Four concluding essays to the “A-List”, by Alex Kochkin with editorial and critical assistance from Tish Van Camp:

The “Human Question” came about from a decades-long ongoing examination and re-examination of the potential and appropriateness of extant humans as a vehicle for spiritual intelligences to learn and evolve through. This process required examining how things were in the next levels up from human, which in turn required examining more of the state of the souls and higher level beings that were hooked into the human level of awareness. <http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/The%20Human%20Question.pdf>

“Queen of the Machine” essay came about from explorations of the energetic spaces underlying 3d and from assessing the state of the “correction energies”. The implications of the situation with levels below 3d density have yet to be explored enough. Perhaps it will be answered post-“corrections” by those who have learned the most from this demented realm of existence quaintly referred to as “3d”. My preliminary observations are that there is evidence of a primary or primal root template that has been suppressed and distorted from the inception of all that which the Dark manifested or came to dominate. When the dark side machinery is removed through the larger transformation process that is underway, then what remains? <http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/queen%20of%20the%20machine.pdf>

“Death and Transfiguration” emerged from over a year of contemplating the state of the ascension process and of those at their human levels who had an affinity for this. Background to this probably spans most of my human lifetime here and my knowledge that true life exists without any need for a conflicting duality and the illusion of “death”. <http://www.pfcn.net/bulletins/death%20and%20transfiguration.pdf>

“Problems of Dissipation” developed through the consideration of the larger questions of the relationship between higher self/higher level beings and human self and the seeming inability to meaningful influence changes at the human level. This touches upon what I have come to regard as an additional flaw in the greater creation process. <http://www.pfcn.net/bulletins/Problems%20of%20Dissipation.pdf>

Letter to Readers

November 1, 2013

Dear Readers,

There is only a small fraction of human Selves on this planet who remain focused on reaching a spiritualization threshold and ascension. It is partly for them that I have continued this work at this stage.

Since we began our public work concerning cosmology and ascension around 2006, there was a self-selecting group of individuals representing a broad spectrum of social-spiritual “positive future” interests oriented toