obligations, etc. Thus the “new age” belief systems readily join various mainline religious beliefs systems concerning “original sin” and humans as the source of the Dark, of “evil”, etc.

- / -

Spiritualized human Selves, those who are spiritually awake in other words, are able to understand all this very differently and matter-of-factly and can apply discernment with compassion without arrogant judgment.

They are the ones who can expand to embrace and ascend into their higher levels of being and thus play an active role in their higher evolution as spiritual beings.

Those who are sufficiently awake in this regard understand, without the problem of “cognitive dissonance” that they, as an individuation, as a Self, are not accountable or responsible for the errors and omissions of their higher level being. At the same time, they know they are a part of this larger intelligence.

Those who are spiritually awake can understand that they are very much part of the “cosmic correction” process and have a vital role to play in making things right.

-Alex

“Special Status”

August 20, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg6104.html#msg6104>

As I wrote in the previous post “Waiting...”

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1435.msg6103.html#msg6103>

... At the center of the most secret of all secrets is that you are not a human being, you are a spiritual being that has the use of an Earthly host body. What you do with this Knowing is up to you.

- / -

If you are sailing through the air at high speed and extend your hand slightly, your trajectory will be altered very quickly. Yet, if you are slowly walking along a path on the ground, the same perturbation of movement will have no discernible effect or consequence.

As one moves closer to completing one’s transition from 3d, and move past the ordinary attachments from the human 3d world, strongly held beliefs play a greater role in one’s “spiritual trajectory”. It is in this time that the passing of events (“time”) may seem to speed up to near instantaneous. So much so that time may seem to slow down to a floating standstill. And it is from this paradoxical point of view that one can find themselves expanding infinitely.

I have said in many different ways that is absolutely essential that you KNOW yourself to be a Spiritual Being connected with the highest Light.

This is your “Special Status” that no Dark entity can interfere with.

-ASK

Ascension and the “New Age” False Ascension

August 15, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1436.0.html>

“Be careful what you ask for.”

Dark forces are very adept at reading those fragmented thoughts which are unconsciously and consciously projected from your mind. Sophisticated movie graphics and “new age” style “art”, provide all manner of image content to “cut and paste” from –and the misleading notions about “all matters spiritual” provide additional content. These are often encountered in ones sleeping state dreamtime or meditations.

This bears on to why I will not satisfy requests for a “pick list” of possible “high attractors” and why I insist that one’s expansion and ascension process involve focused intent. So unless one has a specific and high level gnosis with inner visions that you know to be 100% genuine, leave it to your highest level of being to assist human level Self “you” with connecting with the highest appropriate attractor.

What is essential is your focused intent for your highest level of spiritual “home”.

- / -

The “new age” tendencies and its structural-misdirection-by-design was developed and cleverly executed to capture or sideline those who were not under the influence of at least one of the main religions. Indeed this also stimulated some to pursue spiritual evolution and ascension, but this was not the main dynamic that was involved. The main dynamic was to stimulate such innate drives and hook them into various dead ends. The “new age” also appealed to those who wanted to believe in a new spirituality of a “god” or a “jesus” that was somehow different from that of the religions, and thus the “new age” adroitly captured many of those. Of course the central “bait” was to appeal to the genuine desire for spiritual connection and a higher state of consciousness regardless of any religion.

Of those who professed interest in non-religious spirituality, only a small fraction actually made spiritual learning and their spiritual liberation a serious priority. Of these, most were “taken out” or sidelined under the incessant influence of “Sirens-like” channeled “masters” and “alien/ET” entities.

Between these dark side distractions, spiritual energy depletion, and pressures from human society, very few made to the upper “base camps” established by those who persisted despite all manner of obstacles.

Amongst this latter group that had progressed the farthest, some grew tired and frustrated that nothing more tangible was in evidence to them, some pressed forward into higher vibrational space, some opted to wait it out, some became impatient and pursued the “fast results” approach promised by channeled entities.

It was only a very small fraction that achieved genuine breakthroughs. Most of this latter group stayed quiet for the most part, working mainly on the “inner planes” and shared their insights and knowledge only with those who were serious. Consequently very little first hand information has been available in these times. At this point, there will probably be nothing new forthcoming in the external world as the next stage is almost exclusively occurring on the inner planes.

- / -

During this period, those who made a point to maintain some presence in the “next levels up” will be available to help the influx of human Selves that will be obliged to vacate the “3d” Earth environment from various catastrophic changes.

In recent years, books were published by a small number of authors who mostly rehashed what little was available from translated ancient writing. Global Awakening News and the Updates series were one of very few contemporary sources that presented as direct an understanding as possible without relying upon intermediaries –channeled or historical.

The “new age”/“new thought” tendencies (not a “movement” as it is fancied by some) is a collection of loosely coherent set of social control approaches, developed and executed over the recent century or so for the main purpose of corralling, misleading, and effectively controlling those humans who are spiritually-minded and yet do not adhere to any of the main religions. There were various other agendas to the “new age”/“new thought”, but this was the main one.

A small fraction of those who have been most spiritually oriented, persisted in their attention to their spiritual development and ascension process. But within this remaining “fraction of fractions” there were those tired of the work followed anyone who promises “ascension” by a certain or by a specific ritual or method or date.

I continue to maintain that the “ascended masters” were “cultivated” by the Dark forces as a means to controlling the small fraction of spiritually-focused individuals who were not “taken out” by the deceptions of the “new age” tendencies. Their level of “ascendancy” itself is a trap for others who would egotistically imagine themselves “joining” the self-proclaimed “masters”. Caveat emptor.

(It would be refreshing for a channeled “angelic” entity or “ascended master”, etc. to offer their mea culpa and “come clean” with regard to their own roles or that of their “colleagues”, but then “if wishes were horses...”)

Now in these most recent several years, the dark forces, facilitated by new age channellers and others, developed various “false ascension” ploys to control and capture what could be of this remaining small fraction.

Related to this has been the interest in all matters “gnostic” and a small number of authors have come forward to promote this. Unfortunately nearly all of these writers mostly rehashed the writings and translations of others. Thus while they exposed their readers to some early insights about the development of the Dark forces, they also confused matters as most did not have their own direct Source to draw upon. A few of these authors/teachers were also “taken out” by the Dark when they sought “short cuts” through the use of psychoactive substances and their consciousness degenerated as it came under Dark side influences. A few went off to on “Quixotic-Castenedan” battles against the perceived dark forces and took many of their followers with them into the waiting arms of the very entities they claimed they opposed.

- / -

In the concluding essays and preceding material, we have provided substantial insights and informative content to aid those who seek the path of reconnection to the higher Oneness, where “Truth, Beauty, and Love” is what is Real, and to their own higher level being where they can take their rightful place as a member of their own higher level “council”.

Your own higher self becomes you, you become your higher self.

-ASK

Reflections on “End Times” Brinksmanship Waiting for ...? What? Why?

August 18, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1435.0.html>

While preparing the main body of my final comments in the forthcoming A-List “Epilogue”, I felt compelled to address the following as directly as possible, one last time, and as broadly possible to anyone and everyone. -ASK

- / -

An important question for anyone who believes that they are “spiritually-informed” (meaning they think they understand something from a spiritual perspective) is: to what extent are they waiting to “see what happens”?

What is it that they waiting for? Usually the response is for some “major change” to occur.

So what is this “major change” that they are waiting for? Is it for a “miracle from heaven”? Is it to be caught up in the catastrophic collapse of human society or perhaps caught up in the collapse of the planetary environment in ways that make their human level existence untenable to their Self?

Deliberately or unconsciously precipitating a personal catastrophic crisis should not be one’s first choice. For some it will be, however. Perhaps their lower self will do them a great service and help resolve a growing strain that occurs when the personality middle self strongly desires spiritual awakening but is unwilling or incapable of acting in ways to facilitate this. From this, a serious schism develops between maintaining the ordinary and mundane versus achieving an expanded state of awareness that can allow a more graceful and orderly ascension to a higher state of being as an individuation.

And yes, it is possible to be in a continuous expanded state of awareness while still embodied as a human –for a while at least. It is this that I term a “quasi-ascended” state.

- / -

Too many in the “department of spiritually-minded” are “sitting in the stands”, cheering on an imagined “Team-Spirit” to pull off some “miracle” so they can walk out to some imaginary “new earth” or other humanly projected version of “paradise” –or pretend they can “get on” with having a (human) life on Earth.

Yet their daily actions and thoughts are excessively preoccupied with mundane and insane human concerns. It is understood that one may need to feed their human body, earn some money, etc., but each daily step taken out of habituation to the falsehoods of human existence is a daily step that perpetuates the very existence they decry.

What more is needed to let go of illusions and false hopes and to make ones ascension as a spiritual being the single top priority –and not a sideline to dabble in?

- / -

Again, I would ask, what is the nature of said “major change” that one may be anticipating?

If one does not understand enough of the nature of this reality, then how does massive catastrophic collapse into a greater suffering lead to a more enlightened understanding? Or will feeding the homeless or volunteering in a triage ward become one’s new identity?

For some, they want “proof positive” (whatever that turns out to be) that human existence is a falsehood and untenable and holds nothing more for them.

For some reason, they lack the capacity to comprehend what is plainly before them. This is like so many enrolling in schools, thanks to various loans designed to keep them imprisoned while the vast majority have their heads filled with eclectic rubbish and vie with one another for privileged positions. Even those who are naïve, imagining they will learn something to “make a difference” become deluded by their own investment in an illusion.

- / -

With all that has been expressed from various sources, one commonality stands out: The fundamental non-viability of human civilization and its planetary environment. Is it due to some internal weakness of so many individuals that calls forth a devastating encounter with the “personal catastrophic crisis”.

It is with this, that the “switch is thrown” and that the opening and surrender to a higher spiritual existence occurs. Alternately, one does not survive the experience as humanly embodied and gets to process all this from the “next levels up”?

Is this what so many are unconsciously (and for some, consciously) “waiting for”?

If that is to be the case, then it is tantamount to “asking for it” and in effect making themselves an attractor with the “abyss”.

Now, why should this be necessary to their human level Self or to their higher level being? This is an implicit dynamic, especially among those who are “spiritually-minded”. This dynamic is also mutually reinforced with ideological versions advocated by religious fundamentalists who believe that they, as humans, must make something happen to make true some “prophecy” made by some other humans a long time ago as a prerequisite to entering some “heavenly paradise” for themselves. Curious.

- / -

And if there is not rapidly devastating global catastrophic change in short order, then is one to continue along in a civilization slowly undergoing the madness of collapse, war, chaos, and strife in an Earthly environment that is also undergoing its own version of widespread breakdown?

Now, considering the present state of one’s spiritual capacity and “finer energies”, what will be their state in one or two or three years as your human life on Earth is presently going?

- / -

If you are still humanly focused, then there will be the ballasting pull of looking for a pension, social security, or perhaps not. Perhaps one’s host body health will maintain or be excellent. How difficult does one’s human material life need to get before reaching one’s tolerance threshold and makes clear their unequivocal intention to be welcomed to their true Home with their own higher level being?

How is one to maintain or strengthen one’s spiritual energy and connection to one’s true Home through all this?

Present day civilization, nations, economic systems, etc. will not be continuing much longer due to a combination of internal breakdown, deliberate takedown, global war, and major changes to the planetary environment from with the planet and from space.

Some who fancy themselves to “preparing to survive” (civilization’s collapse) imagine a comfortable yet simpler life perhaps like early industrial age. However, there are not the skills or basic technology remaining for even such a “simpler level” of society in countries such as the USA.

Setting aside widespread planetary destruction for discussion sake, the most likely near term scenario is a high-tech fortified “dystopia” to service the needs of the elite along with something resembling a material “quality of life” resembling 17th century colonial “America”, the early 1800’s –mixed with techno-hunter-gatherers that rely upon salvage and looting, especially in urbanized areas.

And then are those who still have learned very little about human society and are still cooking up some new economic system, political movement, “free energy”, or whatever it is that sounds “hopeful” to someone.

- / -

This is a time to attend to your own process and cease casting about everywhere for something that is inherently at the center of you as a spiritual being.

With a deeper understanding, it becomes easier to attend to one’s completion process and highest intentions, while relaxing more into the larger process underway. In an attempt to help, we have described its main dynamics, including that of a partial descension of one’s higher levels in some cases, and offered specific aids in collecting one’s Self.

- / -

At the center of the most secret of all secrets is that you are not a human being, you are a spiritual being that has the use of an Earthly host body. What you do with this Knowing is up to you.

-Alex

Postscript reminder:

Three of the four concluding essay have been posted in the sequence intended to further assist in processing what is needed from the level of human Self.

///end

The Big Changes -- About Those “Feelings”

August 15, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1432.msg6101.html#msg6101>

Yes, it is useful to share how we are feeling, but we need to discern the “fine line” between reporting useful sensations and insights, etc. and projecting excessive frustration and “hopelessness”.

While I urge continued focus on one’s process, my ability to finally complete the concluding essays that have been “on hold” for several months or longer is an indication that something major is changing now.

The “Human Question” and “Queen of the Machine” provides a good foundation.

Then I urge everyone to read the “Death and Transfiguration” essay – and its End Notes appendix. You will find there discussion three modes of “embarkation”.

I also urge everyone to review my 2013 posts at NES to help them in reframing their present perspectives.

For now, instead of completing the Dissipation essay (not too long anyway) I will be focusing on the Epilogue and get that out so that my “A-List work” can be officially completed. That should be occurring this weekend (hopefully). Then in my own time, I will finish up what little remains of the writing.

From May 2013:

It was in May of this year that I noticed how the last stretch between “here” and “higher levels up” has been a difficult crossing to make.

Once you cross this last stretch, you arrive into the interim transition zones and interdimensional highways.

There has been a group working to clear the way for access by those who need to go and who are ready to make the trip. It is taking some fairly “heavy duty “equipment” to complete this work. It is like trying to clear access up to and through a ridge leading to a mountain pass seems to be growing and getting more unstable with rockslides and all the rest. A new tunnel for new tracks/road, etc. is cut using the what might appear to 3d eyes as the biggest such “equipment” available.

It seems that it would be ready soon enough.

It has been my impression that this would be ready for this period we are now in to allow for more to “embark” using this way. (Others would be relying on “transport” vessels.)

Once this stretch is fully cleared for use, it will be up to those who “make it” to act upon this - some will help maintain the passage, some will continue on to/for whatever else, some will make forays to help guide others who are unable to find their way to the access route.

I had the image of many “people” eventually lining the main portal ways (roads and /or train tracks) so many many more will find it to be safe passage. As too many are too afraid at present to let go of their wearying grip on 3d existence..

Other options include special arrangements via interdimensional “transport” and of course “riding the wave” from 3d up. I really cannot recommend this third option for anyone who can use more expedient options. Those who are more spiritually developed would need to be “specially prepared” against the vagaries and ravages of 3d in the process of accelerated entropic decay.

The process of the correction energies and the press pot filter from above the press pot filter that is moving up from below. “All boats raised”, but also the pressure increases.

This has contributed toward the emergence of a zone of instability, like a steep ridge suddenly pushed up near the top of a mountain that you have arduously climbed.

This new “barrier” that had to be tunneled through/under was related to preparations for the partitioning of 4D. Last year, a large section of “4D” was cleared of dark forces and cleaned up of the “astral trash” so that larger numbers of human Selves could make the relatively small step toward expanding themselves – while still embodied.

This served its purpose admirably, so much so, that larger number began the process of expanding to 4d and they brought as much human 3d level “baggage” as they could carry. This was expected.

Now the 4d levels are “emplaced” with new “corrections energies” filters – finer and finer as the vibrational state approaches the “5D” threshold. This will facilitate more spiritual evolutionary growth that is impossible to accomplish through the 3d human state of being. Those who seek a “Kodak moment” of human “delusionary illusions” can have it in lower 4D – for a short while at least. Eventually that will be swept up and away.

Relative to the point of view those in the upper reaches of 4d vibration, the lower 4d will look more and more like a zone of catastrophic devastation. Just as much of 3d Earth will be looking from levels above.

I have said this before and I will say this again: 4D is NOT “new earth”, it is NOT anyone’s spiritual “home”. It is NOT a goal of ascension, etc. It is ONLY an INTERIM zone that is now partitioned into more discrete zones to facilitate the larger transformational process and upshifting of as many beings as possible.

Those who have “done their work” and done it well enough have no need to reside there, only to visit if called to –or to be of some assistance to help those who will be flooding in faster and faster as 3d becomes increasing untenable.

-Alex

Feelings and Intuitions – The Abysmal or The Higher Light

August 13, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1432.msg6092.html#msg6092>

It is very interesting that a post focused on “dread, apprehension, joylessness, etc.” has stimulated interesting comments in response.

First, I would remind everyone to attend very carefully to their inner process. In the “Human Question” (how many here have read this?) I touched on various elements to the inconscient level of the human Self. This is also discussed in the recent post on the aberrations of dual mind (“Binary of Quantum...”) In the soon-to-be posted essay “The Queen of the Machine”, I discuss this further.

If this is not addressed, it can and will generate negativity or seemingly counter-thoughts to those of the portion of Self which is the “spiritual aspirant”. Remember, this “lower self” is a little like a domestic animal that develops greater individual, self awareness and interests by virtue of being around you or a family, etc. It represent something of a proto-sentiency arising from the soup of what one might regard as their human Self.

Thus, it is imperative to have a high attractor, delete attachments to 3d human world, and address those completions.

Second, this lower level of being is naturally more in touch with the broader physical 3d environment and is one of two main sources of “intuitions and feelings”. This is where a “somatic sense” is of some value to some in navigating this reality. The other main source of “intuitions”, etc. is through the finer sensory systems of the subtle bodies. These tend to be in touch with the human collective unconscious levels that operate above the somatic levels but below that of the higher levels of the human Self. In most cases these are also tied in and processed through the lower self as well as the higher registers of human awareness.

- / -

As to feelings of dread, doom, abyss, etc. ...

I wish to offer what I can at this point in time from tracing these to their apparent generating sources.

Ascension – gradual, almost imperceptible ascension from 3d to levels above. Even for those who are deliberately expanding or transferring their Self to higher levels of being, there is also that “feeling” that there is not much remaining to stand on. The familiar feel of the floor or ground beneath is dissolving. If you are attached or distracted by what increasingly is below you, then the sensation is more likely to be one of falling, doom, annihilation, etc. If you are more connected to higher attractor, your greater levels of being, and higher realms beyond in general, then the general feeling will tend to be more one of feeling suspended or floating with some upward movement.

All of these are influencing how we “feel” and our inner / higher state of consciousness determines the level at which we process these intangible inputs and how we respond in thoughts and actions.

- / -

Not surprisingly, there are some who are reading here (not necessarily posting) who are in effect loosely holding hands and some are feeling suspended or floating in an unstable region, some are glancing down worrying about falling, some are more connected to the upward “tractor beam” (a generalized “high attractor”).

I think everyone knows where to focus their attention, at least in general.

The familiar of 3d is dissolving, disintegrating. This is occurring in the 3d matrix world as well as with the loss of the 3d plane of reference that your human consciousness has used as a ground floor to stand upon.

Outwardly, human civilization in all respect is dissolving, disintegrating – regardless of any machinations of any manipulations of those who imagine themselves to be the global elites. Even the plans for a new global war will fail, even though it has already begun. They are nothing.

And there are two other significant sources of an impending immense-yet-still-intangible-“something”: Major changes to the planetary environment and the changes in the vibrational state of reality as part of a major step-up of the “correction energies”.

- / -

It is of tremendous “spiritually practical” importance to understand this, to “know the score”, and decide accordingly. It is not possible to have the illusions and delusions of the human world and expand to becoming your True Self. Likewise your True Self cannot be part of such as existence.

Not deciding is also a decision, but not one I would recommend.

None of any of this (your human existence) has been about anything of human concern, the whole “ball of wax” has not been about humans. This is arrogant human-centricity at its worst and narrowness.

“Being here” has always been and most certainly is now, all about spiritual learning and spiritual evolution, even if this was the first plan of intention upon entering into a human host vessel on this world. Some will be contributors, some will be along for the ride, while most beings who have been involved here will experience a “systems reset” which will also remove most human memory, trauma, and falsehoods imposed through a Fallen realm and thus a type of a new “age of innocence” will occur for them as they try anew to find their way again as greater spiritual beings.

The human Self at a spiritual ascension threshold can and must play a role in influencing one’s greater levels of being. Yes!

-Alex

Postscript:

Warnings and Cautions:

Exhaustion – spiritual, mental, emotional, and physical – is a danger at this point. One of the most important things is to be focused in a resolute way on some high attractor and to be disciplined to “not look down”. I have warned about this before. Once in process, you cannot afford to look back, there can be no last minute “shopping”. To do so invokes the “pillar of salt” effect. Eventually there may be your rescue, but I have no idea as to how or when.

If you are moving at high speed, a little change in attitude or movement can have a major effect on one’s trajectory, like parasailing and sticking your hand out. If one is merely walking along slowly, even swinging your arms will not have much effect. Likewise, the movies, songs, and various music can have a profound influence. Much, much more than might ever realize or care to admit. This is it, it is the “real deal”. It is not a drill, not a simulation. Pay careful attention.

Rest your body, rest your mind. Exercise and maintain your body in a healthful state as long as you can (you still need it). Exercise and maintain your mind in a healthful state balancing spiritual focus with gentle and simple matters.

///end

Follow-up comments

Re: Feelings and Intuitions – The Abysmal or The Higher Light

August 13, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1432.msg6093.html#msg6093>

I would like to add to my previous comments, picking up from my postscript:

“Warnings and Cautions: Exhaustion – spiritual, mental, emotional, and physical – is a danger at this point. One of the most important things is to be focused in a resolute way on some high attractor and to be disciplined ... once in process, you cannot afford to look back, ...”

Feelings of blankness, no spiritual connection, etc. as well as related emotional responses of abandonment, despair, etc. all relate to the process of expansion.

There is a positive side to such “feedback” that relates to resolving the false contradiction of there being a human self as something other than the spiritual Self. One day you “Realize” and “Know “ –and the common expression “the lights are on but no one is home” takes on new and sometimes humorous qualities.

However, there is also another type of feedback –and is an escalation of one’s early warning system which monitors one’s spiritual energy.

As we detach and let go of 3d and of the delusion of being a “human”, there is a natural sense of “alienation” that exhibits uniquely to each situation.

As more of one’s spiritual Self has transferred to some levels above that of the formerly familiar 3d level of human Self, there remains less in the lower levels. If the process is drawn out for too long, there are risks of spiritual depletion, etc. and the sense of an impending loss of some portion of Self. (This is a topic I have addressed in the forthcoming essay “Ascension, Death, and Transfiguration”.)

At our higher levels, this usually is not a serious problem (unless habituated over millennia or eons) but at the more compact levels of the microcosm of self which has resided in 3d, this can stimulate emotional and spiritual responses, at times intense ones.

As an early warning system it is to remind ourselves that the time for a major shift is imminent –or at the very least its adumbrations have become stronger.

Some human Selves may decide to dissolve or leave a portion behind. Perhaps to monitor from “above”, perhaps to quickly delete some aspect of their human self that has been deemed inappropriate to maintain at one’s upper levels of being.

From the point of view of that portion of self that is feeling “left behind” this can be very difficult to deal with. (This is a topic I have addressed in the forthcoming essay “Ascension, Death, and Transfiguration”.)

This is one of the reasons I make it a point to request of the “corrections energies” to clear and clean all facets of one’s being –that of human and below and above – and to lovingly dissolve any lower levels which cannot be upgraded or do not belong anymore.

This is not something to take lightly, hence the imperative urgency to thorough attend to all facets of one’s completion process from 3d.

-ASK

PS

(Hint: the “crystal body exercises really can help.)

Humans - Cancers - Corrupted Nature

July 31, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1429.msg6080.html#msg6080>

Underlying nearly all creatures that live and consumes on the 3d Earth, there is the “creatrix machinery” – it thrives on its power to reproduce and its power to cause chaos and its power to perpetuate entropic decay. This infects nearly all of biological life on Earth, and this includes humans. It is its “machine code” level of programming that influences the lower self, the animal impulses, and more.

There is much more to this that I will address in the "Machine" essay that is forthcoming.

As readers know I cannot find blame or accountability with humans per se for the state of the Earthly 3d environment overall and that which it has produced. Human-animals are one of many creatures that were shaped by the Dark as part of a fundamentally corrupted creational processes which the Dark directed.

The problem is one of the state of spiritual consciousness and intent. Ordinary humans have very little mental capacity, even few have much of any spiritual consciousness. Those who aspire to spiritual consciousness constitute only a small fraction and of them, only a small fraction actually persist in evolving to a “spiritualized state”.

So, like any macro or micro organism that is parasitic or predatory, the only limiters to their spread is relative hospitability of the environment and available food supply.

Humans of course have learned various ways to extend their capabilities as parasites and predators, even when their environment becomes harsh and food scarce.

Interesting question you pose concerning cancer cells in humans. It is the overall state of consciousness that is most important, then there are external environmental influences, and the body internal environmental influences. All these can contribute to a cancer growing in the body. So many non-human animals are now affected by various classes of cancers.

The overall planetary environment is breaking down and this is only be one symptom of a much greater situation developing.

-ASK

PS – See “Ant Colonies” essay in the Appendix of “The Human Question”

“End Times” Insanity

July 30, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1430.msg6078.html#msg6078>

The rule of the Dark is nearly over. All that remains for their forces is a hollow victory over what will be a type of imprisonment, preliminary to their cosmic annihilation. Now, let us consider these generalized scenarios:

[A] - Dark forces on Earth and Above perform their final act in the 3d and adjacent realms and trigger massive death and destruction, throwing the planetary environment into greater chaos, triggering greater military conflicts worldwide, releasing global pandemic diseases, completing a global economic collapse, etc.

This is cut-short however by larger scale changes in the planetary and space environment which are not part of any Dark forces “plans” at any level.

[B] - Larger scale changes in the planetary and space environment escalate to such an extent as to preempt any such plans of the Dark forces for global destruction and chaos. These changes are such that even the global collapse of present day economic systems will lose any significance to most humans.

Regardless of what relative portion of these scenarios interacts or occurs in the human 3d level of Earth, it is really “over”.

Now, when most spiritually-minded humans read or hear something like “the Dark is defeated” or “the war is over”, they automatically default to a human-identified-human-centric level of narrow mindedness and thus presume some marvelous “golden age” will be upon Earth. Many project this for themselves during this lifetime. Some might even consider it could take a “little longer”.

The debased human level of awareness that can only think in such a self-limiting manner is not even capable of fathoming the implications of the existing degradation of the planetary environment, or the more fundamental corruption of “Nature” Itself. Such limited capacities cannot possibly fathom the implications of the existing rate of degeneration of human social and personal “ecology”.

And so they will prefer to imagine that it is all going to be a happy “new age”.

Accordingly there are plenty of humans out there dreaming up new ways to repeat the old patterns all over again, deluding themselves that “this time it is going to be better, different...”. Most of them have the best of intentions, but not very much in the way of awareness and discernment. This is already rife in the 4d range where countless human selfs are playing at their “Kodak moments”, including those who are spinning out all sorts of “new” ways of social systems.

What is Real will eventually be learned at higher levels than that of “3d” or in “4d” where the 3d illusion continues, albeit to a lessened extent.

For some period, there will be those having a human experience while getting to watch their personal and collective human experience from a level above.

This not only accords them a vibrationally closer connection to their own higher levels, it also accords the marginally awakened human Self and its higher level of being a more “intimate” view of the falsehoods and pathos that the “human experience” has been all about. To some extent, this is perhaps the only way that an increase in human suffering could be considered to have any “beneficial” effect –but not at the human level –rather at the higher levels where, for one last chance, higher level beings will get to feel and experience in near real time, how their own carelessness and negligence, innocent as it might have once been, has contributed to the degradation of Creation. This includes those who may have been tricked by sophisticated Dark forces into becoming trapped here. None of this is about who is blame for what, when or where. It is all about the higher spiritual learning that is to be derived from all this, regardless.

This will be part of a true spiritual awakening as to what is Real –to what is not – and this leads to Realization of what is most appropriate for their overall state of the consciousness as a spiritual being and what best serves their greater evolution as a higher level/soul being. This is, after all, what it is all about.

-ASK

End Notes:

#1) If anyone believes that no major catastrophic global events will occur from any quarter, then they have obviously been living on some other planet and simply do not know it yet. Rather than bother with the “non-news” of mainstream or the so called “alternative” media, one might watch a few post-apocalyptic movies such as “Soylent Green”, “Waterworld”, “Mad Max”, or “The Postman”. Or not.

#2) There are many “fallen” spiritual higher level/soul beings that have human presences living on Earth. Most of these beings do not have any malevolent intention, rather they are more like “lost souls”, and during these changes they have the opportunity for a type of spiritual “self-redemption”. This is usually concealed from their human level of Self, as knowledge of this is usually too overwhelming for a human Self to cope with.

An important Addendum follows:

Addendum to “End Times Insanity” Redemption and “Suffering” of Souls

August 23, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1430.msg6108.html#msg6108>

Readers note: None of this should be construed to “rationalize” or “excuse” “suffering” at any level, rather this is an attempt to deepen and broaden the understanding of suffering from outside the human-centric 3d point of view.
-ASK

From the recent essay, “End Times Insanity”, a postscript was added that read in part:

“There are many “fallen” spiritual higher level/soul beings that have human presences living on Earth. Most of these beings do not have any malevolent intention, rather they are more like “lost souls”, and during these changes they have the opportunity for a type of spiritual “self-redemption”. This is usually concealed from their human level of Self, as knowledge of this is usually too overwhelming for a human Self to cope with.”

Link:

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1430.msg6078.html#msg6078>

During the latter part of 2009, in “Global Awakening News”, we discussed the “god energies” that were sweeping in and how there was much agitation among many higher level/soul beings because they were not going to be allowed to continue on as they had been accustomed. It would mark the beginning of the end of their “addiction” to the “human experience”. The whole point was to clear these beings of dark force influences and help them to move ahead with their evolutionary spiritual learning.

Sweeping changes are being asked and required of those beings whose core essence carries the Light of Creator of All. (To those to whom much is given, etc...) This is regardless of whether they got caught up with the Dark influences, or were relatively immune to them, or managed to avoid becoming embroiled by watching from a position of relative “safety”.

(Please see End Notes #1 and #2)

Now, I wish to caution readers against making “snap judgments” about such matters, from a limited human perspective and without sufficient understanding of the complexities of a situation that began with a few simple, basic errors.

(Most of this I have discussed before, but this seems like the place for a short recapitulation of these points before going on.)

- / -

Consider that some greater level/soul beings had some measure of involvement with the Dark from their own higher levels of “spiritual intelligence” –or through their various aspects at various vibrational levels including 3d human. There were those who were perhaps “merely” curious and became caught up in the falsehoods –and there were those who “crossed the line” –many fine lines actually –and could be characterized as fallen beings, even though they originated with the higher Light. There is another category which is not our focus here, and that would be those entities forced into density by the Dark.

Consider now, that some higher level/soul beings have acknowledged the cosmic “error” and seek to understand how they too had been caught up in it or even how they might of objectively or subjectively helped to perpetuate it. As a response to this, one direction of the overall “corrections energies” and its catalyzing process is to facilitate the “self-redemption” of higher level beings that had been caught up in an out-of-control, errant creation process.

Consider also, that as part of the process, it was necessary for the higher realms to send forth something of themselves into density, specifically to learn about the situation firstly and to “report back”. This was done by many beings operating at many levels, some of whom had very little or no experience in 3d density here while others did. For some it was also their final “graduation “exam” to learn what they did not from previous “visits”. Some of these beings were not part of the “cosmic error”, but rather part of a long standing “correction process” and came here at the request of Creator of All to examine, assess, intervene at times, and make recommendations that they might be called upon to help implement.

The information that flowed “up” from these efforts to penetrate “3d” density required enormous preparation. Most attempts failed due to insurmountable and unexpected difficulties encountered in the learning and in the communicating of what was learned. Eventually enough fragmentary information was accumulated from which to steadily direct and focus the “corrections process”.

- / -

At the human level of spiritual consciousness, there remain problems such as those outlined in the essay “The Human Question”, and which are traceable to the split or dual mind effect, and those originating with the corrupt sub-level of a fallen realm and corrupt machinery of “nature” on Earth (see also “The Queen of the Machine”).

There is also the problem of higher level/soul beings with human presences here that they have only a tenuous connection with. Interferences by the Dark were merely one of many factors that contribute to this. The problem of “dissipation” is another. Part of the problem lies with the nature and ground rules of the human level itself. But even with understanding this, there are additional factors involved with the problematic lack of connection.

- / -

With the foregoing as preamble, the postscript from “End Times Insanity” suggests further understanding of “suffering” from a non-human perspective and of understanding problems some may have in connecting with their higher levels.

- / -

There is physical suffering that is based upon physical pain and there is emotional suffering and there is spiritual suffering.

The whole notion of “suffering” is a human construct that has its basis in the iniquities of human existence. It is so insidiously pervasive that it is accepted as “natural” and endemic to human existence. In addition to the major religions “glorifying” torture and suffering, some human “cultures” make the bearing of suffering into something “noble”. This is related to, although distinctly different from, the “blood and guts” qualities that is paid tribute to by those who extol human warfare.

- / -

I wish to emphasize now that whatever ones higher level/soul being may or may not have been “under the influence of”, human Self “you”, as an individuation of it, is not responsible (unless you know with 100% certainty otherwise).

- / -

The fact of human “suffering” is only one of many ways that help some higher beings learn what is needed from those levels of existence where “suffering” is possible. It is not necessary or a requirement, but there has been a curious interest in experiencing the fullest possible range of human existence –both the “highs” and “lows”.

This is not the cause of suffering, however.

It is an unfortunate situation because it is one thing to experience and learn through another life form or being, yet retain a good memory and connection to ones origins. It is another matter entirely to lose that connection and become caught up in a corrupt creation process, including that of the endless biological reproduction of humans to provide more hosts who will experience suffering.

Human suffering, exists and largely derives from the way the human species was made and shaped –and partly due to the corruption of creation as “nature” manifests in the Earth environment.

Regardless of the extent suffering as a by product of corrupt reality, as a by product of Dark force parasitism, or as a by product of greater level/soul beings involvement is quite beside the point for purposes of this discussion. It is enough to understand something of what suffering is about and these main distinctions.

There is no spiritual level of “justification” to perpetuate suffering. Period.

- / -

As to the last statement in our initial quote: --- “This is usually concealed from their human level of Self, as knowledge of this is usually too overwhelming for a human Self to cope with.” --- Only in the rarest of instances will a human Self reach a sufficient level of “spiritualization” to be made aware of this, to whatever extent it may occur. For most they will uncritically accept the simplistic and usually erroneous explanation of some “past life karma”, etc.

Please remember, none of this situation is the fault or responsibility of present day “you”, the human Self.

It “smells to high heaven” when the individual human Self is “objectively blamed” for something that its greater level being might have had some involvement with way back whenever (this includes “past life” stories as well). This reminds me of secret laws and secret courts – involving some aspect of ones greater level being that might have been involved in something “spiritually unseemly” in some distant time or place (a converse concept of “future thought crimes”) --or that of a child held answerable for the “sins” of its parent. (This is also the social basis for most of the internecine civil strife today in so many literally accursed places on Earth where the children are being sent to by their mothers to fight wars over something that may or may not have occurred six hundred years earlier by their ancestors.)

I will not digress here into topics such as “karma”, etc. or “spiritual amnesia” that occurs early in a human life, as we have discussed this over the years. I will say that there is more than enough deranged thinking throughout all the various religious and non-religious (new age) belief systems, all promoting a similar false message that “you” are here in a realm of suffering and conflict duality to “pay for the sins of others” (“others” in this case could mean other humans or the dark forces themselves –or your own higher level/soul being.) Closely allied with this are various new age notions that all is “happy and love and light” and that all that is “negative” is an illusion or projection of yourself. (This latter point fails the 3d “bus rule”.)

To whatever extent it may be true that you are an aspect of a greater level/soul being which had some manner of involvement with the higher level dark forces or with human history, you are not here to suffer for it.

That you might be suffering, is one of the perversities of a human social environment and a dysfunctional spiritual process that is soon to be terminated.

Yes, it is possible that at some point your higher level of being wanted to better understand suffering and only knew of one way to really experience it –through “you” –an aspect of Itself. In contrast, those higher level beings that are more evolved would not allow prolonged suffering to themselves –to their human Self which is an individuation of themselves.

However due to the poor uplink/downlink that exists between most humans and their higher levels, too little genuine comprehension has occurred at their higher levels. Further more, a very large portion of “higher level/soul beings” are naïve in many ways, childlike in many respects.

The entire set-up which has allowed higher level/soul beings to have a human host to “play with” has been a dysfunctional one and an abomination. This is ending and will not be allowed to continue. Higher level/soul beings are being asked to withdraw themselves from the human realm unless they have a specific purpose as part of the cosmic “corrections” process. This is reinforced as the 3d human and Earthly environments becomes increasing inimical to human “life” as it is now construed. For most humans it will involve more suffering in the near term at the 3d level of awareness. Those who are residing at their next levels up – embodied or not –will have a very intimate relationship with the unfolding of the greater changes. Those in such a position will be instrumental in helping to bring this entire situation to an end with a vow of “never again” at the higher levels. Those higher level/soul beings –a “collective matrix” in many cases –who have not learned much from all this will eventually gain a new understanding and thus be able to conduct themselves in more spiritually responsible ways.

It will be in those moments of personal catastrophic crisis that growing numbers will surrender to their spiritual nature and open to the Divine. Humans level Selves and higher level/soul beings.

- / -

The situation is becoming quite severe for human “3d” and closely related levels and must be resolved as rapidly as possible in ways that also permits the greatest spiritual learning to be accrued to higher level/soul beings from these experiences. This is one reason why I say that the what has not been learned in “down here” in 3d will be processed in useful learning at the next levels up.

- / -

If you are a spiritualized human Self, then you can shift the sense of your own general suffering (unless you are in extreme physical pain) into a deeper spiritual understanding of larger situation and call a halt to this yourself.

If you cannot tolerate your human condition further, you either leave your situation for something interim that will help you complete your ascension process, and/or call a halt to it all and withdraw completely, pending your exit from your 3d human host vessel.

- / -

All that really matters from your being here now is your own spiritual growth as an individuation of a larger spiritual being –and to benefit the totality of your higher level/soul being. This comes from the deeper spiritual lessons that spiritually-minded human Self (“you”) have helped to coalesce and contribute to.

This is part of “your” completions process as well as that of your greater being.

- / -

“You”, as an aspect of a greater level being, are something of a “sentient interactive probe” in the 3d Earthly realm. The greater level of being that is your spiritual “source parent” may be trying to resolve a long standing question or problem relative to its evolution as a complex spiritual being. In some cases there may even be some good reason to conceal certain things so as to not “bias” the human Self (the higher level being’s “sentient interactive probe”). Again, please bear in mind, none of this is about trying to “excuse” or “rationalize” anything.

For reasons I will not digress on here, in early childhood or infancy a “memory wipe” or compartmentalization occurs effectively shutting out access to one’s higher level being and to related memories. The “amnesia” early on in human life is both a function of Dark side operating rules and a function of ones higher levels. As to what the relative ratio is between these factors varies enormously for each of you.

There will be a lot of human Selves showing up at the door of their greater level being demanding clear answers to what was withheld or otherwise unavailable to them during their Earthside trip as a human.

- / -

Most “marginally awakened” human selves, are extremely troubled by the “non-performance” of various “promises” for “ascension”, “rescue”, or “rapture”, of various religious or non-religious spiritual teachings.

In the case of those whose higher level of being is of a “fallen” state, a marginally aware human Self may react with a sense of having been “betrayed” or “abandoned” by their higher self/soul being. It is perfectly understandable for the human Self in such a situation to develop some form of duality-conflict based anger at one’s own higher being and/or the higher realms in general. In extreme cases this anger will be projected at “all things spiritual” and the higher realms overall (both of the Dark and of the Light), and ultimately at Creator of All. As an example, “human sovereignty” tendencies I have discussed some time ago are infected by this problem.

But to carry on with such beliefs can readily lead to a perverse arrogance and self-importance that leads to a spiritual dead-end and into the hands of the dark forces.

Most spiritually-aspiring human Selves lack sufficient self-discipline and discernment and readily dissipate or otherwise throwaway what spiritual energies they may have available. This includes feel-good social causes and believing rumors or promises of miraculous change and then blaming “spiritual realms” for falsehoods that propagate so easily through so many limited human minds.

A little spiritual anger might be helpful to get one’s energy moving, and to get the attention of one’s higher level of being, but that is all it is good for. Over-indulging in anger and or disgust at the spiritual realms or one’s own higher level of being leads nowhere except to rapid spiritual and physical exhaustion and a type of “living death”. It is one example where too little knowledge can be dangerous to one’s Self.

- / -

So let us consider again the potential of a spiritualized human Self.

One can engage in various self-defeating inner or outer “behaviors”. Perhaps one facet of your human Self is pitted against another facet (such as your lower self or the split mind). Or anger at the un-rightness of the human world is focused outward through political or social causes or directed personally at others.

...Or one can assuredly and calmly remind oneself that “you” (Self as an individuation or aspect of a larger being) are not responsible for this or that “terrible thing” from some past lifetime, on some planet, or the un-rightness of the human world, or the variations of these in some dimension, etc., etc., etc. ... ad nauseum.

Indulging in such beliefs is an example of a “perverse arrogance and self-importance”. This also refers to a facet of the “new age” belief systems that originate with the archetypal “Luciferian rebellion” which misdirects humans into believing that they are what creates and maintains the Dark. The converse of this is a corrupt spiritual-psychology that misdirects one to “embrace” the Dark and welcome it in. And this latter point is closely linked to the Dark side corruption of the creation processes. (See essay “Queen of the Machine”).

- / -

By keeping your (spiritual) “wits about you”, it is possible to bypass much of the “spiritual wreckage” all around and establish your higher level connections. This is part of what I have referred to as the expansion-ascension process that leads to an interim state of quasi-ascended consciousness while humanly embodied.

It is possible for a human Self to arrive at a type of higher spiritual learning (by this I do not mean “omniscience”) and thus play an active role in the evolution of one’s own higher level being. It is possible to be spiritually informed, perhaps guided by material such as that which we have been presenting, and in effect “step up to the plate” even if your own higher level being has not. This is related to the potential for a spiritualized human Self to form a new nucleus or nexus for their own greater level being –and far more.

Those who have been attending to these matters will understand that this is the next step in their spiritual evolutionary process as a spiritual being –regardless of whether they are humanly embodied or not.

Some will find their alternative in a “black hole” of spiritual anger or a passive approach of “waiting for rescue”.

However, those who can “assemble” themselves in a spiritually coherent manner while still humanly embodied will be in the best relative position to make the greatest contribution to their greater level of being. Our state of spiritual “higher learning”, beyond our core spiritual beliefs, influences the transition to our own higher levels of being.

- / -

End Notes:

(1) In August 2009 (Global Awakening News) we discussed working with your aspects and delved into some of the earlier situations that had to be addressed, directly and which lead directly to the present situation. We also discussed some of the “challenges” put to the higher level/soul beings that have human presences here. Link: http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/Intervention\_GA\_News\_Aug09.pdf

(2) The December 2009 commentaries followed up on how all this proceeded and addressed more on the ascension process. The issue’s 25 pages were some of our most concentrated and touched on the remaking (“corrections”) of the soul beings, “new creation” processes in contrast to fallen creation, and more.

... “On its own, humanity at its present level of development is not capable of (the needed) degree of vibrational movement. Therefore it is our own soul being, our own higher self, that must be directly involved. Not all human souls are actively engaged in this process at present, but that is another matter.”

In the article “Intervention of Our Own Higher Self” (August 2009 GA News), it was noted that during the roughly two-month period from late July through September of that year, the parameters and agenda explaining the coming changes were presented to our souls, our higher selves. The gist of this was very direct: “How do you wish to handle this process” and “How do you wish to experience this process”?

At the time, it seemed that perhaps 15% to 30% of souls assented to active involvement while the rest preferred to opt out of the process, or to maintain their previous “neutral observer” position. From other high level feedback at the time, it seemed that only a few to several percent at the human level would be involved in a conscious ascension process over the time available. However, consider that a very small percentage of 6+ billion represents an enormous spiritual energy compared to a similar proportion of a much smaller global population not so long ago.” ... (from pages 9-10 Aug 2009, GA:News)

Link: <http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/GA%20News-Dec2009-Resolution.pdf>

(3) By the end of 2009 the portion of human Selves preferring conscious awakening and ascension tended to fluctuate some, centered around the range of two to four percent.

Today, the percentage of human level Selves opting for conscious ascension is a much smaller fraction. This is also an indication of widespread dissipation and depletion of spiritual energy. But among the small portion that are clear on this, and who remained focused, there is an enormous spiritual capacity they help to conduct that benefits all concerned.

Most humans will be encountering have opportunities through indirect and direct personal catastrophic crisis which will quickly force the matter for them of surrendering to their own spiritual awakening –or choosing not to.

(4) In reviewing this addendum, I cannot help but consider the flowering of that noxious “weed” known as “new age”/“new thought” tendencies over this last hundred years or so. And I cannot but wonder at the “cleverness” of the dark forces to send into the human realm some of the best “spiritual con-artists” they could muster.

It began as a concentrated set of teachings to develop a new “spiritual priesthood” to support the formation of a unified global social control system of the dark forces. The work would eventually bridge the main religions and accumulate enormous numbers of spiritually-curious individuals who were not attracted by mainstream “religion”. Like a gigantic vacuum cleaner, the “new age” tendencies sucked up a wide range of “entity” channellers, ET/Alien aficionados, human-potentialists, alternative health seekers, and a wide collection of deluded sycophants who were enthralled to charismatic, parasitic individuals.

The main accomplishments of the “new age” were to dissipate or siphon off the nascent spiritual energies of countless tens of millions of individuals –and to create a confused tangle of “hooks and lines” that would successfully “capture and captivate” most who wandered into the “new age” wing of the dark matrix prison control system while convincing them into enjoying the “new facilities”. Today it continues to dissipate weak and nascent spiritual energies and promotes various “false ascension” ploys in an attempt to neutralize a portion of those who are very close to achieving “spiritual ignition” yet who may be tiring and looking for a “fast track” approach.

- END -

Supplementary to “The Human Question” Binary or Quantum? Dual Mind as an Aberration

July 29, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1431.msg6079.html#msg6079>

Note: The original posting: “The Human Question” can be found at:
<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1428.msg6075.html#msg6075>
(This supplementary material will eventually be added to it the “Human Question” main PDF file.)

- / -

Once again I find relevant analogy from the realm of human computer technology to serve the point of spiritual learning.

Is the human Self -- “you” -- operating as a binary processor or a “quantum” processor? Is this some new koan to contemplate? If it is, is it “quantum/unity” mind or “binary dualistic mind” doing the contemplation?

Or are these also false dichotomies that are simultaneously true?

And is this yet another koan to drive “dual mind” crazy?

If so, which version of “mind” is doing the contemplating?

How well can you appreciate the “humor” in all this?

Is human reality of “3d” an illusion, a projection of something “Other”? And could this be yet another false dichotomy that is part of a sophisticated matrix control meme?

You see, in simply “thinking” about these things, there are many potentially “exhausting” mental loops.

The “dual mind” tends to be compartmentalized into “black and white” and as it with most, they can only consider, process, and grasp (“grok”) one state or condition or another other, but rarely both together. Most can only consider one or two related or divergent concepts at the same time, rarely more than that.

The prevalence of all those little view screens on all those electronic gadgets literally and figuratively constricts and narrows ones field of view and erodes human capacity to discern and reflect upon complexities using language. Rare few are still able to think or communicate – transmitting or receiving – with any depth or clarity.

And so , the title of this piece may cause some frustrations for those who are habituated to thinking via one condition or another, presuming them to be separate or opposed, or one to be somehow “better” than the other, etc. And again, the “dual mind” sets to work trying to apply its inherently constrained cognitive consciousness to grasp something that can only be comfortably lived in from an expanded multi-dimensional or multi-vibrational state of consciousness.

If “dual mind” “problems” weren’t enough to deal with, there are also those direct internal processes related to spiritual ascension that involve bringing something of your lower self “onboard” and “online” as well as that of your higher self of your higher being.

Somewhere, sandwiched in between, is the human personal self which has its own version of a higher level of awareness that is an interface to one’s highest Self of your own greater being –as well as an interface to the lower self and the body/cellular consciousness.

How many have made attending to connecting their lower, middle and higher levels their priority?

Are you a human reaching for a spiritual “enlightenment”, a spiritual being imprisoned in an insane reality, or a spiritual being that resides in a human host of 3d density?

Once you have made the shift to “spiritual being”, then you can have a human experience with discernment, freely choosing what to retain, what to discard, etc. You become your own higher self. It becomes you. Until then, there is too much confusion of illusion and delusion. There is no more “dual mind”. There is only That Which Is Having the Experience and That Which Knows.

While there may be some question at times of dark entities manipulating ones thoughts, this is mostly a distraction of human mind with the real culprit found in one’s internal human dynamics that have been innocently neglected for most of lifetime of human.

The main source of “split/dual mind” is found in the workings of the lower self that is mostly neglected or deliberately distorted through perversity of “psychology”.

Left on its own, the lower self tends to have an affinity for the “machine code” of the bodily vessel. Over time the lower self can develop some self-awareness, often trying to mimic the personality self, not unlike the way children will mimic adult language patterns and mannerisms. (If you pay close attention to children doing this, they are actually doing quite a fair job of mirroring the social programming and ridiculous dull wittedness of adults they are exposed to.)

So it is that the lower self can pick up all sorts of stuff from a confused and internally conflicted personal self and can react to these thoughts and impulses in its own way. It is quite capable of presenting its questions and challenges and insights to the human personal self. But, like with the simple innocence of a child's innate communications, the human personal self usually ignores or pushes this away. In the instance of a debilitated personality (middle) self, it can be more readily influenced by the lower self or from dark side external influences.

One day when the personal self faces some major life change or change in consciousness, there is this "other" facet of "self" that may seem to be unsupportive and or in opposition. To the extent there is any internal dialogue, this can develop into an antagonistic stalemate if the human personal self fails to pay attention –or in rare cases the lower self, in concert, with the higher level of a being imposes a new situation upon the personal or ego self.

These dynamics are usually mistaken and distorted beyond all recognition by psychologists and spiritual teachers alike. And thus, more error is generated and Truth seems ever elusive and the human self seems pushed farther into a hole.

Like completely clearing off a cluttered desk top and only placing upon it what is essential, and nothing more –a "clean mind space" is essential, only attending to that which is truly most important.

As to the matter of what is real or not, well there is the "bus rule". A non-physical being is joined in a human host. The human host however is not fully aware of this, but somehow gets the notion that it is "all an illusion". To test this hypothesis the human host is positioned in front of a moving bus. Splat. The spiritual dimension of the human's consciousness is ejected and returns "home". A "mental" note is made to remember this "next time" that the operating rules in 3d density are different from those at much higher levels. Next time around, the being encounters a train, and splat! Nothing learned from previous bus encounter. This begins to approximate a popular definition of insanity as the repetition of the same thing, always hoping for a different outcome which never comes. (This is addressed a more seriously in the forthcoming final essay, "Problems of Dissipation". )

Thus two very different operating paradigms are both true. If you are not operating in 3d density, then it may be of interest, but it has no first effect upon a higher level observer.

This last remark closely relates to the problem of "dissipation" that we have recently been discussing. (See companion essay on "Problems of Dissipation" which will published soon.)

Now then, are you a spiritual being, first and foremost and always?

-Alex

Postscript 1:

A book was published in 1976 with the amazing title of “The Origin of Consciousness in the Break Down of the Bicameral Mind”, written by the psychologist-philosopher Julian Jaynes. His book represents a massive thought exercise on the part of a human dualistic “binary” mind trying to analyze a problem that cannot be resolved within the frame of reference of ordinary human-centric thought. Nevertheless, Jaynes did manage to “push the envelope” and presented that a self-centered, self-reflecting, future-projecting, consciousness developed in humans around four thousand years ago. He also made the distinction between “consciousness” and mere mental activity related to ones bio-physical state. With very little background, he also made a point the earlier humans who were organized into complex social hierarchy were being influenced or otherwise manipulated telepathically by entities unknown. A pioneering work, to be sure, he did not have the benefit of spiritual oversight, only a “voice in the head” that helped guide his process. For all the weaknesses in his book, he nevertheless has picked up on important clues that from a spritual informed point of view makes for some interesting reading.

Postscript 2:

I am reminded of the story with many variations about a “devoutly spiritual” person who was forced to the roof of their house to escape a flood. They so believed in their social programming that “god” would “reward” their “devotion” and miraculously “rescue” them from the roof. Believing this, they turned down one form of assistance after another until the flood swept them away. Arriving in “heaven” they asked why “god” did not “save” them. The reply they received immediately asked what their “problem”, given that they were sent help in numerous forms and each time they had rejected the help, preferring instead a delusion.

- / -

Pacific Islands: Human Story in Microcosm

July 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1429.msg6076.html#msg6076>

Recently I noticed something written about yet another “tourist attraction” whose human history (not to be confused with natural history) is steeped in the blood of war, as are so many of these “attractions”. Others involve other forms of human sacrifices, allegedly to “the gods”.

Over the course of the last two thousand years, various tribal/racial groups of Polynesians traveled the Pacific exploring and looking for new territories to occupy. Their behavior patterns were mostly based upon conquest and expansion, so very similar to that of nearly all of human society.

Upon arriving at the islands here, these early colonists decimated the ancient indigenous human/humanoids, and the colonists took over, spreading like any invasive species would upon or within a “host” that has no immediate “natural” immunity to their spread. The tropical/semi-tropical climate made it easy for them to reproduce until there were hundreds of thousands of them. As within any parasitic and predatory society oriented toward violent conflict, they were already well-matched to engage with a new wave of explorer/conquerors from Europe.

During the centuries of spreading over the islands, the descendants of the early Polynesian colonists destroyed the indigenous hardwood forests, introduced their version of invasive species of agricultural animals and plants. As their political elite grew, not unlike that of all humans today, they destroyed the indigenous bird populations for feathers to show off the status –their own version of royal “bling” that is traceable to their distant origins as descendants of an already degenerated race of humans from the “Atlantean” era. (The obsession with garments of bird feathers is further traceable to earlier roots that are linked with the presence of “winged” ET/alien/“angel” creatures that colonized Earth and modified humanoid genes to suit their purposes. But that is another story altogether.)

And so it was that when these so-called “natives” encountered the European colonial scout ships and commercial vessels, that their representatives and social hierarchy were well matched to develop a fast and close relationship that hastened the destruction of the island environments, accelerated the extant tribal warfare, and the provided a location for various European and USA interests to stake their claims. Ironically, this also marked the decline of the islanders’ dominance as western political-economic interests took control.

Since the extant “local” social elites were easily intrigued by symbols of wealth and power, they eagerly accelerated the destruction of what remained of the accessible island ecosystems to trade for various military, consumer goods, and other junk from their European trading allies. Acquisition of European military hardware was highly prized of course as it made it possible for certain tribal groups to prevail over others and in turn to serve as interim comprador agents for their new Euro-American masters. This in turn made it easier for USA and European interests to establish themselves unimpeded by local opposition. (It was the British flag that became incorporated into the islands flag, as it is to this day.)

During the century of the 1800's, USA-based interests supported "political revolution", and supplanted the mainly British-oriented islander hierarchy.

These events simply accelerated a process that was well underway upon the arrival of various "Polynesian" interests two thousand years ago.

Today the islands are decimated, the land, water, and coastal ocean zones polluted and the speculative greed of corporate and private "land barons" and their agents in government continue the process of wringing every particle of energy from the Earth and its resident human population. "Trafficking" in human slave labor persisted until a few years ago and multi-billion dollar industrial and tourism interests control the political economic situation. And of course there is an assortment of military installations.

Tourists who visit for a week or two, do not see this. They arrive jet-lagged and a little disoriented, anticipating the illusions of "tropical paradise". If they visit a tropical jungle, a waterfall, a volcanic caldera, a warm sandy beach, and see a few fish and turtles, they are usually satiated. After all, it is for them a contrast to a stultifying office cubicle life or cold climate from which they seek respite.

In the midst of all this, various levels of privileged elite from all over the world reside in private enclaves, wrapped in their own version of denial that it will all soon be ending.

-ASK

Polynesian region ->

In “His” Image –Creator of All

July 15, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1416.msg6066.html#msg6066>

Human language, even that of the most eloquent and creative, cannot provide the words for this, since words are only symbols. The “Catch-22” is that if one does not know of That which these symbols represent, the inherent limitations of human language becomes infinitely more limiting. What appears below I have written about many times over the years. Today it seems very important to briefly recapitulate some of this. -ASK

For those beings who derive their essence from Creator of All, it can be said that their greater being (“soul” or whatever else) is a microcosm based upon the essence and patterning of Creator of All. This is your True Self as an individuation of the Divine.

Imagine an ever changing fluid network of light, of sentient energies, set upon the exploration of its own vast “body” (which we may refer to as “The All”) –and set upon the exploration of That Which Lies Beyond Itself. Imagine beyond the vastness of The All, a great Void in which The All is seemingly suspended.

In a very limited sense the religious expression “we are made in his image” contains a tiny kernel of truth. However, this is not about “humans”. The “human form” as it is known on Earth is an aberration that is the result of Dark forces manifesting into 3d their own version of a Template from the Divine Intent, to serve their own deranged agenda.

Many who are consciously on a “spiritual path” and who make this their priority through their human presence (both aspirants as well those who reached the “threshold”) are here as emanations of their own greater being which in turn are emanations, directly or indirectly, of Creator of All.

This is how so many who are more spiritually aware have managed to maintain their human presence here through “thick and thin”, happiness and sorrows, etc.

Regardless, I wish to say that there is only one source of spiritual joy, and that derives from our innate connection to that Spark of Creator we carry. This is felt or known through our consciousness that is most directly connected to the “Spark of What Is True and Real”. This is why “True Joy” and “True Love” are not to be found in the human Earthly realm at this time, rather only whispers and adumbrations of it.

Something approximating “spiritual ecstasy” can be found and experienced directly through what lies beyond the “mind of the cells”. It is found in the “spaces between the atoms” that is close to the Divine template and “Original Intention”, regardless of any corruptions of “nature” by the Dark. However, the “Ecstasy of the Divine”, spiritual “Truth and Beauty” and Divine “Love” can be more readily found through ones higher levels of being. One could say that it is our very own “god particles” and ones highest level of differentiation from the Divine.

These “god particles” are distributed throughout the totality of our being and provide a close resonance with Creator of All and the “thought-feelings” of the Higher Oneness that permeates The All.

There is a pseudo or quasi-ecstatic joy that comes from the stimulation of our subtle body light fields. But this is not the True Joy I speak of and this quasi version has been used throughout the ages by dark gurus, Dark “light beings”, etc. to trick people into believing they have reached “god”, etc. Thus humans have pursued the 3d externalization of spiritual powers over the ages, a pursuit that generally amplifies and stimulates that which lies at the core of the Fallen Realm.

This is one of a number of factors why there has not been a full descent of the supramental or divine into the human form at this time. It is partly why Mirra and Aurobindo called a halt to their experiments with this process that demonstrably led to externalization of higher spiritual powers with a number of their more advanced group.

To those who are “spiritual aspirants” or who have reached the “spiritualized” threshold, remember that you are not a human being, you are a spiritual being, one intended by the Divine for exploration and learning and spiritual growth – perhaps even to evolve into new creator beings. Seek Higher Oneness in your own higher levels of being, first and foremost. For most this leads more fully into the cosmic levels of Higher Oneness.

That is how you best “serve”.

Here and now in these “end times” many here who have “been around the block” in the realm of Earthly 3d had also accepted an additional mission: to learn and assess the situation here and, when ready, to offer up recommendations and decisions to help “correct” the problems arising from the “anti-creation” force that the aberration of the “Dark” came to be. To the best of my knowing there are relatively few left now on Earth and of those, many are in preparatory mode for their departure from 3d human form.

For those who are spiritually awake, choices based upon True free will, your Spiritual Will, are available. You are no longer to be constrained by the perverse parameters of pretending to be a human-identified-human.

You are free.

-Alex

Apocatastasis - Transformation of Matter, Biology, & Consciousness

July 5, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1161.msg6055.html#msg6055>

We are living in the period of the end of all that has been. Human history, current human affairs, etc. are no longer of any consequence. Of course, in the ultimate scheme of things” they never really ever were of consequence.

What matters always is what has been learned and experienced by spiritual intelligences to contribute to their own spiritual growth and that of Creator of All.

That is all that only matters, most of all now. Months and years now are all barely a blink of an eye. For those who are letting go of their “moorings”, you already know this.

Where “confusion” or uncertainty lies is with the vast numbers of human selfs who are only partially “awake” to their own true nature as spiritual beings. “You” have never been a “human”. “Human” is an animal vehicle of a very special design but not the only such vehicle in existence.

Your immediate “home” or “family” has been spread out in a far ranging manner, learning, experiencing, evolving –and sometimes de-evolving or stagnating. Sometimes it seems “they” (or the greater part of you) has been too far spread out and has lost touch with parts of itself. Let us not despair over this, it is what it is. The best we can do is to understand how this came to be.

The spiritual “you” as a human self is getting the attention of greater “you”. The greater “you” is getting the attention (and help) from higher realms.

But let us not rest with this, rather this should be a source of persistence to push forward as the “hand of rescue” is in coming into sight.

To grasp the totality of what you are as a greater spiritual being can be disturbingly overwhelming to the limited “central processor” of the human ego-personality. It is easier to avoid this for most. To “get it” usually requires “downloads” and “uplinks” to your own or other higher levels of being. Due to extenuating circumstances, there has been much “interference” with good two-way communications.

Greater “you” is getting the message from its originating self –its ultimate differentiation from Creator of All –to pay attention and “pull itself together”. This includes its various subsidiary aspects –and that means human “you”.

In a matter of months, many will be consciously leaving for their “true home” in the fields of space and pure beingness and loving rapture of their own greater being where Truth and Beauty and Love is lived with every pulsation of currents of Divine being. The openings are made and are increasing. What remains for those who remain uncertain are fear-beliefs. For some there are fears concerning “safe passage” when leaving this realm. And for some, as long as their is something “to-do” as a human, there is a certain “easiness” in postponing that final and clear command intention to leave your human vessel. But even this is a fear-belief, one of fear of a type of freedom that is barely imaginable at the human level. I will try to address these more in the near future.

Along the way, one may take pause to review further what it is they bring as their gift to their greater family as their true family prepares their “welcome home” celebration. All of you, of us, are all being called “home” –as above, so below.

Creator of All is calling in All of Itself.

Eventually, the “mind of the cells” as that which is connected to the Original Intent to the human form and those “spaces between the atoms” will be able to connect and communicate with Original Source. There will be no more interference from some recalcitrant, obstinate layer of inconsciency. This may occur from a type of tunneling in from below –from those levels that the Dark was not able to corrupt –and from above, as the supramental Divine beings reach “down”.

It may even occur in the final times of this fallen reality. If you are part of this, you probably know this already and know that it is not something to be reporting on.

From this we see a new creation emerging. The Dark error will be no more and neither will be its corrupting influences.

It is Apocatastasis –the remaking of this creation, and perhaps a bridge with the new creation.

-Alex

P.S.

The remaking of Creation in our context is not a “mere” reset, or restoration, rather it is an evolutionary elevation that takes into account the error of the Dark and what has been learned from all this.

If it is of any help...

A little of what I know

July 15, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1416.msg6069.html#msg6069>

“The question” for spiritually conscious selfs is fundamentally the same as it is for any spiritual being with a human presence. The main difference is that those who are spiritual aspirants and those who have reached the “spiritualized” threshold is that they are conscious of their intentions, spiritually deliberate in their actions and their very raison d’être.

So one can be conscious –as a spiritual being –of what one is about, at the very least as it pertains to human 3d existence. This provides a high and wide vantage point, without which one is limited to looking out from a perspective limited by human concerns of a human-centric point of view.

So the question to those who primarily choose to identify with the threshold of spiritual awakening has to do with reviewing the whys and wherefores of your being here –and to assess the many facets of this environment.

Is “3d physicality” of Earth organized and operated according to principles of conflict duality, predation and parasitism –or not? Is the human physical vehicle organized and operated that way –or not? At what point do you “get it” and at what point are you complete enough in experiencing all this through your human presence? At what point are you done acting and thinking as if you are only a human self, originating through bio-matter and subject to the entropic decay?

Once one looks beyond superficialities, there is the requirement to examine the underlying operating rules, the operating system itself, and beyond that, the intention of those who created the extant operating system.

- / -

The 3d Earth environment is becoming increasingly unviable for “normal” human bio-functioning. Likewise, human-earth society is becoming increasingly unviable for “normal” human functioning.

There is no substantive “positive” or enlightened global change to be forthcoming from this version of Earthly-human 3d. There is no transformation of 3d Earth or present day humans that will create a “golden age” on Earth.

Someday this physical planet will be transformed through Divine agencies because a new type of “creation garden” is what is intended at most levels. This however has no bearing upon present day “normal” human existence.

Every human self has the opportunity of choice –most do not have access to true free-will however as that requires one to be spiritually awake. The vast majority will “choose by default” and let whatever occurs carry them along. Those human selves who have reached that “threshold of awareness” and know themselves as a spiritual being –an aspect of an even “larger” spiritual being –are facing choices that only they can make for themselves and with their own greater being.

More and more of “3d” is being vacated for “4d” –and beyond. The consciousness of your human self is like a spring that is stretching to the next step up –part is on one level, part is on another and there is a kinetic energy that requires resolution to transfer to the higher level or to drop back to the lower level. And for some, their “spring” can be impelled to skip over levels.

As it is like so many abandoned houses today, we see more and more “empty” “human vessels” in 3d, some of which have “squatters” from the dark side in temporary residence. And so there will be more and more “senseless” personal and collective outbursts, and whatever else may manifest from the end of a global civilization that is collapsing in upon itself.

Soon enough, those remaining of the Light will be those ministering to those who are most suffering as they perform a monitoring role from their 3d level until it is their time to leave as well.

The resolution to the distorted beliefs and notions emanating from “human society” is transferring to 4d where suitable containment boundaries are already established, like multiple screening filters. The lower ranges will be where much unresolved “stuff” can be processed and let go of, a requirement to moving into upper levels of 4d. Other than personal “stuff” there are those trying all sorts of well intentioned plans and schemes mostly all based upon the falsehoods and illusions of their 3d lives. I pay no more attention to those than I do their counterparts in the 3d level.

Those human selves in upper levels of 4d are learning what is needed to move on as more evolved spiritual beings into higher levels.

The “press pot” effect will become more and more extreme –as more of 3d is vacated by spiritually-aspiring human selves and by those who have been squeezed out due to personal catastrophic crisis.

This is a time for spiritual aspiring and spiritualized human selves to prepare for a conscious and graceful “expansion-evacuation”. Once in the ascension-transformation mode much more becomes evident than is possible from ones former state and humanly-unimaginable possibilities become imagineable.

I have described the guidelines for this extensively in many prior writings. Today, I attach the terms “expansion” + “evacuation” to signify that while still embodied, this is a time to be expanding into higher states of awareness which are most readily accessible –and keep on expanding vertically and horizontally. This is done with and through you greater level of being. Too many human selfs are so burdened with false notions of “self” and fixated with “separation” that they persist this way even when intending their own spiritual expansion. Thus too often spiritual aspirants work from a self-centered and separation-limited point of view of a “human-identified-human” rather than that of a spiritual being, first and foremost.

Reaching the threshold of spiritual awakening usually cannot be done if one is continually thinking like a human, from a human-centric point of view about human affairs. It requires one to think and perceive like a spiritual being that also happens to have a human vessel in 3d through which to interact and learn.

There is nothing to protest for or against, no headlines to pore over, no political or economic affairs to worry over. Every particle of your energy that you let slip into the chaotic milieu of human affairs is energy that you need for your own transformational process. You choose.

Those vast beings I have mentioned before whose “bodies” have enveloped the Dark-dominated zone will begin to alter the available space or “atmosphere” at a cosmic level. This is part of the process of deleting the Dark error entirely.

The Spark of the true Light that remains with those caught in the lower levels of the correction filtering will be recalled into Source.

Those moving through the upper levels of the corrections/filtering process will find themselves encountering more and more of their “true family” –that of their own greater being.

For so many who are nearly so or already spiritualized (in contrast to those who imagine themselves to be “spiritually correct” in a superficial manner) there are a few to several months of Earth-time in which to truly do their completions, drop all notions of thinking like a human self about human concerns from a human point of view and switch to becoming their spiritual true self and thus only thinking and perceiving as a spiritual being.

As of this writing, relatively few human Earth-years remain during which time human civilization and human society will continue to degenerate in every respect as it collapses upon itself. Actual timing is influenced largely through the parameters of “feedback” processes from 3d and 4d and beyond which I have touched on previously. (Link: <http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1401.msg6027.html#msg6027>)

There are various beings whose “job” it is to facilitate the “cleaning out of theatre” when the “movie” is done and others who will be preparing a new set and setting for a new type of spiritual being to visit and learn from.

Take an active role in your process and be the spiritual being that you are. Do not passively wait it all out, just to see “how it all turns out. That is the role of those who know now with certainty that they are to observe things here for as long as they can.

Expand into your greater self.

Help your all of your Self to prepare your “evacuation” to true “home”.

Engage and partner with your lower self by having a high attractor. Demonstrate to all of your self that you are truly complete enough with your human-earthside “trip”. Take advantage of available energy practices (such as the “crystal body”) to aid in your reconnection. Welcome the “corrections energy” to dissolve away all that is not of the Light. Tell your greater level of being you are truly ready.

It is a way to live now.

And it is your choice.

-ASK

Excerpt from “The Human Question” A Grand Unification

July 8, 2013 - corrected for typos

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,958.msg6057.html#msg6057>

The following is a short excerpt from one of the concluding essays, “The Human Question”.

It has to do with the process of voluntary/conscious unification of consciousness that functions in parallel or in-line with the unification of ones main energy centers and ones subtle and light bodies of your entire spiritual being.

This is mainly for those who are taking their process further with intention of a conscious and continuous “ascension”.

I choose to focus on this now, as that is what is most important now.

A few years ago we published various articles in “Global Awakening News” concerning the ascension and transformation process and additional material in the succeeding A-List “Updates”. There is now a substantial body of teaching material that has been presented as freely and directly as possible.

While it is important for our own greater understanding and spiritual development as spiritual beings, it serves no good purpose to dwell on the actual or perceived inadequacies of the greater level/soul beings which have a human presence, nor does it serve any good purpose to blame Prime Creator for a “defective product”.

Many higher level beings have become excessively dissipated or fragmented. Some may find this too terrible to be aware of, but it is far better to be aware of these problems and perhaps even play some role in helping to correct them even while you are still embodied in human 3d.

So many greater level beings/soul beings are learning that they must “clean up” after themselves, “pull all of themselves together” or to consciously dissolve/reabsorb damaged or lost fragments or aspects themselves.

This would be an “as below” version which corresponds to Creator of All calling in all of Itself.

Some suffered damage due to attacks by the Dark, as have so many that have had a human presence here.

The same goes for one’s human self in the conscious ascension process of a spiritualized human self. What micro-fragments of yourself will you hold on to (or will have a hold on you) and thus interfere with your own conscious ascension process? This would be an “as below” version corresponding to a similar process of your soul being/greater level being that you are connected to. And it serves no useful purpose to blame one’s human self either.

I have explained most of this before and to dwell on this further only causes unnecessary distress and unfounded “shame” or “blame” issues for partially awakened/spiritualized humans who are not ready to understand this.

One of the concluding essays, “Problems of Dissipation” discusses this overall.

This “unification” process may be occurring for more and more of those human level selves who are closest to being ready. It has an energetic correspondence with merging or over-lapping of the main energy centers that make up each of the main aspects of your greater level being as well. (See articles on the “Crystal Body” exercises for examples.) Some may merge these centers, some energy centers may remain differentiated. It really is unique to each.

With these energetic changes, there is less emphasis on “form” (humanoid or other) and more emphasis on energy flow and direction with a strong integrity to one’s dynamic structures –all of which are needed to support a more evolved and unified field of consciousness and of being.

Previously I have discussed the importance of a “high attractor”, as well as attending to one’s “completions” and detaching of one’s human level from this realm. This leads to a greater energetic capacity between your middle self and lower self (that which has been closest to the base human level). The result can be like two traveling companions that have more capacity together than they do as two separate entities.

This principle or dynamic also applies to the human self in its re-merging into its own higher level of being or vice versa. Eventually this is a mutual process.

To do this requires the human “self” to know that is not human, and know it is a spiritual being. (Of course, Peirre Teilhard de Chardin is famously quoted on this –but that was only a fragment of the whole.)

This no mere koan, it represents a very important step, one that I have addressed before. Are you human ...or are you a spiritual being who has been having human experiences? This bears directly upon the most important of nay beliefs you may have at your human level –beliefs that influence your ascension and re-integration with your own greater level being. This is one of the considerations behind the extensive stratifications that have been developed for the ongoing ascension process at the “next levels up”. Those who are still focused upon mundane human concerns –personal or collective –will find that that is what remains for them in their ascension process from 3d into higher levels. Those who are still “fighting the good fight” need to know that “the war is over”. Period. Let it go. (At whatever level you may be so engaged.)

As long as you are a human-identified human there will be a tendency to think or act passively, waiting for help to arrive, demanding an end to that which is un-right, waiting to see how things go, “hoping” for this or that, wondering what side is the “right one” to “support”, etc. Please stop.

Once your human self surrenders itself up to its higher level of being, there comes a final stage of detaching from ones physical moorings.

Concerns and fears dissolve away at that point and one’s thoughts are effused with a mutual love and affection between ones greater being and that aspect that has been human “you” in this lifetime.

There is no “how to” step-by-step manual for this. For each it is unique. However, over the years, we have provided much by way of background and guidance as well as explanations of the working principles which are most in common with the whole process.

As your process progresses, ones thinks less and less as a human from a human point of view about human concerns –and more and more as a spiritual being that identifies with the Higher Oneness and their Divine origins. For a while this can be a continuous waking/sleeping meditation/contemplation. Whatever ones higher attractor might be from a spiritualized human level point-of-view, expansion into your Divine nature as a spiritual being becomes the high attractor and the high attractor becomes you.

As always, focused intent is essential.

-Alex

The “Microcosm” of “You”

June 27, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.958.msg6049.html#msg6049>

From a letter received:

“... I've continued doing the exercises and having new experiences. It's really amazing and I feel I'm starting to consider them from another point of view. I can even “maintain a conversation” between the different aspects. It actually is more like the aspects talking between them and me being the third one AND the greater one...”

Yes ! This is one example of how 3d “you” can develop into becoming an important center of focus and source of coherence for your own greater being. I have often paraphrased a well known quote: “Are you the One?” ...asks your greater being. Are you the one to help put an end to the further dissipation from too many repeat visits into this realm? Are you the one to spark the next stage of the evolution of your own greater being? “So... whatcha got?” ...asks your own collective greater being.

There is a simple diagram (see page 34 of PDF link below) that illustrates expanding “vertically” AND the start of “seeing” or “knowing” “horizontally” as well.

Bridging/crossing many levels of the totality of your being (vertical) and extending outwards “horizontally” across multiple vibrational ranges.

Thus or whatever “x-d”/dimensional range can extend beyond any “fallen” or dark side controlled/influenced zone. It is one way to experience the higher Oneness of The All, etc. and to connect to ones own “god essence” that is your human self can experience through your own higher levels of being. Also, the “vertical connection” extends the way to your highest point of differentiation from prime Creation/Creator or the next closest derivative Creator Being. Thus directly or indirectly this carries the spark of Creator of All.

See page 34 -

<http://www.newearthsummit.org/pfcn/Bulletins/Update-Feb-Mar-2011-Complete.pdf>
or at <http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/Update-Feb-Mar-2011-Complete.pdf>

“Pull yourself together”, help your greater being pull itself together! This is one way to take an active role in the ascension process of the totality of your own being.

-Alex

Next Levels Up Where Illusions and Delusions of 3d are Played Out “A Kodak Moment” – and a short update

June 28, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1374.msg6050.html#msg6050>

Two days ago I was “visiting” various stratifications across the range of “4d” space. What was a relatively a clear zone a year ago, ready for “ascendees” to expand into with relative safety, is now being flooded by “refugees” from a major disaster zone –that being 3d space –and with them, much of the corruptions and distortions of consciousness and energy they carry like a disease.

Much of this has been anticipated and stratifications emplaced –part of a refined continuation of the “corrections energies” “press pot” filtering/separating process that we have described focused around the vibrational spaces of “3d” and environs.

-/-

Today there was something of “small group tour” to examine and illustrate the practical essence of the dangerous disintegration of what nominally passes as “3d reality”. They refused to see and process the obvious rot and decay in front of them. At first I thought they only had “3d eyes” that had been so ingrained to see only the surface of things that they could not see what was so plainly structures in severe stages of decay and disintegration. In other words, they could not even recognize what perhaps some decades ago they might have noticed.

But it was more than that.

It was as if they had a virtual reality screen in front of their eyes that masked the reality and colored everything with a blandly pleasing countenance. They steadfastly refused to acknowledge what could have been so obvious. They had “eyes to see, but could not see”, to paraphrase a popular biblical expression.

It is no “coincidence” that this may evoke scenes from the “Matrix” and other similar science-fiction stories –for are very profound truths that are presented by that well-known movie trilogy.

-/-

The “press pot” process has a lower filter that is moving upwards from states below 3d. This creates something of an “all boats raised” effect, while the upper higher realm filtering inexorably continues to press downward as well.

So the pressure increases for those who are more spiritualized to keep moving on to more refined levels or be caught up in the what could be regarded as only partially cleared muck and mire from 3d and below. It is thus that I would describe the growing entropic decay of 3d conditions on “ordinary 3d Earth”.

The degree of discomfort and perception of suffering is mostly dependent upon the vibrational state of ones point of view.

Moreover this is now affecting non-spiritualized humans as well. More and more are being filtered and forced into a slightly altered state of being. What is caught between the “corrections energies” converging filters is expelling much of the dark as well as concentrating more of what cannot be expelled or dissolved away.

More and more human are “acting out”, “seeing things”, and whatever else may contribute to aberrant mental states and outward actions.

-/-

Early on, a newly cleared space in 4d was available for those who were stretching themselves outwards and upwards as they practiced expanding into higher states and learning how to transfer more of their self into the next levels up while still embodied in 3d.

Many of this group did not rest in the delusionary illusions of lower 4d that originate in “3d” and now constitute one of the bifurcations into higher levels of being, while still embodied in 3d.

The upper reaches of 4d are now relatively clear and safe zones for the further expansion of those who are on spiritual evolutionary trajectory of “ascension” and recombining with their own greater being.

Middle range zones that have not been affected yet by the new pressures of the upwards movement of the “lower press pot filter” of the corrections energies are where more of the illusions and delusions are collecting.

-/-

In one zone I was touring, there were modest sized houses widely spread out across some idyllic hillsides of trees and fields and flowers. Most of the houses were stuffed with recreational “toys” of the materially-oriented human Earth cultures. Boats, ATV’s, ski’s, etc. The “suburban ideal” of those who were granted a few weeks or so vacation time from the employment-control system.

I asked what this one place was and I was told “it is where the Kodak people went”.

(A little background: Eastman Kodak used to be the single largest employer in all of the Rochester NY area and was noted for its “cradle to grave” paternalism towards “its people”. It was “understood” that one never criticized or complained about “The Company” and thus one could help perpetuate a life of relative ease. In other words, they “owned” you. Like all major industries, they were one of the major polluters of the air, water, and land. Today, Kodak is in legal bankruptcy. At its peak of operations, “the Kodak worker” had relatively better pay, healthcare, benefits, bonuses, and other benefits to help secure their loyal silence. This enabled many employees, including hourly paid workers, to have “recreational toys”, hunting or lake cottages, etc. This of course contributed to the destruction of the Finger Lakes ecosystem as well as Lake Ontario, etc. Today the term “Kodak Moment” would be synonymous with humans crystallizing their human memories of their 3d existence and all of the deluded illusions that goes along with it.)

So I had a “4d” “Kodak Moment” included in this most recent tour.

-/-

Vibrational point-of-view (POV) is more and more important, now more than ever. This POV is vibrational state-dependent, and so it is not some fanciful “opinion”. So those who might imagine a “Kodak heaven” or one of endless play and leisure need to be very careful about their human-level beliefs and what they wish for. The same goes for the corrupt new age “love and light” crowd that would have a “new age heaven” of endless festivals, light shows, and multi-level marketing plans for the latest in “transformational gimmicks”, and whatever is imagined.

So, what is your true high attractor? And be careful what you wish for.

Soon enough the corrections energies pressures will raise up more of the corruptions of Earthly 3d into the lower 4d region where they will be easier to process further. This may well be perceived by those “Kodak people” as the end of their illusionary world and many will face the spiritual pressure of evolving further or become caught up in the filtering/clearing process.

At 3d this is what is being experienced in more severe ways and the level of “material severity” will only intensify in this next stage we have just entered.

I will have more to say on some this shortly. But I thought these interesting examples to share now since they represent much more.

-ASK

Postscript

I should emphasize that this “blinded denial” of those individuals was at a 4d-level of consciousness. To me, this further reinforces the persistence of damaged human consciousness into the next level/s up, and thus the importance of additional filtering and separation as part of the overall ascension and creational transformation process.

Having a “3d” Experience Dolphins, Humans, and Spiritual Beings

June 12, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1425.msg6041.html#msg6041>

Where we moved to “at the end of the world” is a microcosm of the entire human and physical world –today and its past as well. It is all here. Here, everywhere you look, there is that terribleness of the deliberate and selfish and ignorant ways that “paradise” is degraded by humans in so many ways –by local and distant forces alike, today, yesterday, and many centuries ago when an aggressive and warfare-based people invaded the islands. And it is no random coincidence that another aggressive and warfare-based society (USA) seized the islands in a more recent century.

Being near certain favorable locations at the ocean, it is possible to be in the water nearly every day any day except when winds and waves are too hazardous or roughly unpleasant to cope with.

So I find some respite in the ocean. Plus it helps me to maintain my physical vehicle.

Like walking a familiar set of trails in the woods or hills through all seasons, I have become closely acquainted with the undersea terrain and its visitors and its regular denizens as well as surface and submarine “weather”.

Where I go almost daily, there is a local population of about two dozen large sea turtles and periodic visits by anywhere from twenty to nearly a hundred dolphins. During the recent two weeks, conditions have enticed anywhere from twenty to nearly sixty dolphins to visit here everyday for some hours. Some rest, some doodle around with each other. Each pod is its own extended family and together all the pods are an extended version.

The turtles have their version of community and it operates in its own way in a type of slow motion. Fortunately I have been able to watch and observe and occasionally be a welcomed presence by a few of these creatures who are now familiar with my visits over a few miles of their local habitat. Turtles usually forage for algae and eat some coral and shellfish, but usually it is algae that they like the most. They are quiet foragers, threatened mainly by sharks and humans. Not only do humans hunt turtles for food, but also for their shells. More so, pollution from human civilization has infected turtle and other reef life with many lethal diseases and pathogens.

But that is a whole other story, so back to the dolphins and what they represent.

This week, there were fifty to sixty as three pods converged. I got to spend time with one of the pods and then the whole group. After about an hour with them, I found myself in the middle of them underwater as well at the surface. It is also something of an altered state one gets into. So they and I were quite fine with all of this and we would surface together, breathe and submerge together, and on it went. I got to see their young ones up close and they allowed me a close proximity, less than an arm or flipper apart at times.

This is simply a little background to the physical setting.

- / -

The main thing about all of this is that I continue my work on the finer and finer details of the “human question”, and the closely related problem of spiritual beings requiring or desiring to have an embodied human self in order to experience (and presumably learn about) density and individuation. Here in this fallen realm, there is the additional “double challenge” of separation from Oneness in an environment dominated by conflict, predation, and parasitism.

This of course leads back into the problem of the potential and future of humans as they are presently constituted on Earth –more so, the potential for spiritual expansion and awakening of the human self while embodied. And this leads right back to the higher level/soul being that is so very much involved in the formation of a human self.

As above, so below. So below, as above. This latter “side of the coin is very much a reflection of the state of affairs of the overall mix and milieu of our own larger being and vice versa. The involvement of the Dark and the influence of its conflictual-duality operating paradigm complicates things.

However, learning about 3d for a greater spiritual being does not require it to have a human presence on Earth. Furthermore, there are other ways to have a 3d earthly experience and there are other ways of learning about 3d density than to be allowed to operate a human self. And beyond that, there are other ways to have a 3d experience on Earth and elsewhere and thereby engage in expansive spiritual learning.

As in the case of dolphins, they present nearly all there is to learn from “3d” without the enthrallment of the illusions and delusions of human civilization. ...Individuation, group mind oneness, cooperation, trust, caring, service, joy of being, having young ones, and a wide range of sensory experiences far beyond human capabilities. ...And on the darker side, dolphins experience life as mid-level predator-foragers as well as being top-level food chain prey to sharks.

Additionally there are the dangers and risks from injury and disease, and psychological dysfunction from a polluted and stressed living environment. And yes, in certain situations of extreme stress, some have even violently attacked on another.

...And all this and without having to violently tear up the planetary body in a form of twisted mimicry of the dark creator gods. Of course humans tell themselves that is the nature of “evolving civilization” to expend lifetimes “making stuff”, accumulating wealth and prestige, and replicating more humans to assure a continuity of an insanely depraved existence.

In short, dolphins and other highly developed creatures offer a simplified way of being that still offers valuable learning.

But too many of the higher level/soul beings became addicted to the human matrix world. And what has been learned at the upper levels from this endless arcade of pains and pleasures?

So many channelers, and over so many decades rare few have channeled true gnosis from ones higher levels of self through ones human level of being. Now why is this? It could be because the majority of these higher level beings have been too dissipated and unable to assemble advanced spiritual learning? It also could be that too many became addicted to the “virtual reality game” of human existence with its myriad roles to play and endless emotional and sensory stimuli.

- / -

The extreme nature of human earthly reality is so distorted and perverse that it nearly guarantees a very small “graduating class” for any given time interval.

So it is the “press pot” –filtering out what can be, helping more to surrender up the illusions of human existence in favor of their spiritual true self. What does not readily filter out or become facilitated through the “correction energies” will be under greater pressure. At the most extreme will be the end of bodily existence through any number of catastrophes –man made and of planetary-space origin. Thus the higher level beings that we are connected to will also be freed from whatever it is that holds them here, endlessly cycling around.

And the foregoing leads into why the present course of events are in play.

The “short version” is that it is essential to rescue, extract, separate out, etc. as much as the true Light as possible from this reality while gaining an optimum of spiritual learning to help our greater beings evolve as they were meant to be.

The short term “flow rate” (timing) of the transformational process depends largely on the results from the 3d and higher level feedback loops. Too little results, then more pressure, etc. Until there is nothing left to filter out.

And so the main question remains for all those in the higher realms to keep in the forefront of their process: at what point will it become spiritually irresponsible to keep the 3d human earth world running? My best guess at this point only extends to 2017 to 2019. In the interim, arrangements are being made for those who most urgently need to depart 3d.

The human controllers are as nervous as ever, but they are also confident they can contain most of the difficulties in the earthly realm that might upset their plans for themselves.

This leads to near term scenarios in which geographic control zones become established and these zones are enacted globally. The powers-that-be have their own version of “press pot filtering” using advanced technologies to control and stratify populations. Those deemed “necessary” will have relative safety from mob violence and deprivation. Those deemed “expendable” will be in the larger outlying zones where broad-area surveillance technologies will be used for containment. Neither zone is “safe” nor desirable and the only thing that will bring this to a halt will be large scale planetary changes.

In the interim, there will be an increasingly difficult way of life, greater uncertainty and stress. This leads to a further degeneration of cognitive abilities, exacerbated by ubiquitous psycho-pharmaceuticals and EM radiations.

Collectively humans tend to resist rapid forced changes, the same changes introduced gradually –and with a high degree of social meme saturation –will be “accepted” and compliance achieved. The small fractions of “malcontents” are usually easily contained through various well-proven means. When the powers-that-be require large scale changes in a short time, historically proven methods range from moderate to extreme “manufactured threats”. I will not bother with examples as most readers surely know the range of these.

- / -

These concerns are ever-present with me so it is no surprise that I find myself meditating on this as I go about my ocean activities.

Dolphins are an example of a physical presence that has a complex social order, much individuality, very highly developed consciousness at many levels, and yet does not build permanent structures and rationalize it as “civilization”.

They are a physical presence and thus have bodies which require them to eat other animals. And while they do not hunt large highly sentient creatures like the big cats, they still eat fish and other small critters. Dolphins really only have only two major threats: sharks and humans. Humans not only hunt dolphins as food, humans in some places consider dolphins a competitor for fish, and then there is the problem of disease and injury from various human activities that impact the dolphin ocean environment.

There are a few other types of creatures that walk or swim this planet which are also endowed with very high intelligence and the capacity for individuality, while being part of some form that is part of some social order.

There are those spiritual beings for whom these creatures offer a bio-vehicle for learning more of the nature of density. They do not need to be involved or subsumed by human civilization. It is possible to see, hear, smell, feel, and think through the mind and body awareness of many creatures.

And consider that if it is possible for more psychically and intuitively evolved human selfs to experience existence through the mind-body of other creatures, it should also be possible for greater level/soul beings as well. And so it shall be.

-ASK

P.S.

Yes, the turtle is from here and so are the dolphins –and yes, that is my human form in the background.

- / -

Growing Your Own Spiritual-Energetic Capacities

June 17, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1424.msg6044.html#msg6044>

Thank you Vanessa for sharing this!

You wrote:

[i]"... we were the only ones that could do this "work" for ourselves..." [/i]

This is a very significant observation you make in your recent letter, as is your other comment in your posting:

[i]"... Regarding me, I had like a double feeling, because I was the greater being containing all of the aspects and feeling what they felt and at the same time I was my 3D human self acting as just a part of that 'council'. ..." [/i]

Your post is a good opportunity for me to highlight and reinforce previous comments in various recent essays, posts, etc. concerning the potential and the responsibility for “spiritualized” humans selfs to play an active role in helping their own higher level of being to “get its act together”

Creator of All is calling in all its parts (minus the Dark infection). Our higher level/soul being is being asked to do the same for its domains of being. Our human level self is a microcosm of all of this (of course!).

Thus, for those who “have their wits about them”, it is essential to take an active role.

And to do so NOW!

The alternative is to be “riding” a rollercoaster that is sitting atop unstable ground that will be increasingly disturbed by various energetic and 3d physical waves of disturbances.

This is NOT a change in my larger assessment that humans are NOT the source of the evil of Dark. Likewise, this is NOT a change in my larger assessment that the fallen realm of conflict-duality that has been the domain of the Dark forces is NOT a deliberate “school of hard knocks” set up Creator of All in some moment of “creational perversity”.

What I am saying is that spiritualized human selfs need to take an active role, more now than ever before, and cease playing a passive role as “victims” of cosmic errors.

The focus of the “corrections energies” and the development of a “new earth” and all the rest are (for our purposes here) centered upon the clearing, upgrading, and resurrecting of the totality of our own greater being. And that includes human self “you”.

The more active a dynamic you can establish, the more effective and expeditious will be your ascension to a higher state of being and awareness.

This cannot be done however if human “you” is continually wandering the shopping malls of fear of death and destruction, illusions and delusions of human materiality, and “pretend spirituality”.

You CAN help your own higher self. And in doing so, your higher self can help human self YOU.

This where human “you” has genuine choices to make.

Tempus fugit.

-Alex

Ascension Breakthroughs

June 16, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1374.msg6042.html#msg6042>

At present there are rare few sources of any genuine information concerning ascension and the process that is underway with direct reportage and explanation of the “whys and wherefores” of the actual situation. This has been part of our purpose in publishing Global Awakening News and the Updates.

I have tried to explain this before: there is one primary reality –ancient and modern seers have termed this “The Real”. What there has been in the “past” of multiple timelines, etc. has been mostly collapsed into a singular reality operating in a common time line. The main distinctions in reality now are of a vibrational nature. The rest is merely a matter of tolerance for the non-uniform conditions each may be residing under within 3d human earth “reality”.

This is to distinguish “the Real” from the illusions and projected delusions of damaged minds (maia, maya, miasm, all similar terms). Interesting that the “Mayans” who are so associated with the “2012 meme” and “end times” have a linguistically identical moniker (!) to these words representing projected illusion.

It is expected that as the “press pot” processes continues, more humans selfs will choose or surrender to their potential as spiritual beings. There will be little left for them otherwise.

The simple sketches below suggests various ranges of “states of being” for 3d, 4d, 5d, etc. and indicates the stratifications I have referred to, especially within 4d. At the top is a representation for the Totality of the Absolute. The center symbol represents the center of an ascended being. The graphic really has no relationship to any position on this graph, but it seemed helpful when I drew this that I put it “up there” above it all. It is a simplified version of what I experienced some years ago.

These “stratifications” are the main reason some intuitives and channellers may claim there are “multiple timelines” and “multiple earths”.

To a consciousness in “4.4D”, “4.9D” may appear to be a different earth-like if “new earth” world –and vice versa, etc.

The stratifications I refer to are mainly part of the latter stages of the “corrections and filtering” process of Creator of All. These are necessary to provide some space between levels or layers to further refine containment and filtering to free that of the true Light from various disturbances to their fields from Dark side influences.

While there may be very little by way of dark side entities, there is the ongoing problem of the “ideas”, “memes” and memories that persist from the human 3d levels.

We have discussed this before, particularly in the context of the “garbage in, garbage out” problem of our higher levels of being. To summarize this, it is that if the preponderance of what our higher levels have known of 3d density, conflict duality, and more, is based upon human 3d “experiential learning”, then there is a confused and distorted understanding residing within many of the soul beings and other greater beings with human presences.

Each subsequent wave shown in the first sketch is slightly elevated indicating more having made the transition –and indicating “all boats raised”.

The “press pot” filtering and “corrections energy” process is moving from above and there is a corresponding movement from below. I can only say that this growing pressure will not make for an “easy ride” for the majority who remain “asleep” or for those who cannot shake their attachments to 3d human existence.

I have made reference before to this scene from the movie “Contact”: Dr. Arroway is in the interdimensional spherical transport, strapped in a chair that had been added by well-meaning but ignorant humans. The chair (representing human 3d social materiality) was never part of the intended design. Consequently the vibrations inside the sphere became so violent that, had Arroway not noticed how smoothly her compass was floating in front of her she might not have survived the trip. However, she did become aware and deliberately let go of her (literal) “attachments” to the chair that held her in place. Got the picture?

Waves of Bifurcations

Each set of “waves” represents episodes of human selfs moving into more expanded states and some eventually withdrawing from 3d. In each “wave” there are bifurcations along vibrational tendencies of various levels of spiritual development and choice.

The waves signify the spiritual development over time of human selfs on earth. In the coming months and years these waves will become more frequent and appear closer together in time.

There are those who, by choice or default, will “ride” the waves... who will ride the vibrational waves upwards in vibration. This may take a few years to complete, during which time the lower levels of 3d planetary environment will be collapsing, at times catastrophically, with a corresponding disintegration of 3d human civilization in every conceivable way.

At the same time the vibrational state one is in will tend to minimize these material effects upon ones physical vehicle. Like a moving escalator, one can make the effort and climb the stairs, regardless of whether the escalator is operating smoothly or lurching.

I have no doubt there will be some who will take to this and do what they can from their newly expanded state of being –encompassing 3d through the next levels up –to help as many as possible to stay above the “rising waters” of vibrational changes.

During the period of changes in the lower 3d Earth, many will be “guided” to new locations, etc. Again, this is not an easy thing if you are still operating through a corporeal biology (human body). And in most cases these will only be temporary arrangements. It was in anticipation of this, that we had made the invitation for a cooperative and congenial community in Montana's Bitterroot Valley.

Enlarged view of the first wave

In this enlargement of the slope of the first wave from the first sketch, each number signifies a “base camp” along a path of “ascent” from 3d to its upper ranges and above. The upper base camps appear more distant and less and less populated. As to the appearance of distant, it is all a matter of point of view. If you are simply looking along the plane of 3d, they may well appear more equidistant, that is until you start to make the stretch to the next level. Until now the upper “ridge” or barrier has been too unstable for use. Access tunnel/portal prepared to avoid this unstable zone and facilitate access to more who are ready.

- / -

Why the necessity for a long term physical continuity of the human species? While I can think of some "rationales", none of them satisfactorily answer this question.

The human species, as a biological physical vehicle for consciousness, can be corrected, improved, remade, and replicated –as has been done before. And a new process can be guided by spiritually developed beings operating in accord with Creator of All and the higher Oneness.

One way this process can be expedited will be to rescue or protect those humans on Earth who have the most refined biological make up and the most evolved energetic bodies. I leave it to the reader to imagine the possibilities. But these "new humans" are not compatible with extant humans of today and are regarded more as a threat to control or destroy. This may change, however for now, that is how it is.

- / -

At the very least there is a need and a desire, for a large number of higher level beings to have something of a lower level experience. I understand this. But as I have suggested before there are other ways to go about this and it is best that as a whole they learn to let go of human earth relationship altogether –and to do so sooner than later. Of course there are exceptions, but that is not our point here.

Let's keep our "eye on the ball".

Creator of All has been calling in all parts of Itself as it prepares for a complete change in the totality of manifest creation and its own matrix. I have elaborated on this in previous essays. However, due to the error of the Dark and its subsequent entanglement with the Light, it is now essential to filter or separate out that which is of the true Light from that which is of the deranged false creation. Hence the multiple stages to this process.

As above, so below.

Looking at the micro-holographic aspects of Creator that the greater level/soul beings were imbued with, one can see that each of these beings –your own true Self –are being asked to call in all their aspects and become realigned with Creator of All. In so doing each is freed of the contaminations and distortions of Dark force influences. Each is required to assemble the totality of their learning across all dimensions of their being as they "pull themselves together".

As above, so below. And so it is that at the human level, the spiritualized human self is a sub-set or microcosm of this microcosm.

Rather than worrying about all the dross spinning all around you of the moribund human social matrix, what is most essential now is to make the supreme effort to “pull yourself together”, go through the filtering/corrections processes, and rejoin your true Self as an important contributing element to your own True Self cosmic learning.

Coming out of the human 3d realm, all of “You” has the “benefit” of the most grueling and extensive learning in all creation.

While it was not planned or intended this way by Creator of All, nevertheless it is what it is. In many ways the individual and collective learning of each and all souls/greater level beings that encompassed one or more human Earth lifetimes represents a culmination of the most extensive learning processes available and traces up to Creator of All. Thus the more soul beings/greater level beings have “pulled themselves together” and the more they have developed a coherent collective learning, the more they have to contribute to Creator of All and the new creation processes. This is also a part of the evolutionary growth of the souls/greater level beings on their way to becoming creator beings in their own right.

-ASK

Getting Off the “Merry-Go-Round” and “Surrendering”

June 2, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1416.msg6035.html#msg6035>

Note: this is to follow-up on “Memorandum to Self...”

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1416.msg5991.html#msg5991>

As it has been ongoing for more than twenty years, I continue to be surprised at what I find surprising. And how it all completes.

Increasingly, this world, this reality is receding. I can still safely make familiar short car trips, go out into the ocean etc. But it is all receding more than ever at times. And so is access to this physical vibrational state we term “3d”.

Like viewing a star cluster or planet from far away, the details of the stars, the planet, all appear as a single whole. If you look close up one can make out details, zooming in closer, even more detail is apparent. If you could zoom in on a single point of consciousness that is imbedded in one of these worlds, it is possible to understand through that mind of a self and at times to see, hear, smell, taste, etc. what that individuated self is experiencing.

At times it is easier to “go out” to the higher planes, but coming back here, re-focusing attention to a physically being can be challenging. Just like a slow motion ongoing series of near death experiences –each time it becomes harder to return to your bodily 3d existence. The “issues” of the human life you have had recede rapidly. The human state of being seems more and more non-relevant and more and more insane from higher more “spiritually complete” perspectives.

You become self-identified with your higher self. You are it. It is you. Now, you say to yourself, what then is this 3d business really all about?

To run this process in reverse, begin from ones individuated human self on 3d earth, seemingly experiencing whatever there is. Then zooming out farther until there is barely a speck and then apparently nothing distinguished from other specks, until eventually the entire solar system disappears into a galaxy, etc.

Here is a computer animation showing a different perspective than is usually presented with regard to this planet and this solar system and its movement through space - <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RCUhm63ioCU> - around time mark 1:30 (I suggest turning the volume down) through to time mark 3:30.

(Note: I am not endorsing any individuals or their views that are linked to this work or related websites. Only that it is a provocative animation.)

As I watched this, I imagined how close one could be to literally getting off the “merry-go-round” as it goes on its way. And no worries.

Higher self? Higher Attractor?

What is the problem here? Intention, focused intention is sufficient. If you have a more detailed inner “image”, fine. However, most do not.

If you do not have such a good sense about your own “higher self”, then try connecting or at least identifying with your very highest levels of origin as an individuation of Creator of All.

If you were to succeed at going beyond that (your highest point of origin), then you go back to Source. And I would not presume one way or another whether or not you continue on as a higher level individuation within Creator of All, an individuation that exists with any “independent” volition.

Just mentioning the possibilities here. That’s all.

Pressure from Below?

Yes, as a spiritualized self, you are in a position to apply pressure from below to your higher levels –for them to pull themselves together, and to bring you along.

Pressure from Above?

I have already addressed the feedback systems in recent postings here. This is why there is no definitive time frame in human terms. A little more pressure from the “correction energies” and that which guides these. As transformational results improves, a little more pressure until it is necessary to back off a little. Then a little more, etc. Until eventually there is a point of diminishing return and a new stage of existence can occur. This is what “governs” the near term time frame.

For our purposes of discussion here, the two main feedback levels are at 3d consciousness and at the higher level beings with 3d presences. As above, so below, is then covered.

Perhaps in the “future” there will be some new planetary catastrophe –perhaps one that can be felt, seen, experienced somehow so that there can be no doubt whatsoever of some eschatological event. At that point comes what is possible of one final push of a massive surrendering of the illusions and delusions and falsehoods of human existence to the higher levels of being. That will be the only avenue.

Inner and Outer Completions?

Is there a problem here? Run your own check list if necessary. To each their own. Really. This is an ever-changing process. Often the more “complete” of a state of human experience you have reached, suddenly many smaller “issues” suddenly go away and the process becomes more rapid –a cascade effect. The more developed ones higher knowing is, the easier it is to move through this stuff. The more you move through this, the more your higher knowing expands. And another level of cascade effect occurs.

“Surrendering?”

Perhaps this word needs to be reworked for our use here. For a non-spiritualized human facing extreme crisis, then this term is more apt.

Concerning the question of “surrendering” to a higher power”, etc.: I wish to make clear here that I am addressing “spiritualized humans”, first and foremost.

At the risk of engaging in semantics, opening to ones true nature as a spiritual being could be considered a first step, then there is choice to really do it and intend it and then attend to that intention. In some ways it is an expression of trust in ones true origins as a spiritual being and all that may entail.

“Surrendering” has various qualities. One of these is seldom discussed: passive versus active. There is context to consider: is it to a high attractor (highest intention) or is the result of energy depletion or exhaustion? Is “surrender” done in anger or frustration?

Certainly, there is the religious notions of surrendering to “god” –but questions about the truth of religious texts aside, it is all about ones highest intent. In other words, you could be a religious oriented person, and yet still have a pure and high intent when imaging/imagining “god” or “creator”, etc. –regardless of religious doctrines. However, if one is enthralled/controlled by the religious doctrines, then ones “highest intent” might wind up to be too inviting to the dark and demented gods of the religious tracts.

Consider the difference pure highest intent can make.

When one is sufficiently complete with ones existence here, the last cords or attachment can be let go, like a balloonist expanding the balloon further and removing the last tethers or ballast.

There is the surrender to ones higher nature as a greater spiritual being.

Then there is the surrendering up of the illusions, delusions, and all the rest of the human existence.

Fortunately the initial stage of the process includes an expansion phase for most. Imagine you are like a growing spiral or spring with the lower portion still attached in 3d for now and you can expand yourself up various levels and look over the edge at a new plateau or plane of being. Perhaps there is one remaining bridge or bit of road work needed, but you can glimpse the features of a new state of being.

Like the initial process of one hundred aspiring mountain climbers, perhaps only ten make it to the upper base camp while everyone else settles in temporarily at the lower level base camps. It seems as though some here have been around the upper base camp for a year or two or three!

Eventually reports from the leading edge make less and less meaningful sense to those at base camp one, yet continue to be meaningful to those gathered at the base camp just below yours.

The initial forays into the next levels up have been to practice expanding and flowing more of ones energy from 3d to a higher state. It is like any capacity building. It takes practice. Some are aware of this practicing in their “waking” state, and others are not. What is important is that the process has worked and now there are more layers and levels –like rungs on a ladder to assist those who are just getting the hang of this.

Soon enough those gathered at the upper base camp will know when it time to embark on the next stage of their movement. Some may stay at the next level and look around, some may continue on beyond that.

Do not look back or concern yourself with the disputes of various agendas influencing human thoughts and actions.

Expand beyond that.

-ASK

Postscript Re: Concerning post: “We are at the end...?”

June 3, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1422.msg6036.html#msg6036>

This is partly in response to JLMH's recent posting --

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1422.msg6032.html#msg6032>

...and partly to emphasize why I do not see any defined “schedule”, not one in terms of human-3d Earth “time”.

( Also, see previous response, “Caught or Free” --

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1422.msg6034.html#msg6034>

and “Getting off the Merry-Go-Round” --

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1416.msg6035.html#msg6035> )

Indeed, in so many ways, so many here have seemingly left “no stone unturned” in their search for spiritual Truth and spiritual Home. As JLMH writes, it seems at this point there appear to be no remaining options. I have excerpted a few key thoughts from his post:

“...we are at the end, and yet there is no end.

“...I have tried everything to make some change, ...yet wake up to the same thing...

“The same insanity, the same not-knowing, the same day, over and over and over.

“...So I have reached a point where there is nothing left to try or to not try.

“...So it must be the end and yet I see no end in sight.

I am noticing an “end” coming into view, it is not recognizable (yet) by any significant portion of humans, and not even by the large portion of spiritualized humans. However, its “adumbrations” are being felt and otherwise detected and that is one “positive indicator”.

There is the expansion effect that spiritualized humans have been experiencing and practicing to some extent –while still “anchored” with a 3d human body. Like a spring stretching itself higher and higher and eventually transferring more and more of its energy to a higher level. At some point whatever tethers it to 3d will completely loosen.

A departure from the “upper base camp” is in preparation that involves some portion of those who have been gathered there. It is likely that there will be some communications back to “camp” from where they will be headed. But it is most likely that those in the initial base camp only get the news through one or more of the intermediate base camps.

I am also anticipating that the transition zone in the range of 4d will be overwhelmed by incoming “evacuees” –catalyzed by various processes which are at work at any given time.

This could result in an increase in the influence of dark-side beliefs and low level entities.

The transition zones that we conveniently refer to as the range of “4d” and portions of “5d” have some built in stratifications to help filter and contain what is not ready for the next levels up. A new version of the corrections energies and filters will be in place so that a self-selection process for each being can move ahead quickly, yet not allow residual dark influences through. Like a refinement of the mayonnaise separation process. Due to the more fluid nature of these slightly higher vibratory ranges, the process should flow more easily and readily, limited primarily by belief systems and “unfinished” issues remaining from 3d or from ones higher level of being.

The “timing” of all this is primarily influenced by the feedback processes from “3d” and the levels of our own greater being, as I have mentioned in previous essays.

Significant factors influencing anticipated movement from “upper base camp” involve the state of readiness (completions and detachment, etc.) of those with 3d presences and their greater being) and the readiness of the highways/byways for what is next. The “connector access routes” are not quite ready. These would lead to something that I would liken to multiple major interstate gateways.

Soon. The only other thing I continue to be aware of is the ratcheting up of planetary catastrophes. I am taking this latter bit of insight with the proverbial grain of salt. As far as I can tell, these are already primed and ready. Initial stages are underway. The better we can turn our fullest attention away from human earthly distractions, the more these signs and early vibrations will come into better clarity. That is my take on all this for now.

-ASK

Re: “Caught in the middle with the pressure on high” Comments

May 28, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1422.msg6028.html#msg6028>

Thank you John for raising so many important points here. I have commented briefly on some of them.

JLMH: “I say this because sometimes I can't take the next step until I share the present step. Why this is so I have no idea.”

ASK: Yes, I too have noticed this over the years. One reason is that it represents a contribution to the spiritual evolutionary process of our collective and individual spiritual true being.

JLMH: “Thus a total fear of losing the body/brain and a clinging to all that is matter, as if more matter means more energy, mind and life.”

ASK: An analogy of the Catch-22 of losing body mass/weight –often there are too many cells of various type and function that accumulate and all clamor to be maintained and replicated. This is an example of the “nature” run amok at the human body level. It is only when higher levels of the personal mind take charge that this situation can be changed. A successful result leads to fewer of those cells clamoring for more. Is this catastrophic to ones being? No. It is only catastrophic at the point of view of those cells which get reabsorbed and digested out of existence.

At a more serious level, I am discussing the problems of matter, Nature, and biology within a distorted reality (mis-creation) in one of the concluding essays “Queen of the Machine”.

JLMH: “So that has to be understood to get to what the next insight is, which is that we are here, right now, as an aspect of spiritual life, so as to use mind and energy to impose a new rhythm/vibration on matter. “

It remains a wish, a dream, an intention, and goal of Creator of All. I know of individuals who have succeeded in bringing a unifying field into their own body, energy fields and at times extending beyond themselves. However this has never been sustained for very long given the innate “hostility” of the surrounding context. This is one reason Mirra and Aurobindo gave for ceasing some of the earlier experiments at bringing down the supramental consciousness to the 3d range of existence. Their stated purpose was the transformation of matter and all that implies and entails.

I do not see any basis for this occurring through the extant human presence and the corresponding level of spiritual intelligence that resides through humans. There is not enough coherency to allow for enough spiritual-energetic capacity among enough of the higher level/soul beings to act at the human or higher levels. This is changing, but it looks as though withdrawal from the 3d human level is required first and foremost.

Once these problems are adequately worked out, then those beings who have learned what is needed will be able again to interact at 3d density levels again. This is nothing that can be placed on any contemporary calendar.

The problem is not with the humans as much as it is the overall problem of certain flaws and error at a cosmic level and locally, how this is expressed or is dysfunctional at the level of the higher level/soul beings that have a human presence. I have attempted to address this in recent posts.

JLMH: “Now the difference between the few of us and the main herd, is that we use mind aligned with spirit/life/consciousness versus the mind aligned with matter as it presently exists. Actually, I think we are here to evolve mind and consciousness so that we learn to become negative to spirit (and so accepting of it and controlled by it) and so positive to matter. That way matter doesn't control us but we control matter. ...Being positive to spirit and negative to matter, it can't create a new vibration and so craves ever more matter and form, and even thinks more and more of the same is somehow going to bring new results.”

ASK: John, would you please explain/expand on this?

JLMH: Yet, here is my insight. I think we are stuck until the larger forces at work here, ... It's basically refusing to take on the new vibration. It wants to remain just the way it is and has always been.”

ASK: Well, the larger forces are in process. But I do not think “we” (meaning spiritualized human self) are “stuck” here. There is a role to play and I have discussed this in various essays, including the most recent posts I have made here. For those who are truly ready, they can initiate a process for leaving –but they cannot look back, they must not have hesitation, for that will interrupt the process and they will need to restart it at some point. Some are done here, complete in their human self and their spiritual work. And some are remaining here to keep an eye on things, to monitor, to continue to exchange deeper and more complete spiritually evolved learning with their greater being. Many have one or more early warning triggers so that they do not tarry in their process.

JLMH: “So at present it is a kind of cosmic stalemate with humanity being held hostage caught in a major battle between spirit and matter. And this means there just isn't much we can do and there just isn't much movement until these higher powers finally work all this out. Which can make life for minds that are aligned with spirit feel frustrated because at this point telling any of this to humanity would be like talking to the wall over here and so you and I can only watch all of this from the sidelines.

Anyway, that is what has come through for the moment. All we can do is wait it out.”

ASK: The battle between the higher Light and the Dark is essentially over here. To my way of looking at things, the battle has not been between spirit and matter, per se. Both spirit and matter can be corrupted –and have been in various ways and spaces.

Earthly 3d and some higher vibrational appearances can be deceptive. Yes, I know there are still various kinds of nasty entities still buzzing around, but for the most part if one has attended to their process of detaching, completions, higher intentions, etc. these things are much less of a problem now than during early times of endless “fighting” against the dark forces.

I have already said enough here and in recent posts as to what active roles there are for the spiritualized human self with regard to its Earthly and higher levels of greater being.

Yes, it is frustrating to be aware and still seemingly “stuck here”.

One of the main risks is depleting or dissipating ones new energies on irrelevant external concerns. This is related to depletion and dissipation in ones greater being as well. This is more than feeling physically or mentally tired, etc.

Meanwhile the totality of their being becomes more coherent, complete and evolved with their active participation. Those who can, may want to arrange their human situation for it to be as favorable as possible for their own completions process and embarkation –and to minimize struggling against the unconscious hostility of other humans and the grating of the social-economic control systems. This may include some spiritually “conscious indulgences” like staying in a remote mountain house, swimming in the ocean, one last immersion into artistic expression, taking private time to be with ones partner, children, grandchildren, etc.

Yes, over the coming months, for those who are expecting to remain here for a little while longer, patience is advised.

-Alex

Postscript:

Please see recent posting:

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1401.msg6027.html#msg6027>

“Caught” but Really Free

May 30, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1422.msg6034.html#msg6034>

This is to add further considerations to the recent posts in this thread of Alby, Pamelinda, and John-LMH and to my previous posts in this and other threads.
-ASK

I will “predict” now, that before the end of the 2013 calendar year, if nothing has substantially changed in terms of the higher spiritual dynamics of our greater selves and human presences, that a great many “spiritualized” humans will be leaving 3d –perhaps to observe or assist from higher levels up, perhaps to leave this sector altogether. And perhaps both (yes!). Some will simply quietly withdraw to their own private “hermitage” and begin their exit process. This is nothing new, it is how things have been done for millennia here. But now there are numerically far more in this state of readiness or near-readiness for embarkation. This would mark the effective withdrawal of 3d presences of the remaining forces of Light. The implications of this I have touched on in various recent essays but leave this to each of you to contemplate.

Pamelinda mentions NDEs’ –but first I wish to emphasize that, of those who had NDE’s, only a small fraction had a “full blown” god-consciousness/”going home” experience and that of those, only a fraction assembled this in any meaningful or “correct” way. A fraction of them went on to become new age scoundrels (so what did they really learn?) and some withdrew quite deliberately. A few used their “direct gnosis” to help the spiritual development of others. A rarified atmosphere, to be sure.

So who or what was it that “informed” some fraction of NDE’ers that they “had to return” –was it their own higher self? Some higher level god-being? A dark force entity posing as a representative of the Light? All of these situations have occurred with NDE’ers and few have been able to discern what exactly was the primary agent of influence. At the outset, sometimes we can only “trust the process”. But eventually we must know what “the process” or agenda is really all about. It is our right. But not all really want to know at some level. And thus the dynamics of “completions” and detachment come into play.

Yes, humans as an intermediary state between the vibrational state of formless consciousness (spirit) and the vibrational states of form (matter). Both emanate from “consciousness” that has no form, no object of its being. The question of course in this realm is the extent to which the insinuation of the Dark has influenced these three expressions of existence.

Also I wish to re-emphasize for new readers that the “spiritual learning” is not about the subjective details of mundane human 3d, rather it is the extent to which ones grasps the essence and lessons of the problems here and how this “learning” (gnosis) can be applied in the higher levels of our being moving toward becoming “participatory creator beings” –as was the original intention in the formation of ensouled holographic seeds of Creator of All –or of those second-tier creator beings. In either case the seed-essence is of the same origin –that of the true Light.

Having had the opportunity to “leave” various times, I am consciously “here” a while longer and as such, continue to refine and deepen my own understanding across a wide range of attentions. Thus the perspectives I developed of many levels existence provide me with a unique range of points-of-view, from the earthly levels to farther reaches beyond.

So, as long as I can tolerate being here (not always easy), I will not trigger the impetus to “leave”. And so I will spend a little more time with painting and contemplation. And appreciate what aesthetic and physical well-being I derive from my explorations in the ocean a little while longer. The water is a gravity-countering medium which lets you glide over and dip down into intricate environments under your own power. Yesterday I spotted my first of beautifully colored nudibranch in what is left of a dying coral reef environment. There should be more of these amazing creatures; alas their absence is one of many indicators of the condition of the marine environment. Yet I have no myopic illusions or delusions about “nature” being some “holier than holy” entity to be mindlessly worshipped by humans who simply do not know any better.

Yes, frustration with the forces of Light is quite understandable. I have published what insights I can about these problems to support the larger process, include to help those spiritualized humans to find some active role for themselves in helping to further the larger transformational process. I have never intended this material to be an excuse for apparent failings or weaknesses of that which we have come to believe is what is True and Real. With true understanding comes strength and patience.

As our awareness expands to include more and more of the higher levels, a different way of being in 3d occurs. It is a type of “quasi-ascension” and it helps provide a measure of additional patience with the process. Initially there may be memories of the higher realms, and then a more direct sense and awareness of this begins to flow. If this nascent connection is first used to send a “blast” of anger or frustration, the fragile channel can close down. Once there is a stronger connection, it becomes easier to make ones complaints and assessments to “upper management”. But be careful, for you might discover that you are already part of the “upper management”!

Are “you” ready for that?

It can be quite overwhelming to the human self. And this is also an impeding factor that I have not cared to discuss until now since the emphasis has necessarily been on “completions” and detachment and separating the particles of true Light from the Dark.

As to having better linguistic descriptors of Creator of All, The All, and pure non-duality space... it is not going to happen.

Those who have experienced some of this –and remained embodied –have shared their own versions of this as best as words make possible. That is all that can be expected. Describing something that defies words is inherently limiting and its filtering/receiving of through human language-based symbols is even more limiting. Thus only distortions can be achieved.

I remember a long walk on a beach years ago with someone who had their own unique experiences of the Vastness, of the Higher Oneness. We talked a little, but mostly the words served to tune us in to each others own experience of “The All” or “The Vastness”. This was shortly before the person passed on. Before they left, they devoted their time to sharing what they could with large groups of people. It was a type of informal “darshan”. This person invited me to attend one of these before the day we took our long walk together. What was interesting was the extent to which so many “spiritual seekers” could not get beyond their implanted/acquired belief systems and linguistically-limited communication based upon these belief systems. Nevertheless, “transmission” of the vibration of “The Vastness” (higher Oneness) took place that day and with some who were present, it permanently took hold with them.

Yes, we are nearing the end –and there are those here and elsewhere who know it. I am referring, of course, to the greater existential concerns, not those obvious things like the collapse of human civilization.

There was a time, many times actually, when I had to consciously decide whether to wake up in the morning or not. Later these became longer intervals until I eventually had annual or semi-annual “contract renewal” negotiation with “my” own “higher up”. Now, there are the little things like what coffee I grind for our morning coffee, what tasty something might I prepare that includes something from our little “garden at the end of the world”. I already know there will come a time when it becomes impossible for me to even take care about these simple things anymore. But for now, I appreciate that I am doing what I am doing. And I do not think about time or the days or months ahead. My future is here and I ,my “future” is beyond “time”.

My awareness and 3d existence is only marginally influence by human-earth “time” –and that is not because I have “retired” and detached from so much of “ordinary” human life. It is because of the expansion effects.

I go through daily “life” always knowing this is not “life”, always knowing that this is not my true self and that I have the use of this bodily vehicle as long as it is appropriate. There was a time initially when this was all an “as if” or virtual experiment. Part of this experiment entailed being conscious of why I was “doing” whatever I was doing at any given instance. Later it took hold more and more until everything changed permanently with possibility of ever reverting to a lower state.

And yes, for a time, it is possible, even useful, to maintain an ordinary life of activities, but to continually simplify and minimize this to what is necessary to your process.

When one is ready, there is a deliberate process of cessation of engaging with nearly anything remaining of human 3d “life” and a simultaneous intimate “identification” with one’s high attractor –however unique that may be internally expressed. Sometimes the process is a very simple and natural one, sometimes it involves substantial conscious modifications to one’s primary energy fields, and usually there needs to be an appropriate environment set-up to facilitate this. As one is preparing for one’s “embarkation”, there is nothing to react to, nothing to desire, all is in order, and one is complete and done. There is that “great peace” which some may refer to as Grace which “descends”. It is often of your own greater being, sometimes that of another. Perhaps both.

-Alex

Additional Comments on “Next Levels Up

April 4, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg5999.html#msg5999>

Vibrational states in “4d” are so very close to the human earthly experience and the human mind, this is one reason it is ideal as an interim transition zone for “mass evacuations” from 3d. For some it will be a welcome holiday from the limitations and travails of 3d earthly existence, and they will be get to enjoy some things they only “dreamed” of doing while in 3d embodiment.

And yet for others, there is no desire to have such a close relationship to 4d vibrational space. Some may come to visit and even to assist in the process in some capacity, but for others may be so very much done with human 3d levels that they have little reason to resemble/reassemble anything of it.

For some, they will tend to accumulate more of the energetic state around 5d, extending into nearby states, some into other levels, some far beyond any limited human nomenclatures.

This is why I use the phrase “next levels up” –in the plural –since it will be a unique thing for each and unique to each based upon their own state of development and requirements as a spiritual being. ...Or more exactly, as a highly conscious individuation of a greater spiritual being.

And there will those who will be contributing in at the higher levels of Creator of All, providing important detailed spiritual and experiential knowledge the greater All That Is.

Again, I wish to remind that none of these states are locked in according to limited human linear notions of “1-2-3 steps”. These states are highly fluid and bear largely upon the relative energetic capacities and extent of expansion across multiple vibrational ranges of existence.

-ASK

This post is appended to

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg5993.html#msg5993>

“Problems of Correction and Ascension” - February 17, 2012

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1374.0.html>

As well as the initial section to the January-March 2013 Update

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1418.msg5997.html#msg5997>

“Notes on Vibrational Levels and Ascension” - Feb-Mar-2100 Update

<http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/Update-Feb-Mar-2011-Complete.pdf>

Earthchanges & The Greater Changes

April 22, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1383.msg6013.html#msg6013>

Several relatively diverse sources have been and are now describing similar projections of forthcoming earthchanges. I wish to summarize these now because there is a substantial shared resemblance among these descriptions and I do not think that these are copying from one another and embellishing a similar storyline.

I am also posting this since a few (not all) of these sources are also placing this in the context of a solution to the problem of spiritual beings requiring “evacuation” from an environment they cannot exit, due to various factors inhibiting their own higher level/soul being to intervene and effect the desired change.

(As an aside, I have touched on this problem in various essays and NES posts, and most recently in concluding A-List Update. I will be adding to this in the forthcoming concluding essays. Furthermore, it is my most recent impression that the overall effect of oceanic inundation will be massive and quite global and that it is linked to the larger changes needed to remove the Dark and evacuate those of the Light to a new level of being.)

The main features in common that are described by these sources are:

- Earthquakes –ongoing over time and growing in magnitude;
- Inundation of land by ocean;
- Timeframe for this new stage in earthchanges to become evident is April-May-June of 2013 and then ongoing for a few years.

A few mention the role of large space objects as well as magnetic field reversals, in stimulating these events and some mention the departure from 3d embodiment of one to two billion human selfs over a relatively short period of a few years.

Also, it is my sense that a concentration of spiritual evacuations from the human physical is looking like September-October of this year, apart from departures directly due to earthchanges.

The following are excerpts from my own waking and dream time visions.

These began for me as best as can I recall, prior to the October 1989 San Francisco bay area earthquake when a facet of my consciousness found itself on a street in San Francisco, shifted in time by three days prior, and observing gas line fires and brickwork and masonry falling from buildings –just as it happened three days later.

-/-

January 1, 2013 – On the day of a “new year”, I found myself in the morning, very high up, looking down and “witnessing” an immense quaking and breaking up of various landforms, especially around the coastal areas. So immense and widespread it was, that there could be no human measurement. When I left one coastal region that was about to be broken up, I asked my higher level as to the specifics of all of this. The response was a clear and immediate response of an immense object, nearly invisible in ordinary light, passing near enough to earth to catalyze these earthquakes throughout the planet.

-/-

Recently (April 2013) the exclamation, “Japan is going into the sea!” was “mentally heard” while I was engaged in some simple quiet activities around home. (Several years ago, I “saw” a major portion (southern it seemed) of Japan breaking up into the ocean.)

-/-

In 2012 we moved to a location that is a roughly 200 feet in elevation and one day I “see” the ocean coming up soaking the carpet in my studio. This was the second time I “saw” an enormous ocean wave affecting the islands.

-/-

Excerpts from other “future views” I have had over the last ten to fifteen years:

High up looking down to see more than half of San Diego submerged. Following this, alerts for new earthquaking obliges masses of people to expand their evacuation/diaspora to the mountains above, including areas above Los Angeles such as Big Bear. Most continued on toward Arizona, some stayed to resettle there. There is some assistance organized by government agencies in the Southern California mountains near the large reservoirs, but it is very limited in what it can do.

-/-

Seattle area devastated by earthquakes. Post-apocalyptic scenes of people searching the ruins for bottled water or whatever else. This was a ground level view of things.

-/-

Details of water inundation seen around the Mendocino California coastal area up to 1500 ft present day elevation and the inundation of valleys inland to Ukiah. This included “seeing” uniformed Chinese military officers looking at possible real estate for themselves.

-/-

Sea floor deformations contributing in a major way to coastal inundation over time. Tides rising, not going back out as it normally does. The oceans sloshing from crustal/axial shifts as well.

-/-

Space and earth views of multiple space objects impact an area of the Pacific ocean at a very low angle that generates a series of tsunamis hundreds of miles in length.

-/-

Space views of crustal slip shift and axial tilt change. The new rotational axis appeared to be closer to northern northwestern Russia. Would happen in stages.

-/-

Massive wave of water inundates a large city in England. The scene was a wide open public square. I am with the consciousness of a woman in a small car. A policewoman offers the woman in a small car a flotation jacket or something like that. She turned her away and calmly waited for the inevitable. There seemed to be insufficient warning for any orderly evacuations.

-/-

Large wave engulfs portions of San Francisco, the water looked to be 150 to 200 feet high. I look around and see the sign for Sutro Place/Sutro Towers.

-/-

Water inundates coastal zones of West Marin (north of San Francisco). The water looks to be 60 to 90 feet in height. The town of Pt Reyes and Inverness are destroyed.

-/-

Future looking shows small communities of survivors have built new settlements from salvaged materials at slightly higher elevations of the surrounding hills of West Marin. One of the settlements is specifically focused on spiritual ascension.

-/-

One unusual scenario, I “saw” whales swimming along what were city streets and the whales were so curious about how the humans lived in these cities. There were also human in small boats on the surface observing these whales.

-/-

I was visiting a community of some of the “last humans”, perhaps in far reaches of NE Canada (?) –the one who was showing me how things were also showed me a calendar with 2036 as a demarcation when the last humans would be leaving and the planet settling down to allow something new to develop in the vibrational range of what we would call today “3d”. Oceanic “sloshing” of vast areas of what is now dry land had continued through to that time. (Note: While I have not had any updates to this, I would speculate it is possible that this outlying date may be obsolete and is now closer to the period of 2017-2019.)

-/-

As I am discussing these matters here, I want to emphasize once again that these are scenarios for this 3d Earth as per this human consensus reality. There are other (multiple) vibrational states of a “new earth” for those whose “embarkation tickets” so indicate. And there are those who will move into a more unified field of spiritual existence with their higher level being. One is not “better” than another and interconnections between these are possible and likely.

There will also be some portion who will remain in human 3d, experiencing the ongoing implications of earthchanges and the end of this civilization.

And with all of this, it is important not to be wishing for or otherwise “desiring” catastrophic destruction, rather simply to be aware that this is what is most likely and that it is part of the overall transformation and ascension process. No reaction. That is all.

-ASK

Follow-up:
“Earthchanges & The Greater Changes”

May 15, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1383.msg6024.html#msg6024>

Previous post to this:

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1383.msg6013.html#msg6013>

As readers know, I have periodically discussed how it is that our “nascent spiritual energies” should not be dissipated on the latest social causes, endless spiritual “window shopping”, or trying “save” everyone (whatever that may mean to anyone). Wanting to save everyone, heal everyone, etc. is usually expressed from the best of intentions, however it is also a manifestation of a mixture of naiveté and arrogance.

When I am more certain of events and likely timing, I will post something at NES, but until then I will not speculate on what, when or where beyond what I have already written.

There are larger forces at work than you and me, or our respective greater beings, etc. The errors and problems associated with the Dark forces have led to a slow motion catastrophe of appalling proportions involving humans on earth –and spanning universes –in the result of problems arising at very high levels in Creation that are now in the final stages of being corrected.

Let us bear this mind and focus on our own higher development and in doing so we are doing a great service for so many who will have an easier time of making the spiritual transition.

Let us also remember that we are not human beings, rather we are spiritual beings with a human presence –and much more.

Preface

The period from now through end of May (and extending to June 20th) is one of apprehension at many levels over what may occur in the 3d Earth plane as well as at the other levels which are closely connected.

I have two main purposes in making the effort to write this now. Partly, it is to continue our process of building up a more complete understanding to the larger situation with those who are at the leading edge of the spiritual changes. But more so, it is that too many want to “know the future” usually meaning “what, when and where”, etc. For those who know they really cannot do much about their own situation and location, there are frequent questions centering around the following: “How much time do I have to really get serious about my spiritual intentions for myself and take the necessary steps to detach myself from all that I have continued to allow myself to be attached to in this world.” Or something converse along the lines of: “For how long can I “enjoy” being hooked on all the superficial addictive stimuli of this false reality?”

One can contrast such notions with: “What if you were diagnosed with a terminal illness by a number of experts who gave you only one year to live?” Why wait to attend to what is most important? And thus, what if planetary cataclysms do not happen in some near future time frame?

How does any of this change your state of spiritual learning from this realm and accordingly, what is your intention for your being in 3d and what is your intention with regard to your own higher level of being/higher self/soul being? See?

Whatever may or may not occur, consider what is of greatest importance to one’s deeper or higher spiritual learning and how this permeates through ones higher level being as well as ones human self. Whatever may or may not occur in the 3d external environment, do not consider it “the last word” as to the disposition of human 3d earthly reality. And none of this can be regarded in any meaningful way from the point of view of “human self”, only from your higher level of being, your most immediate “home”.

Is 2013 “the year” for catastrophic changes to begin manifesting with 3d Earth and humans? I believe this to be the case. There are the effects of catastrophes which oblige many to leave their 3d earthly vessels and then there is the question of how many will be leaving 3d due to a conscious ascension process?

Overview

“Mass mind science” is distracting and misleading in discussing global warming versus cooling or “climate change” in general, but this is all nonsense as “climate” is only one facet of much larger changes underway.

So called “alternative thinking” is also a facet of “mass mind”. Those who are not tied up reacting to social-political concerns, are busy discussing things such as asteroids and comets, earthchanges and “prepping”, etc. One example is the “global coastal event” (GCE) concept which has been publicized by a few highly self-promoting sources including two “professional” groups of “remote viewers” and the HalfPastHuman web forecasts which has promoted the GCE as a descriptive term. An enormous proliferation of titillating, speculative articles as well as Internet and broadcast “radio” has been promoting these topics, and they have done so with very little depth of information from any source. Like a small amount of yeast that has been fed, it replicates more of itself –and so it keeps growing and wild speculations run amok. As this happens humans tend to mistake the illusion of quantity with the substance of quality to such predictions.

The few remote viewers who support near-term predictions of space object/oceanic-coastal disasters have very little to substantiate their interpretations. When it comes to predicting anything of any major importance in terms of what, when and/or where, HalfPastHuman (“webbots”) predictions have a very poor track record, beyond a few financial events. Only upon hindsight has there been evidence that the Internet web-crawling system has detected possible advance indicators of major events.

With these disclaimers, I have been tracking prediction and “precognition” of global catastrophic events for over twenty years from many sources, including a small number of psychically developed “intuitives”.

-/-

At this point a unifying pattern seems to be emerging concerning something immense and imminent. Dreams and visions and intuitive “knowings” are gravitating around picture of some very major events that seems to be developing a type of coherency. In addition, preparations have been underway in the spiritual “levels up” to handle an enormous influx of formerly embodied human selfs. And then there is the erratic behavior of the powers-that-be and their high-profile minions.

And so with all this, I too am anticipating some major events for which I do not have any good dates. However, it is not dates, per se, that are important, it is the awareness of pre-cursor indicators for these large events that permit one to ride these waves or to rise above them.

As I summarized in the posting previous to this, my sense is that major earth change events will initially manifest as earthquakes and immense oceanic disturbances. At some point, there will be awareness of the contributing role of distant large space objects and there may be some dramatic Earth impact events as well. Solar related effects are connected as well with catastrophic magnetic or plasma disturbances. These events will most likely unfold over these coming months to few years and will likely grow over time in their peak effects.

-/-

And what if certain expected indicator events do not manifest in 3d earth reality by the end of May or by June 20th?

It would be simplistic and foolish to presume that no catastrophes will be occurring and that human world will operating “as usual”, all the way into an abyss.

A contrary line of questioning might ask if, over the recent ten years, we all been a target of one of the greatest campaigns of misdirection or deception since the advent of the world religions?

While there is ample misdirection and disinformation concerning these and other major events, over the recent ten years too many have described many facets of global scale cataclysms directly from their own unique point-of perspective –all elements of a common scenario.

For whatever it is worth, I do not think that majority of visions and dreams of major earth changes by so many people with well-developed psychic-intuitive abilities are the result of deception. I am not including in this category the overwhelming majority of channellers, most of who are duplicitous agents of misdirection and disinformation.

Furthermore, my own first consideration in response to such “null-hypothesis” questions is that more, all-encompassing events are more likely occur. They would preempt prolonged suffering most likely to be experienced over the years of intensifying catastrophes in the human social and planetary environment.

To those who might still wonder if “it is Creator’s plan”, etc., (to prolong suffering for purposes of “learning”) I must again counter by first asking: if the higher level/soul beings have not learned enough from human suffering by now, what is to be gained by prolonging the situation of higher levels beings with human presences in a reality as corrupted and decrepit as this? And then there is the attendant risk of spiritual nihilism emerging among future humans that fosters a variation of spiritual dark forces. (This latter topic I have touched on in various essays, including those on “human sovereignty”.)

-/-

I wish to emphasize, that to those who are spiritually aware and understand enough of the falseness of this reality, the “schedule” and details of “end-time” events should not be of great concern for spiritualized humans on a conscious “ascension track”. Sooner or later...

Regardless of any expectations or speculations leading up to “December 2012”, one could regard it as having been a “test run”, a “virtual reality” practice at the possibility of catastrophic 3d material and consciousness change. While there was a great amount of “meme pressure” behind it, it was mostly about a wide range of incoherent and external projections that easily tied in with the inculcated passivity of the human self that has been programmed to wait for something external. At best it might have been an artificial signpost to mark a new stage of more extreme spiritual changes.

To whatever extent that there was anything “real” behind the 2012 notions of spiritual or material change, they were flawed from the beginning. Such a flaw very much resembles the flaw in creation that led to excessive tendencies toward dissipation and separation by most higher level/soul beings in their evolutionary path in conjunction with the Dark or the fallen realm they were entering in to explore.

Concerning December 2012, too few human selfs were ready for a change of consciousness –or state of being –and passively waited for an eclectic and vague hodgepodge of “miraculous” rescue, ascension, rapture, etc. The overall result was spiritually incoherent and corresponded to a similar disorder at the soul/higher being levels. This helped trigger a new “Plan A” with the higher realms.

I suppose one good thing came of it, it eliminated what little “credibility” many channellers and their “lofty sources” may have had!

-/-

A first step in understanding this through the human mind is to cease all foolishly limited “binary thinking” in which that everything must be either one thing or another, or the ridiculous preoccupation with dates in which everyone fixates upon first one date, then another, in anticipation of one singular event.

As a concept, “GCE” is a misnomer since it is not about one single event. It is a complex pattern of atmospheric changes, submarine crustal deformations, terrestrial earthquakes, volcanism, space radiations, influence of space objects, and more.

Top-Down Perspective

A high level or top down perspective is preferred now, rather than attempting to build a composite from eclectic “ground up” phenomena.

The “higher realms” have the capacity to advance or retard various processes that are underway. Introducing new ones at a planetary or solar scale requires much advance preparation (not “blink of the eye” type of stuff). This helps to understand how so many psychically “sensitive” individuals have detected snippets of major planetary changes that have been prepared for these times and can therefore be anticipated by those with higher abilities. And also why so many of these anticipated events have not occurred –yet. Over time, these notions circulate and lodge in the layers of consciousness that are closest to 3d mind. Add to this mix, deliberate misdirection and disinformation from human sources and from non-human sources, and speculations can get a bit “wild”.

And there are other “preparations in advance” which have not been detected by spiritually aware humans or the dark forces. Enough said.

-/-

Regardless of any of this, one thing which has become evident to me is that a significant fraction of human selfs are now more aware of the deeper falseness of human civilization. Hopefully, more of those who are so spiritualized will learn even more what they need to about the true nature this “reality matrix”.

Those who are more spiritualized have begun gravitating toward accepting, even welcoming, planetary scale catastrophe to resolve a situation on Earth that is unacceptable and becoming more appalling every day to more and more human selfs. Significantly, this represents something of a unifying field of consciousness connected various vibrational levels, human 3d and higher, favoring massively scale solutions to problems of corrupted consciousness and material existence involving human and this planet itself as well as solutions to related problems at the higher levels.

-/-

Coinciding with this, there seems to be a regulating system set-up that is based upon changes at the human 3d level and capacities at the levels up to handle a large influx from the ascension process. Near real time feedback and adjustments are occurring in a complex layering of events that are focused around a larger change of state to spiritual consciousness and existence. Whether an anticipated cascade of events plays out to its fullest possible extent and the time frame of the limited perception time by humans, is largely dependent upon the capacities of those most involved in facilitating the changes and the capacities for those most “in the thick of things” who “become the change”. Think about this.

To be more specific, two main categories at the 3d level in this “feedback” process concerns 1. those spiritual selfs who are relatively complete enough and ready to “head home” and 2. monitoring the extent to which human selfs become spiritualized as the illusions and delusions of the human reality matrix fall away. This latter category also includes human selfs who may not have any spiritual inclination but who surrender and open to higher spiritual consciousness during catastrophic crisis.

The monitoring process also includes the capacity of those who are from the higher realms who will be working with those shifting into the next levels up.

I tend to generalize in referring to “next levels up” since this process is largely focused on changes from 3d to 4d and 5d vibrational ranges. The process also requires changes among and within the higher level/soul beings that have human presences. Overall, the entire process addresses the human 3d self as well as its greater levels of being.

-/-

As I mentioned in the concluding update, some human selfs (and their higher levels too) will be observing human 3d earth from a higher level point of view. Their new vantage point will accelerate much needed learning for spiritual growth and evolution –learning that generally could not be obtained at the human 3d level.

Obviously this has been a simple overview of a complex and important process that has been carefully prepared. It will not be fully “field tested” until the next major catastrophe, one much larger and more encompassing than the 2004 December earthquakes and tsunamis. While that event involved hundreds of thousands, what is in consideration now would involve much larger numbers of humans.

As the overall capacity grows at the levels up, feedback on situation in the 3d level will play an important role in the pace and intensity of the changes. This is one reason that indicates a period of time of increasing frequency and magnitude of various catastrophic phenomena. It is my sense that this period could be as short as a few to several years from a 3d earth-side point of view.

-/-

Consciousnesses that transcend ordinary 3d Earthly time are able to see these things as events and potentialities. Like a series of high level programs or action scenarios which have been already been sufficiently worked out, these potentialities move into actualities once certain “failsafes” are reached or “agreements” occur.

Thus these would have required the involvement of enough of a “continuum of consciousness” that connects human 3d level of selfs, the higher level beings they are associated with, and higher realms which are responsible for facilitating the greater process. Naturally, not all are in 100% agreement at all levels, horizontally or vertically, but enough are to influence a cascade of events –in my opinion. Everything is being continually adjusted/updated in near real time. This makes fixating on dates nearly pointless.

Indicators and Events

Concerning the anticipated events for 2013 and onward, I am keeping a close watch on space science reports, meteorological anomalies, unusual ocean events, and comparing notes with others’ “inner awareness” to better gauge how all this is shaping up.

My general sense is the next stage of the greater change is just beginning to appear and will lead to larger events throughout this year. To me, this implies that changes in 3d will be ongoing over a period of a few years at least and it is during this time that the larger spiritual changes with humans will be occurring.

What these changes may look like as they occur has already been discussed in many ways over the recent years through these the Global Awakening News and the A-List Updates. Recent posts at the NES forums also summarizing some of the main features.

When I am more certain of events and likely timing, I will post something at NES, but until then I will not speculate on what, when or where beyond what I have already written.

For nearly ten years through present, I have watched the development of variations to predicted “global coastal events”. It has been my sense that anomalous and extreme tidal effects occurring will most likely be related to deformations of the sea floor. This results in gradual dramatic changes to coastal sea levels, including tsunamis and enormous storm-driven waves. In geology, there is a school of thought generally referred to as “catastrophism” that maintains some geological processes can occur very quickly, including the raising and the lowering of land masses. Any number of influences could trigger such changes in the Earth, including solar effects and those of large passing space objects. Larger scale earthquakes will affect many areas, include those inland. Dams break, lakes drain, and rivers flood or change direction. In some areas, underground water tables may shift, covering areas of subsidence. There is ample basis in geological knowledge showing enormous and rapid changes in land elevations have occurred in ancient times. Major and rapid changes in the planetary magnetic field could be early signs of physical crustal/axial shifts. It is not likely that a major crustal slip/spin axis shift will be known in advance in the way that magnetic field reversals are monitored.

Nevertheless, the implications will be “very interesting” if certain anticipated events do not manifest in 3d in the time frame expected.

-ASK

Timing of the Changes & Some Whys and Wherefores

May 26, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1401.msg6027.html#msg6027>

This supplements the May 15 essay, “Follow-up to “Earthchanges & the Greater Changes””, especially concerning the process and flow of events.

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1383.msg6024.html#msg6024>

As I write this it feels as if it is with hindsight. Of course the human logical “monkey mind” may get confused as it thinks “it hasn’t happened yet”. If this too is puzzling, perhaps I will be able to explain it someday. This is written in a summary “point-style” that lends itself to a certain type of simplified clarity.

Main points:

We are approaching a most intense bifurcation. On the one hand there is the abyss of the sum of all fears and on the other hand there is the freedom of your spiritual essence.

The ascension and transformational process is not centered around 3d humans, this Earth, or the 3d level of consciousness. It never has been. (*)

Naturally, it is not surprising for human level awareness to consider and assess everything from a human-centric point of view. And then there is always the “department of ascended masters” to reinforce this, mislead and misdirect.

The greater process of a “cosmic correction” has been underway for a very long time to rectify an error or flaw in the creation process that provided the impetus for an anti-creation force to develop, that which we refer to simply as the “Dark” and which includes various constituent malcreations and agencies of control.

The transformation and ascension process we have been mostly concerned with is focused on the larger level beings/soul beings that have a presence in 3d, mostly through human form and a human self. In most cases their human self is unaware of true Reality and stumbles on, personally and collectively maintaining separation from its true nature as an aspect of a larger spiritual being.

These beings we refer to were created to grow and evolve as potential creator beings and other expressions of the Divine. This process also required them to learn as much as possible about creation, about creating, and about “being”.

This, your greater self, is the closest “localized” version of your divine cosmic “Home”.

By way of simple “press pot” analogy, those beings –at their human level and/or higher levels –that persist in their attachment to a false reality will eventually become concentrated in the bottom of the coffee press pot.

We are discussing here the greater self as a totality, and for too many greater selves there are serious problems requiring the intervention of the “corrections energies” emanating from Creator of All. Some of these problems originate with the “garbage in-garbage out” effect from too many human lifetimes from which too little is learned of spiritual value and too much contamination from Dark influences accumulates.

It is as if too many stopped at a virtual reality arcade and never left –due to various factors.

Overall the problems stem from flaws in the creation process, including a built-in tendency toward dissipation and separation in exploring creation. These are reflected or imbedded at a smaller scale in the higher level/soul beings and become a very serious problem when these beings engage with a reality system that is based upon duality-conflict and parasitism and predation.

(*) Now, insofar as it is part of a larger level/soul being, the human self is very much part of this process. So there you have it.

I would also suggest that there are some risks to ones spiritualized self by remaining in this 3d Earth matrix world for too long –and by extended connection, risks apply to ones greater level of being as well. While I will not suggest any time frame for this as it varies with each individual entity, I will suggest that the problem of spiritual dissipation at ones higher levels has its counterpart in its human level in Earthly 3d. Earthly “time” is not forever. Tempus fugit.

The spiritualized human self has an active role to play in this whole process. This is contrary to all those who would relegate the human to a passive, wait-for-rescue role. More so, a portion of spiritualized humans selves have potential to form an important center of consciousness for their greater level of being and perhaps even to be a seed for a new type of spiritual consciousness.

First and foremost is to attend to your inner and outer completions, detachment from the human prison matrix, and connecting with your high attractor.

Connect with the corrections energies and have it circulate in, around, and through your field.

As you circulate a unified field of energy in and around your human level of being, you can also stimulate a similar unifying flow circulating in and around your greater level of being –and vice versa. Like the action at a distance of two dynamic energy fields, your totality of your being can resonate with the unified and unifying field of the Creator of All, the fields of non-duality and higher Oneness of The All.

Additional considerations of the transformation and ascension process concerns the extent to which those human selfs who are not spiritualized choose to surrender to the higher levels of Divine, and in so doing will become spiritualized with an expanded consciousness. This will occur more as human civilization disintegrates due to myriad factors –internal to the nature of the totality of human society –and external in terms of the physical environment from space and planetary influences. How is this? As more of the illusions and falsehoods of human 3d material reality and consciousness are stripped away, then there is less to attach oneself to in 3d material reality. Surrendering to the higher Light activates higher light circuits, even if they are in a dormant state or approaching inertness. It is in those moments of catastrophic crisis that the human self can suddenly surrender to the Divine, no matter what ones beliefs may have been. This has been discussed in previous essays on the “return of the light” and the “high absolution”.

The transformational process is freeing the Light from the embrace of the Dark and is helping higher level beings with human presences to recover themselves, collect their energies, and embark on an appropriate path for their growth and evolution.

Now that the corrections process has taken hold with a sufficient portion of humans selfs and with those greater beings with human presences, a more focused and comprehensive process of transformation is moving ahead.

Outwardly, there is an increase in the frequency, duration, and overall impact of changes in the planetary environment. These further hasten the breakdown of human civilization and a false reality. As this occurs, do not become fixated or hypnotized by appearances. Why would anyone deliberately choose to fixate on the “sum of all fears”? To do so is catastrophic.

Are you still enthralled by false notions of “nature” on this Earth? This planet has been like an experimental storehouse that concentrated all manner of material creation and mis-creation into 3d forms. Dark forces gained access and essentially took over and presently it is not a place for true spiritual beings to be in any form of ongoing residence, only to visit, learn, and then to move on.

One of the problems in bringing this process into a state of functionality and progressive development was that it had to include human as well as other levels of larger beings. One might say that this adds new meaning to the expression “pull yourself together!” Here it applies to a complex human level of being as well as an even more complex greater level being. And it had to do this even though there was little willingness with any of the parties concerned to take an active role in “getting their act together”.

The timing of all this –in human terms of remarkable or dramatic events –is largely influenced by a complex feedback process that includes special attention to the rate of change and state of the earthly human spiritual self and to the rate of change and state of the totality of the greater level/soul beings.

There are no future dates to record in ones day planner, no clever numerological symbols to mindlessly be enthralled under. There never have been.

Consider this carefully as in knowing this, it is possible to see how powerful ones true knowing can be to ones greater being and in turn to influence more of the totality of all those being and their human presences. This influence acts from above and from below.

As the process takes hold and results are achieved, then the process will increase in its intensity and duration. Plateaus or periods of pause and consolidation will adjust accordingly.

As the primary directives are achieved, the pressure of the “press pot” will increase further, helping separating out the liquid elixir from that of the dross and corrupted substance. Eventually the process will have reached its optimum and further pressure will not make any difference.

...And before then, there are already those zones of transition at the higher levels up and even the formation of a new creation.

-ASK

PostScript:

If someone wanted to have a sense of a general time frame, I refer them to my earlier post on large scale changes, etc.

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1383.msg6013.html#msg6013>

Already there is a one to two generational “gap” between those who have “been around the block” on the “new age” spiritual merry-go-round and those who are just getting “curious”. So in some ways, the nearly century-old new age falsehoods and misdirection are being recycled by younger audiences who acquired an ability to read more than quick text messages and who can retain more than a hundred words at a time. I say this in all seriousness. The lack of discernment was always a problem in the various “new age” related spiritual milieu where everything was “equally okay” and real discernment actively discouraged.

Nowadays, thanks to social control institutions, pervasive EM radiation, degraded foods, widespread use of psycho-pharmaceuticals, and Internet based social networking, fewer and fewer humans have the capacity to interact with discernment and or to handle complex ideas. In other words, the human mental faculties are degrading from an already degraded state. Consider the implications for the remaining human population.

And here are a few items related to the above discussion:

Waking Up

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1385.msg5854.html#msg5854>

Ascension Upsets

\*http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1401.msg5952.html#msg5952

“Prime Directives”:

“...there has been at least two high level “prime directives”: One is to extricate the most of the true Light from this realm (separation of the “mayonnaise”) from the fallen or Dark zone. The other is to maximize the spiritual learning of the potentials and problems of lower levels of density, including that which has been learned under the influence of the dark.

To accomplish these directives also requires the liberation of as many evolving spiritual selves in a manner that maintains their individuation so they can be reintegrated with their own respective greater beings. This includes of course a portion of those light beings with embodied human presences on earth.”

///end

Additional Postscript:

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1422.msg6030.html#msg6030>

Anamnesis, tipping points become a clear and present high attractor. Imminence. Yes. And you express this all so eloquently.

One of the larger changes now is that some fraction of our greater level selves and corresponding human level selves have been caught up by the “correction energies”. This is good thing. In human time, it always seemed to be more a problem of human self trying to get help in manner from ones greater self. As much as it stimulated some toward spiritual evolution, it also reinforced separation. Now this is begin bridged with a more unified field. Yes, far too many spiritualized humans find they are still too alone. I have offered in recent essays here some explanation. Explanation can help with patience and the larger process and encourage new ways for human self to have a more active role in the process.

-/-

“High attractor” need not be an object of ones consciousness, rather can be simply a focused powerful intention such as “true Home” or “spiritual Home”. It is the tendency of the human mind to externalize or “objectize” concepts. Here is a case where it is not necessary.

-/-

Our greater level being/soul being is the primary focus of the correction energies here and now –and this includes by definition “you”, human self. This has been a long time developing and is now arriving.

-/-

This partial ascension can occur (and is occurring) while still humanly embodied. Once a certain point is reached, it is supposed to be easier to make the request. “Click ones heels” and go “home”.

-/-

Yes, anamnesis is one of the markers of the ascension process. This comes mainly from the collective memories of our greater being and awareness of enough of this by the human self. It most likely not involve mere distractions of alleged past life stuff. More likely it will be a sudden and expanding illumination of awareness as to ones true nature as a spiritual being, far beyond any human notions.

Anamnesis is one facet of what I have likened to a near death experience that continues to grow and expand.

There is another facet to this, and that is a reticence to accept or acknowledge ones true nature and potential. This problem exist at the human level and the higher self/greater being level.

As soon as the human self is connected to the higher spiritual dimensions through dramatic OBE or NDE experiences, clairsentience, etc. the power of this experience of awe and knowing is often compelling enough for the human self to make the choice not to return to its bodily vessel. Most spiritualized human selfs are prevented from completely severing their human 3d connection by various residual attachments to familiar human existence.

-/-

This is most likely what those at the farther reaches of the “base camps” will be finding. If you are at the upper reaches of a mountaineering expedition, there is not another base camp above you to help out. Not when you are at the uppermost outpost. And with several elevation levels of base camps, there are fewer and fewer who make it to the next level. At each level there are those who need to rest and wait and those who are ready to press on.

Until now, pressing on has not been advisable due to problems along the final stretch of the line. Once past that, it is more like a multi-lane superhighway. It is this final segment that is being completed now that more of our complete being is coming onboard or online, etc.

The “distance to travel” the final stretch appears short, but it is still a risky thing, except for the designated advance scouts/guides.

While there has been protracted (and frustrating) process of waiting out the “foul weather” on the mountainside for the final stretch to “home”, efforts have been underway to make the final leg a bit shorter to traverse.

I would liken this to being stuck in a train out of sight of the station but unbeknownst, efforts are underway to move the station closer to the train. Make any sense?

-/-

I cannot even guess what portion of spiritualized humans will choose embarkation from 3d earthly existence when the overture or opening is made to them. Perhaps it will be a lyrical voice that quietly informs human you that “it is time” and asks whether you are ready. Perhaps something more overt. It will be unique to each.

Meanwhile, the spiritualized human self has an active role to play and our higher levels of being are more inclined and compelled to pay attention more so now than before.

Spiritual learning that contributes to one greater being may well have nothing at all to do with anything of human affairs –and I would say most likely does not.

It is all about the deeper essence of what has been learned while trapped or visiting here (depending on point of view).

-/-

Yes it is a “stunning miracle” that we have made it this far and with so much attained in terms of a greater knowing.

-Alex

The “Eschaton” & Point-of-View

April 25, 2013 – completed May 9, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1401.msg6021.html#msg6021>

Note: Readers are encouraged to consider a companion essay, “Questions before Embarkation” – link:

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1161.msg6020.html#msg6020>

This is to share some of my impressions of the larger changes that are affecting our human selfs and the levels up from here –and to discuss what seems to me to be the present course of “Plan A”.

The larger transformation process continues to be better defined and closes in on its own “completions” aimed at restoring that of the true Light, bringing forth the most of spiritually evolved learning for all levels of being, and in removing the Darkness.

There is an ongoing and ever-evolving assessment from which flows decisions for a “Plan A”, and alternate “Plan B”, etc. and in accordance with this, a particular vector, which can be seen to span multiple points in space-time.

To borrow a phrase, it is all “relative”. Relative to what? Relative to the refinement of understanding and the level of tolerance for the situation as a whole, and for those beings most affected in a discrete space-time such as human presences on this Earth, the level of detailed understanding becomes ever refined. So in that way there is a type of spiritually evolutionary progress underway. And that is what it is all about: greater levels of learning by our greater being.

It is in this larger meta-context that we are aware of and experience the problems of the Dark forces, the corruption of Creation templates in this fallen part of creation, and our own state of spiritual consciousness at our human level self and closely linked higher level.

It is in this sub-context that our own higher level/soul beings can learn and decide –actively (or passively by default) –what is next for the totality that constitutes our greater Self.

...And it is in this context that our human level Self can and must play an active role in the process. This is partly why I have placed such an emphasis on internal self-diagnostics, self-guidance, becoming ones higher level self, and of course attending to ones completions process and high attractor.

As it is in a “bell curve distribution” of any population, the capacity and will to accomplish this is not the same for a given population of entities. The curve distribution is generally skewed with the largest bulge to the left of the central tendency. In other words it is a small fraction of the overall population of light beings with a human presence who have “pulled themselves together” enough to achieve this capacity. As readers here know from their own practice, this has been like a proverbial “uphill battle”. Yet despite great obstacles a small yet significant fraction is achieving a conscious awakening and a conscious ascension.

Those who do not become spiritually awake will be carried along by the process as it unfolds. There is “no fault”, no demerits, no failure. After all, the odds have been stacked against achieving much of anything. I wish to remind here that a small fraction of several billion is a very large group, compared to a small fraction of a tiny primitive population.

But this is not a matter of numbers, rather it is one of the overall quality of the depth and breadth of the learning –and that in turn becomes available to all concerned at whatever levels where they have the capacity, whenever they are ready to pay attention.

Through these pages I have been writing for those who have self-selected themselves to be a part of this small fraction who are at the leading edge of a most profound wave of change in Reality and Existence.

It is now “high time” to position oneself in terms of how to ride this wave.

Of those who are most aware of the larger patterns, I am noticing a tendency now toward closely similar perspectives by several individuals –all of whom have been considering how the situation of spiritual humans on Earth is to be resolved.

This reflects an improved spiritual understanding at many levels of the larger situation here. I liken it to the aperture or iris of a lens closing gradually, and in so doing, what is being observed and what is being “projected” to the interior of the camera comes more into focus, as does the edges of the aperture.

- Those spiritualized selves who are on an “ascension track”, especially those focused on their process of “completion” and “high attractor”, will likely be exiting their human presence as painlessly as possible, however this occurs for them. It is my expectation that “Grace” will be involved as much as possible in this process, especially if invoked through the “correction energies” and in the name of the higher Oneness of Creator of All. A portion will maintain some position at the “next levels up” to observe ongoing human-Earth level interactions and events. Some will be in a position to help –in guiding those from 3d or by assisting “new arrivals” to next levels up. It is no accident that this parallels the familiar set-up in which one’s own higher level or soul being is observing human level experiences through the filters of their human self’s presence. Thus it is unique to each and embraces the qualities and quantity of each human self's breadth and depth of information and knowledge, capacity for interpretive analysis, and emotional and sensorial experiences. For any number of quite understandable reasons, it is more than likely that the human vehicle would end its existence as its spiritual consciousness "ascends" to its closest "home port". If a shut down of their human vehicles does not occur as part of this process, then there would have to be a well coordinated "walk-in" process for well-trained beings of the true Light –and if not, there will be a growing number of "empty human vessels" available to be occupied by whatever consciousness gained access. And in that case, it would come under my category of "spiritually irresponsible" on the part of higher level beings.

- Those selfs who remain in the Earth realm will continue acting and reacting as their overall social and physical environment undergoes large changes. In response to growing personal and collective catastrophe, it is anticipated that many will eventually surrender their human self-centeredness to their higher level being and/or the higher Oneness. In so doing, they will be open to spiritual consciousness and an expanded consciousness of the ascension/transformation process.
- Those who do not or cannot, for whatever reason, will eventually will be aided in reconnecting to their spiritual being as they leave their bodies due to ordinary bio-entropy or catastrophe.
- Lastly, those who are animalistic and not spiritual beings or who are vehicles for the Dark, will be taken into the larger planetary clearing and renewal processes and many will simply cease to be.

One of the effects of the first scenario will be to help situate a more complete spiritual evolutionary learning at one's own higher level being. They/we will see and learn firsthand what has been inappropriate in the human-earth pattern repetition over many lifetimes and consider alternative ways to learn and explore density. As it becomes understood and integrated the learning from this can be widely shared across the higher planes.

Much of what has been a sticking point or log-jam in the larger transformational process has been associated with the overall consciousness and state of being of the higher level/soul being that has maintaining a human presence on Earth.

Deriving from the problem of dissipation and separation within the higher level/soul beings, there is a comparable problem in human 3d. This is one of the reason I have advised against throwing away or dissipating ones hard-won nascent spiritual energies by engaging in endless "mall shopping" of spiritual gimmickry or in throwing oneself into one social cause or another. This dissipation of the nascent spiritual energies is not a minor problem that, in my opinion, endangers ones spiritual evolution as well as the spiritual evolution of ones higher level/soul being.

The unawakened and non-spiritualized human self cannot be held accountable for the failings of their higher level being or for errors and flaws in the larger creation process. That does not mean that depraved human behavior is acceptable, it is decidedly not and will not be allowed to leak into the next levels up. It stops here in 3d.

For those human selves who are mostly focused on “survival” or restoring or “remodeling” human civilization –or any of the deceptive, banal, or naïve notions floating around the human meme-sphere –to them, concerns such as spiritual ontology, eschatology, and “ascension” are mere intellectual abstractions with no relevance in what they believe to be the “real world”.

No matter, whatever one’s beliefs may be, however banal and naïve, at a moment of extreme personal catastrophe, there continues to be the possibility of surrendering to the higher levels of spiritual existence, of the higher Light.

-/-

There is no “point of view of the masses”, just like there is no “average person on the street”. There never has been. Neither is there any “leading edge” to the mass mind.

There is, however, an overall or central tendency of collective human consciousness (mass mind), one that has fundamentally not changed over thousands of years, only shifting slightly in response to social and physical environmental stimuli.

Major social control memes do shift over generations as new programming adaptations are needed to provide the population with suitable modifications and variations to their implanted “points of view” –and more importantly, to the social control “belief systems”. These adaptations are a combination of “insertions” from non-human levels as well as “natural” evolutionary adaptations from within the human level. This is one facet of how the human “inmates” are tricked into maintaining their own state of imprisonment, occasionally doing a little redecorating or building a new wing to the prison and regarding it as an improvement to their lives.

Even if there is a some “apparent” effort to “remodel” part of the earthly prison realm, it is still within the greater control parameters of a larger containing prison system –and the larger paradigm of conflictual duality of the Dark.

Yes, just like with any mundane human prison system, on rare occasions, some remarkably creative expression can emerge, usually from “apparent” humans who are more than likely an “insert” from a higher realm of intelligence, and less likely a “native born” expression arising from within the human realm. This in turn can inspire” other humans to borrow, emulate, and make their own variations on the original novelty that was introduced. But it does not in any way justify or rationalize the state of the human 3d consciousness and the social fabric of “civilization”.

So this is one way of looking at the human level of awareness.

I have written about this many times before, in various contexts. In general, from a human point-of-view, anything sounding like the “end of civilization” is not considered “good news”, unless one is well established in a rural area, well away from any population centers.

In my assessment, “prepping to survive” is worse than foolish naïvete. At best, emergency preparations for major events that extend beyond localized disasters can at best bring someone days or a few weeks of “breathing time” to consider the overall epistemology and what could be beyond ordinary human self or tribal-social centered existence.

Naturally, there will be those who will seek to rebuild “civilization” and materialistic-based existence. They will fight anyone for their imagined “right” to destroy in order to “survive” and rarely question what they are doing or what they are really about. If new readers are puzzled by this statement, they are encouraged to read “Making Things” – Ways of the New Creation”, December 2009, <http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/Making%20Things-New%20Creation.pdf>.

To recapitulate some of the points here, there are those who will be consciously leaving 3d in the coming months. “Mass evacuations” of human level selves are very likely to increase over the coming months and few years, largely due to changes in the planetary environment as the consciousness of the self becomes permanently detached from its bodily vehicle through mass die-offs. A large portion of humans will remain embodied and they and their higher levels of being will experience most directly the inevitable outcomes and resolutions to the Dark side paradigm of conflictual polarity, predation, and parasitism in the human realm. Eventually the planetary bio-sphere and edifices of human civilization will be swept clear and the planet will be prepare for a new mission for Itself.

Some highly evolved/quasi-ascended ones will voluntarily maintain some type of presence in 3d as long as it possible and appropriate to them as they assist in the larger changes.

-ASK

Questions before Embarkation:

May 6, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg6020.html#msg6020>

Over recent weeks I have posed some simple questions to a few individuals for them to answer for themselves, for their higher level of being, (or between them and Creator if preferred). I have specifically raised these questions over the last few years in various contexts, and it bears revisiting now.

Consider a few things that your own highest level of being, as well as “Creator”, would like to know:

What is your decision concerning yourself in 3d? ...What are your recommendations to the “higher realms”, what perhaps, is your “vote” concerning humanity? You are, after all, involved in an Earthly existence with the advantage of a ground-level view and front-row seats!

And so what have you decided for yourself? Are you ready (or as ready as you can be at present) for whatever it is you have decided? Really? (You must be quite certain, you know.) For those focused upon transcending and/or ascending the realm of “3d”, “one-percent of hesitation” can suspend the process –as it is presently configured. Likewise it does no good to only be dismayed by how things are here. Harboring such feelings is quite understandable but is not the issue, per se.

One very important issue or problem is whether you embark here through repulsion of all that is “un-right”, or in favor of your higher light or high attractor.

Imagine, a spherical or curved space represents all directions to a 3d consciousness. Which part of the curved space will you be pushing away from and in which direction? A shift from one point to another and pushing away again, you can see that each time it is a new directional vector. Add another and you are all over the place. However, if you have a higher attractor that is apart from or at a higher plane from this 3d space, and a clear line of sight, then you have that as your initial point for a reasonably direct vector for movement.

Among spiritualized human selfs focused upon shifting upwards from their 3d level of being, the situation closely mimics one that we ascribe to the general realm of our higher level/soul beings during the latter part of 2009, in which there is too little or no movement or a lack of capacity to move into a new state of being. At all levels concerned there is a type of “somnambulistic passivity” –at the human 3d and the higher levels –each waiting for “Creator” or its “agents” to “fix things”. Ultimately to effect an “ascension” out of 3d into a higher level of being – or to descend enough of the higher levels into 3d to effect “miraculous” transformations of an appalling situation in the 3d realm.

While the reality systems we are operating in are truly beyond complex, it is all quite simple in many ways.

This is not and cannot be a mere “intellectual exercise”, yet our minds, our intellects are essential to our own process that leads to a greater “Knowing”.

This “Knowing” is done here in a state of detachment and equanimity necessary to the next step of beginning ones withdrawal from 3d. One can still regard this existence, this realm, with various degrees of personal repulsion or attraction, but there is no room for reactivity. Reaction towards or away from this realm detracts from one “high attractor”. Like having a line of sight to a distant star, ones high attractor provides a direct path “home” or whatever interim state is most appropriate.

In many ways this spiritual “Knowing” is comparable to a state of “Being”. It is not a mental thing, rather it is a change to ones state of being.

Initially it is a change in ones state of awareness, one that involves the mind and the heart, and can lead to a change in ones state of being, including no longer residing in Earthly “3d” bodily form. Most spiritualized humans get stuck mid-way and are unable to let go of what may hold them here.

The process often involves an initial descension of more of ones higher level being, and at times more than that. This can lead to greater clarity of spiritual “Knowing”, of truly “owning” what one has learned as an “emissary” of ones higher level of being. I have written about this before, “we are here to go” is one expression –but first you have to “be here”. More of you arrives (descends) “here” so that all of you can “go” (home).

Some spiritualized humans have become so accustomed to shouting for help to their higher levels that that they are unaware of a quiet steady voice of their higher level that says to them, “...I am here”, “...what do you want?”

And for some, their higher level “becomes them” and there is no more outward seeking, only the completion process, a reunification.

Some imagine this completions process to be like some x-y-z stepwise formula to follow. It is not. It is unique to each and there is no standard recipe, only guidance. To this end, we have provided substantial guidance over the years through these pages.

Eventually it is all between human self “you” and higher level “you” and requires constant attention and inner focus and focused intent.

The human level of being can exert a great influence over its own higher level being – that in turn can influence much more. One can also establish a direct connection to the Divine.

To restate the “Catch-22” problem here: Higher level “you” asks human level “you” are you “done”, “complete”, etc.? What spiritual learning do you have to offer higher level of being to aid your greater totality? Human level “you” may not have an eloquent response, but you do your best. That is all that is asked, to make one’s best effort. (One cannot control outcomes since one does not control the “external” environment.) Spiritualized human level complains and asks for help. But by virtue of its positive or negative ties to this realm, human level of self will appear to its higher level self that it still has unfinished agendas. Higher level self patiently responds: “that is okay, let me know when you are done”. And around this goes until something catastrophic abruptly brings this to a halt. ...Or human level self “gets the hint”.

Even when and if it is possible, higher level self rarely intervenes, partly because of an internal fail-safe protocol, partly because of the disconnect arising from the dissipation/separation problem.

Human level self needs to be very, very clear whether or not they are really, really done here. 95% of those who think they are done, still have a to-do-list, a wish list, etc. Even wishing for peace in the world is a form of “unfinished business”! So, “Catch-22” again: Higher level of being detects this and continues to tread water “up there” – until the last moment.

This “Catch-22” problem is also cross-linked with a type of “failsafe” built in to a large portion of souls/higher level beings here. This “failsafe” helps to counteract the problem of dissipation/separation by making sure that higher level “you” does not exit 3d until it is sufficiently “complete” in whatever it is that it came here to accomplish. For many and varied reasons this “detail” is generally not known to the human level. (Another “Catch-22 problem!)

At best, most humans are left with distorted and quaint notions of freewill and choice, which in this realm are practically meaningless.

And so on it all goes. Until the spiritualized human self decides what its priorities are and acts upon them. All the complaining does little good if there objectively remains something to hold one here.

Also, too much “desiring” for achievement in the material world of human 3d can result in dark forces granting certain wishes –at a price. After all, this is realm is one of their doing. So this becomes another reason to be very careful what one wishes for.

With inner and outer “completions” and a “high attractor”, the human level self can stop the Catch-22 problem –but one cannot look back in hesitation. There are too many “pillars of salt” along the road who could not restrain themselves from looking back, even when warned of a serious risk. (Sorry, but the biblical reference just popped in.) And there they remain caught mid-way until a rescue arrives.

I touched on most of this in a recent posting: “Whispers of the Dark and Waking Out of the Dream” - link:

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1374.msg6014.html#msg6014>

In 2009 we were aware of the problems of the levels of our own higher level beings and wrote about it. In short, the result was clearly that the higher level beings were incapable of acting in a concerted manner. Partly due to the “garbage in, garbage out” problem arising from reliance upon human level information and learning that was inherently and deeply flawed.

At the time, it was well understood that so many higher level beings had become trapped, tricked into coming here, on naïve missions, or were merely observers, but we did not understand the additional problems of dissipation and separation and the added problem of a “failsafe” that required the human level to know that it could consciously “complete” its existence at 3d, sum up its core spiritual lessons, and “home in” to its higher level home “self”. With benefit of hindsight, I would say that most of the soul/higher level beings with humans presences here were unaware of this or forgot about it. For various reasons, the human level self was mostly left to its own devices with occasional nudges from its higher levels, occasionally. Rarely was there good clear communications and support given from the direction of “above” to “below”.

A companion essay, “The “Eschaton” & Point-of-View”, discusses the changes which are likely to be occurring soon and something of how the situation of humans on Earth will likely play out.

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1401.msg6021.html#msg6021>

The “war” between Light and Dark is over. In many ways, it always has been, just that in the paradigm of conflictual polarity, it has been the only way to interact.

Appearances in the dominant 3d human realm may look otherwise, but appearances are not the same as what is Real. (I will not elaborate on this here.)

Nowadays a much broader and deeper range of beings of the true Light are so much better informed and know now that the way of duality conflict is not for those of the higher Light. In previous essays I have mentioned vast beings from the higher levels of Creation that are containing and addressing the greater problem of the Dark and “fallen creation”. But this is not something that is quickly completed in an ordinary human time frame.

Are those “simple pleasures” in your life the reason for continuing on –or are they “deliberate distractions”, conscious ways to make ones remaining days here a little less difficult? Best to be clear on the distinction.

Eventually it comes to the point of whether one is ready to go into a deep state of meditation, waking meditation, and sleeping meditation.

One can feel dismay over the situation here (and that is perfectly understandable under the circumstances) but eventually it is all about whether one is sufficiently complete in the “here and now” and focused on their “high attractor”, “home” or whatever is most meaningful for this purpose.

Gather what you can of your true spiritual freewill –and then use it.

For now, this is as simple as I can express these things.

-ASK

“Magic Slippers” – Personal protocols

April 23, 2013 – edited May 9, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg6017.html#msg6017>

We are now in a period of new levels of changes at the gross physical and at the subtle and our higher levels. I expect this to noticeably increase through September-October this year for those most attracted to the higher Light and who are most "complete" with their "earthly visit". It will come in waves of peaks and valleys and plateaus. The process will be ongoing for some time after this year as long as possible and is necessary.

In the interests of directness and simplicity, I suggest an addition to the "correction energies" invocation. Before retiring to bed for the evening is often the best time.

After connecting in with the "corrections energies", ask for the complete removal, without exception, of all that is in your "human field" that originates with the dark falsehoods of this reality -- and ask for additional protection and clearing, etc.

Cautionary note: In some cases this may trigger a strong OBE or something along those lines because by implication, your human bodily vehicle is also a byproduct of the Dark forces. If you are not already experienced with traveling in spaces that are unrelated to a human existence, you could find yourself in an uncomfortable space initially.

You might modify this request by asking that you be returned safely to your familiar human existence following your experiencing this.

Then ask of your own highest levels of being ::

"I ask my highest levels of being to provide the most suitable protocol for my return to my true state as a spiritual being and for my departure from my human level of being, one that I can initiate from my human level self when I feel/know I am most ready."

-ASK

PS:

You may want to keep a pad of paper and pen at your bedside.

Whispers of the Dark & Waking Out of the “Dream”

April 17, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1374.msg6014.html#msg6014>

There are many things buried deep within the endless falsehoods of the so-called “great religions”. It is not possible to find the truth of these things by studying any version of their texts. Names have been changed, concepts twisted all around, fabrications passed off as “truth”. Usually one must refer to translated writings of others, perhaps from long ago and then how does one discern what is being taught from direct knowing and what is merely borrowed yet from other sources from even early times? However, it is possible –rare as it is –to verify some of these things directly.

One example would be the concept of “original sin” ...a powerful social control meme that turns “believers” (and “non-believers”) into fearful and debased individuals who act out through myriad forms of personal, collective and self hatred ...and who are programmed to accept nearly anything meted out to them in the human realm. This multi-edged control meme also includes within it notions of dark forces that mislead and goad humans into doing all manner of horrific things to themselves and to one another. In some contexts, “the devil made me do it”, is considered an accepted excuse for weak-willed or malevolent behavior.

Over considerable time however, the overall reality paradigm has not changed nor have the underlying motive forces of human civilization changed.

Indeed, there are those rarest of rare situations of genuine caring and sharing that are not basically self-centered. Just like there are those rare expressions of sublime beauty that have appeared from time to time over millennia. But at the human personality level, it is nearly impossible to live in a state of “perfection” and equanimity throughout ones life. I do know some who have “done their work” as personal selfs and approach such a state, but in most cases that I am familiar with, this emphasis on the “personal psychology” has limited access to higher levels of consciousness.

This essay is not the place to discuss the details of “original sin” –a topic better relegated to the forthcoming concluding essays –but like many fables and falsehoods, there is a kernel of truth to the notion, one that closely relates to certain points in this essay.

For a very long time, over many, many millennia, agents of dark side creator beings sought out humans who showed potential to respond to their telepathically overt and covert “whisperings”. Today, there are so many “lost” humans who so desire power, fame, or wealth, that they will let go of whatever connection they have to the higher Light and objectively wind up soliciting these dark agencies to work through them in expectation that they will be rewarded with whatever corruptions they most desire. There is also the desire by the dark to corrupt spiritual teachers. Some are easily taken down simply due to the petty version of the same sorts of desires that drive the global elites and the privileged social strata that do their bidding. Some teachers get “taken out” through their naiveté or lack of discernment, some are easily tricked by “paranormal” or clairvoyant phenomena projected by the dark.

At the “lower levels” of society, another form of this process takes place which is becoming ever more widespread as more humans suffer under the strain of a fundamentally diseased and collapsing civilization. “Whispers and goading” by various dark entities can trigger vicious actions of one human upon another and with little provocation needed. These petty dark entities feed off of the “negative” emotions and corresponding subtle energies that are released by these actions.

Given the diminished connection between soul/higher level being and human self, the Dark entities that influence small and large scale conflicts make sure that they have an ever-growing stock of human “players”.

The human animal is already programmed for continuous reproduction, and so all that is needed is to make sure there is an ongoing supply of particles of true Light to feed off of. This is done partly by ensnaring the unsuspecting into descending into the human realm and partly by “whisperings” to all parties involved in certain actions against one another to return again and again to human form as some “karmic” fate deserved by their previous maleficence. In most cases it is all deception, and not some “higher divine purpose”, that causes the soul beings/higher level beings to keep coming back to the theatre to maintain the “play”.

There have been billions of human forms for a seemingly endless number of higher level beings of the Light and of the Dark and certain patterns become habituated in the human and upper realms. In short, a prison managed largely by the inmates, who came to prefer to exist in a state of delusions.

Most of our greater level beings for the most part are basically very naïve and understandably driven by a desire for “completion” of some stage of learning that involves experiencing forms of “extreme individuation” in 3d density.

It is all based upon elaborate deceptions that higher level beings are tricked into notions of endless swapping roles, lifetime upon lifetime on this planet. One lifetime one plays good guy, another the bad guy, another lifetime we swap roles, always carrying out the same sort of pathos in endless variations of gender, age, race, climates, etc.

When the human level player begins to wonder about the surreality or spiritual “rightness” of all this, something or someone whispers that is the “law of karma” and thus it goes on. This is connected to the “Catch-22” situation that so many spiritualized humans encounter: Human self asks their own higher level being for help –clear useful guidance –or their “ticket home” ...One’s higher level being tells one’s human self that their higher level is waiting for the human level to be clear that they are “complete” and ready to leave. If that is not unequivocally clear, then higher self cannot help. Human self is not sufficiently clear about completion, with there always being something else, one more thing, etc., and asks for guidance, etc. Higher level being interprets this as a “not ready” signal. And so round and round this goes. For the most part, there is very little clear or meaningful communication between the higher level being and its human self.

This also feeds into a larger problem, of “garbage in, garbage out” that flows upward/outward from the human level-higher level relationship to the information shared from these relatively lower levels to the relatively higher levels which are charged with directing and overseeing the greater changes.

As far as I am concerned, however, the practical focus of all this lies with the higher level being and its human relationship. But too many of them are still inured to having ongoing human 3d experiences and are not aware of other ways to experience density through individuation, etc. And so the primary responsibility then shifts to yet higher levels (“mid range and upper range of “executive management”) with a potentially important role played by those who have human presences. (Please take note.)

One of the keys to breaking these “Catch-22” conundrums is ones conscious “completion” here. This is something relative to each individuation. What is common to all in this process is that enough has been learned at this level that there is no further need or desire to “remain in the game”. At that point then, there is the matter of ones “homing signal” or higher attractor.

Those spiritualized humans who are most advanced in their learning and personal development need to be clear as to where they draw the line and know they are sufficiently “complete”. No more “shopping trips” to the “bazaar of spiritual goods”. One more trail hike, one more... Time is coming to be up and it becomes time to present to ones higher level what one has learned, what the essence is of the learning, and that the spiritualized human level is no longer going to “play the game”.

This could be a radical step for most as it lets its higher level of being know that it is time and will no longer “play the game”, and that one is ready to come “home”.

If one desires more time in the human realm, then one must be conscious of their reasons, that is all there is to it. Please note that there is no “right” or “wrong” response.

However, if one is not conscious, then one is still one of the “lost” and will likely be “rescued” at the end of it all.

In other words, if one is consciously and relatively “done” and “complete”, then there can be no more “if’s, and’s or but’s” or “one more this or one more that...” If one is “done” and sufficiently complete with having a human embodiment in the 3d realm, then one must strongly and unequivocally impress this upon ones higher level being. No “if’s, and’s or but’s” about it.

This is the first step toward going home for those preparing for embarkation.

Eventually the spiritualized consciousness will be collected and most will likely find their human bodies “extinguished” through rapid catastrophe or slower bodily entropy.

While the foregoing may understandably be “objectionable” to some, the intent here is to encourage a “sobering” awareness and “compassioned discernment” of the errancy of all that had been in this realm. There is no need to dwell in anger or upset.

It is simply time to make this stop.

The preponderance of beings that have presences in the human 3d realm have “in effect” made a “choice by default”.

This time around there was the promise of “something wonderful” to occur that would aid their own spiritual learning process. But very few know that this is the end of the play and of the theatre itself. Those who know this also know that they are in effect in a position to end the play from the level of a “player” and thus so inform their greater self that the play is over. So whatever is left unfinished will need to be addressed at the “next levels up”.

So, why have so many greater level/soul beings kept “playing”? A small fraction really do have higher level missions here, a small fraction come here to express beauty and joy through creativity, some are newly arrived “observers” but most are “compelled by momentum” as if in a state of amnesiac sleep-walking. Of course this is immediately represented and reflected at the human level, witness the overwhelming mass of humans who have no idea about much of anything at any level.

I am referring to a type of somnambulance that can only originate with the higher level being, one that is “as if addicted” to the 3d density realm of humans on earth.

When all is said and done, without adequate preparations and “clearance”, higher level beings/soul beings will not be allowed to form a 3d human self unless the being is connected with the higher Oneness and the human level self connected in as well. No more separation, no more predation, no more parasitism, no more “games”.

-ASK

Postscript:

For those who have not read it, I would recommend the Concluding A-List Update -- <http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/Update-Jan-Mar-2013.pdf>

Continued discussion of “Problems of Ascension”: Glitches in the Matrix – Waking in the Dream

April 10, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1374.msg6007.html#msg6007>

Related NES posts:

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1416.msg6002.html#msg6002>

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1416.msg6003.html#msg6003>

I expect that more and more people will notice odd “glitches” in ordinary reality.

I trace this to a few notable factors:

- A breakdown of the vibrational state of “ordinary 3d” reality, all the way down to the vibrational bonds of “molecules”;
- The increasing “separation of the mayonnaise” or dissolution of the bonds” that connect that of the higher light to that of the dark error;
- An increasing “affective tension” that stimulates a spiritually-healthy detaching or dissociating from the addictive allures of “ordinary reality”.

A simple gardening analogy: if you are trying to remove plant growth from the soil, at first there is the tension from pulling and the very fine root hairs begin to break away where the root system is weakest, then with a little more pulling slightly coarser root fibers will break. But if the soil is dry and tightly bound and the plant roots extensively anchored, then something else is needed. The gentlest way is to water the soil, thereby the loosening the bonds of the soil particles. This can be compared to the “correction energies” helping to dissolve and loosen the hold of a false reality. But where the plant is deeply and firmly anchored, a stronger action is required from a spade or forks to mechanically break up the soil quickly so as to allow the weeding process to proceed. This can be compared to the action of earthchanges and global social change that suddenly alters the flow of “ordinary reality”.

Obviously if these are not “weeds” but rather desirable plants requiring transplanting to a new and more conducive growth environment, then greater care is needed in their “uprooting”. Even then, fine root hairs are still torn away, no matter how careful one is.

To accomplish this by relocating an entire bed of soil at once is usually not desirable as unwanted weed plants and insect parasites are also brought along.

This simple “gardening” model can be projected through extrapolation and interpolation as much as needed.

It also illustrates that the entirety of the Earthly environment with its human residents cannot and will not be relocated en masse to a new environment.

The “bottom line” to this process is to set up conditions that oblige a massive change in consciousness by a large number of human selfs who have been “root bound” for too long in an unviable environment/reality.

This has immediate repercussions all the way to the higher level beings associated with these human selfs.

The result of this can and will be a massive shift in existence, a mass evacuation in many ways, from the deep somnambulance to an awakening to new possibilities for the individuations of spiritual intelligences.

As more of the fine root hairs pull away, there will be more noticing of “glitches” in reality until you begin experiencing longer episodes of some “other reality”. For some it may be like a sudden “whoosh” and they are seemingly “elsewhere”, for others it will be more of a gentle flow as they glide out of one reality and into another, never to return whence they came.

-ASK

Continuation of “Problems of Correction and Ascension” “What Remains?” - A Question of Deception

April 14, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1374.msg6008.html#msg6008>

Preface:

These days I find myself in the final stages of ongoing “waking meditations” concerning various details of the “corrections” and the ascension/transformation processes. One of these is to trace the threads of the human self from its inception to its eventual release from the human 3d realm and its “life beyond”. Within these lines of contemplation are many threads that could be described under the label “what remains?”, a question I have touched on over recent years in various contexts. This embraces the human level of consciousness, human physicality, as well as much higher vibrational states. As with everything undergoing transformation in this creation, there has to be state of completion for any given stage. And so it is that even the “correction energies” have various stages marked by “completion”.

-ASK

This short discussion touches on the problem of the corrupted consciousness of a human self and its own higher level being. It may present more questions than “definitive” answers.

Q: What remains? (After the correction energies have completed their work.)

A: Consciousness.

And from the human level, what of that consciousness remains?

Perhaps the memory of an individuality from the human-Earth realm at the end of civilization? A fulfilled state of learning? ...or one that is dominated by unfulfilled desires and attachments? ...Perhaps arising from illusions or delusions originating from the human realm itself?

For our consideration, what portion of humans engage in deception? Let us exclude situations such a child who accidentally breaks a vase and tries to blame the cat for doing it.

At one level, there is the camel merchant. Want to buy a camel? The prospective buyer objects to the asking price as to high. One response from the seller is to promote the camel as worthy of the price. But is the merchant really truthful, or does he know the camel has weakness in one leg that will show up during a desert crossing while heavily laden? Caveat emptor (buyer beware). This is of course is the precursor to the “used car salesman” or building contractors or anyone in the position of convincing others to allow them to appropriate wealth from the efforts of others. Most prefer to project a “likable” veneer (“I am a nice guy, you must like/trust me”) –but of course none will assume any accountability for their work.

Today the entirety of human society is dominated by deception from the highest levels of social-political control and this permeates into the most ordinary of situations between two individuals over the most mundane of interactions.

Deception is not limited to the human realm and is most obvious from the overwhelming body of a century of channeled writings involving “angels”, “aliens”, and various “ascended” characters, some of whom are not even who/what they present themselves to be. Much of the material is deception wrapped with trivialities that appear genuine enough. When we strip away the deliberate misinformation and disinformation, there remains content that is simply misinformed based upon a limited or distorted understanding of “how things are”. At times it is possible to trace the alleged source to an actual historical figure and with that background much of this becomes more obvious. And then there is a wide range of sources, religious and non-religious, that is testament to the deceptions and distortions of various god-like entities that sought influence over Earth and humans.

At its most basic levels, nearly all of humans have been situated into “living falsehoods” –a type of “living death” –through too many millennia on this planet. And of course the very concept of “death” is a falsehood, but that is something for another discussion.

In spite of this, there have been those rare beings who risked entering into human form to create and share beauty and joy –and perhaps even ontological insights.

So, when their human sojourn is done, what remains of those consciousnesses that lived by means of large and “small” deceptions? How much of their individuation and memory becomes “integrated” into the matrix of their higher being?

How is it treated at that level?

It might be regarded by your higher level being as “incomplete” or even “defective”, and yet able to lovingly look at itself in amazement of how humans “live”. Those higher level beings that are truly in alignment with the higher Oneness also have access to the “high Absolution”, something which I have written about in the context of the larger transformation processes. “high Absolution” also has an implicate discernment that may find it beneficial to retain the essence of what has been learned, but delete detailed memories acquired at the human level.

But what of those higher level beings that take it all in as if it were all part of some theatrical play or movie, without discernment of what is worthy to retain and incorporate into its greater being? To this I can only say that there are vibrational filters that do not allow movement of those higher level beings beyond certain higher level boundaries. Those who are infected with the falsehoods of the fallen realm will be obliged to process them into higher level learning or “delete” portions of themselves and begin anew.

The main deception or falsehood that is presented to all humans is the alleged “reality” of their “birth” and formation of their personality self. This is something that implicitly underlies the matrix-programming of this realm, much like personal hygiene, learning about food, behavioral guidelines, etc. This is the inculcated nature of humans as self-centered social-tribal animals, with little to no conscious connection to their own higher being or to the higher realms beyond that.

Soon, we arrive at the threshold of our own higher being. What matters most were our intentions and how we attended and acted upon them.

In 2009, the focus was on the higher level beings/soul beings with human presences. By and large, very little action or other movement was achieved due to various problems at that level.

The focus now is primarily upon all those “spiritualized” human selves who are bodily present and what it is they choose for themselves as spiritual beings under increasing extreme pressures in the physical and social environments. And yes, your choices and internal dynamics can and do influence what your own higher level being does or does not do.

-ASK

“Crystal Body” and Related Practices

Sunday June 9, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1424.msg6039.html#msg6039>

The "crystal body" exercises are good as preparatory ascension practices and as a way to develop a more conscious approach to one's ascension and connection to greater self. The structural shapes are not critical to this process, only suggestive of a general pattern that has been observed.

They help establish a spatial and energetic relationship with 2 energy bodies below our 3d body/energy envelope and with 4 more above us thus extending our ordinary awareness into a more connected conscious relationship with our greater self.

This is not some "merkabah" exercise. Sadly, so many “new age” circles have become polluted with variations on the theme of "sacred" (darkside) geometry as some magical fast track to "getting high". All the “merkabah” practices I am aware of only reinforce higher level patterns of the dark side creational matrix. One might get a little “high”, but it is not an ascension practice that leads to the higher Oneness, only to the open arms of darkside entities or human mental aberration.

Too many naively and suspiciously presume that just because one is consciously attending to the rotational dynamics of ones own subtle bodies, that this means it is a "merkabah" practice. If anything, this only underscores my point of how twisted things have become.

Also, there are those similarly naïve and vague presumptions that everything and anything must always be about oneness of “the heart”. This obsession with everything “heart centered” generally leads to nearly zero discernment about much of anything and initially keeps everyone locked in to the control matrix. It becomes an energetic analog to using psycho-pharmaceuticals to cope with being caught in a decrepit reality. The same goes for most meditations that get one a little “high” (usually on ones own neurochemicals).

And so the intellectual mind of the “new age” social set has been conditioned to filter out most anything that really can help one become spiritually empowered.

The “crystal body” practices initially focus on the 3rd level, but that does not mean they are not spiritually “heart centered”. Such notions are naïve and essentially intellectualized projections based upon distorted ideas that mostly originate from the dark side as well.

I will also mention here that I do not know of any “kundalini” practices that result in an ascended state of being or of knowing. Without an expanded spiritual consciousness, stimulating lots of energy does not do much except to fry ones physical or etheric circuits. It generally does not lead to any type of discernment that comes from a genuinely expanded or quasi-ascended state of consciousness.

Also I will say again that just because one may be able to manifest spiritual-energetic phenomena does not equate in way to an ascended consciousness. These are mind-over matter/mind-over energy “tricks” –some are fairly benign, some are dangerous. But if the mind is not connected to the greater level true Self or higher Oneness, the pursuit of “power” leads to disaster or worse.

Please read the material and decide for yourself.

The processes described here are one of the most direct ways to help your own greater being “pull itself together” and accelerate ones own higher level spiritually evolved learning.

It is up to you. It is your own energy body and with the power of spiritualized intention, you can play some role from your lower aspect (human you) in advancing your own greater spiritual development.

-Alex

PFCN archive <http://www.newearthsummit.org/pfcn/>

The "Crystal Body" Exercises

<http://www.newearthsummit.org/pfcn/Bulletins/The%20Crystal%20Body%20Exercises-%20May%202009.pdf>

Energizing the Power Body

<http://www.newearthsummit.org/pfcn/Bulletins/Energizing%20the%20Power%20Body.pdf>

Same at the original PFCN site:

<http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/The%20Crystal%20Body%20Exercises-%20May%202009.pdf>

<http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/Energizing%20the%20Power%20Body.pdf>

There is also an interesting book that can help some develop their inner seeing. It seems to work for 10% of those who work with this. “Short Path” – link: <http://www.pyramidtexts.com/short.htm>. Please note that this is not an endorsement of the authors teachings with regard to ascension or reality itself for that matter. Simply that it is an exercise that can be added to the crystal body work.

The “Corrections Energies”

The “Corrections Energies”
An Invocation, An Intention, An Attention
Every evening before retiring and during the day if necessary

(Basic version)

* I call upon my lower, middle and higher self. I call upon my highest source origins and my connection to the highest levels of true Oneness and Creator of All.

* I invite and call in the fullest extent of the highest of the correction energies to enter and descend my entire being down to my human levels and beyond.

* I invite and call upon the fullest extent of the highest of the correction energies to enter and flow through the space between my atoms and create and maintain a continuous flow through the entirety of all of my being.

* I call upon the correction energies to clean, clear, or dissolve any and all dark side influences in my being at any and all levels of my existence.

* I call to me all the particles of the true light in my being as the particles of true light in my being call me to them.

~~~

Ask and allow these energies to flow through you. Do not “direct” or intend them in any manner whatsoever. These energies have their own built-in “guidance”. Just let them flow through you. Over time your own capacity will grow and so will the process of the larger changes that may concern you and the totality of your own greater being.

Link to this:

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1161.msg5485.html#msg5485>

~~~

NOTE: See recent addition to this as follows...

Correction Energies Update

July 18, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1379.msg6072.html#msg6072>

This concerns the lower levels below human “3d”. (A simple schematic in the “Crystal Body” exercises illustrates this.

In the past I have recommended against going into the lower realms as they are what we would call “hell realms” and have been ruled and infested by the Dark.

Instead I have recommended letting the “Crystal Body” practice take care of your lower aspects in conjunction with the “Correction Energies” in general.

The “Correction Energies” have been working to address these lower realms and this has caused me to describe the “press pot filtering” as having a filter coming up from below 3d while the higher levels filter continues to press down through 3d.

When you are invoking the “Correction Energies”, I suggest it is time to add the following request of the “corrections” process:

Ask that the “Correction Energies” flow down to the lower levels below your 3d state to Clean and Clear and Repair your lower aspects and free them from any and all Dark force influences, without exception.

Ask the “Corrections Energies” to Resurrect and Reconnect your cleaned and cleared and repaired lower levels to your greater totality of being and to elevate them along with all of you as you go through the corrections filtering required for ascension into the upper levels.

You might also add the caveat that if it is not possible to Clean and Clear and Repair excessive damage to your lower aspects, then ask the “Corrections Energies” or the Divine to dissolve with fullest Love, that which can no longer be retrieved. These lower aspects, if irretrievable, are often linked with the corrupt “machinery” of a corrupt 3d matrix. I regard them as hitherto unnoticed tethers to your “balloon”. But leave the “decision” up to your higher levels of being and/or to the Divine.

I suggest invoking the correction energies daily. Especially at night before retiring to sleep.

-ASK

About potted plants...

Re: Addition to “Correction Energies”

July 21, 2013

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1379.msg6073.html#msg6073>

In reference to the posting of July 18...

<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1379.msg6072.html#msg6072>

...This addition to the “Correction Energies” invocation is coherent and consistent with the “as above-so below” principle. In this case, the “as above” is your human level Self and the “as below” would be your lower aspects. (If you do not know what this is referring to, please see the diagrams shown in the material on the “Crystal Body”.)

Higher level beings/soul beings with human presences are required now to “clean up their act” and “pull themselves together” or eventually revert to a simpler level of being.

It is difficult enough for a higher level being that is accustomed to operating outside of Earth-human linear time flow to undergo such a process with its human level presence. What makes this even more difficult is the hold that the lower aspects have on the human level. For those humans who have reached a certain spiritualized threshold, it is important to address your lower aspects as you take an active role in your own ascension process.

If you already have a functional connection with your own higher levels, then this will be more straightforward. Otherwise, consider that the 3d level of you occupies a similar problem to your higher levels as these lower aspects represent to 3d you.

As readers are aware, it is the distorted and corrupted flow of energy and information from the 3d level that has adversely affected and infected higher level beings/soul beings (the “garbage in-garbage out” principle).

Likewise lower levels of your human self and human vessel are linked to the levels of matter which have been corrupted by the Dark. These impulses of the corrupted bio-matter “machinery” set severe parameters which resist an expanded spiritual consciousness and which influence the Self to ways that resist Realizing ones true nature as a spiritual being.

This underlies why the vast majority of human Selves resist and refuse spiritual consciousness, and why there will not be any collective spiritual awakening from the human 3d level of being. This is, of course, also one of the underlying factors inhibiting conscious ascension from the 3d level for an individual Self.

Those who can sort out their base animal self from their true Self –and who can cease thinking as a “human” and to think and know as a spiritual being –can surmount these problems through intention, attention, and the assistance of the “corrections” process which emanates from the Divine.

For those human Selves that have given priority to their true nature as part of a spiritual being, one can use that consciousness to help free ones lower levels.

A simple analogy to this is would be a potted plant (representing 3d you) that has outgrown its container or pot that has been left sitting on soil. If left too long in one place, roots will extend from the pot into the soil (aspects below 3d you) and moving the pot may prove difficult. Sometimes the container or pot needs to be broken to save some of those extended roots and the underlying soil loosened. Sometimes this is not practical or necessary and the roots are simply torn away as the plant is relocated to a more suitable environment.

A healthy plant is capable of regenerating new (root) structures when placed in a suitable new environment and its potential and integrity as a plant being will flourish as a result.

Thus if ones lower aspects cannot be adequately cleaned, cleared of the influences from the Dark, and upgraded to be part of your ascending being, it may be appropriate that you let them go, and ask for the assistance of the Divine and its “Corrections Energies” in accomplishing this.

A similar process may be initiated for portions of your human 3d consciousness centered in 3d human existence, this is part of the process of detaching from the limitations of the human 3d environment.

Likewise, a similar process may eventually be required to aid in the clearing and upgrading of some higher level beings/soul beings that have become stuck and ballasted by their human level. However, those whose human level retains a spark of the true Light, this will serve as a “signal beacon” for eventual “rescue” and reintegration.

Before this occurs, the ascension and corrections and transformation process continues on the next levels up to give the human Self and its higher level being additional opportunities to grow and evolve.

Time is growing short.

-ASK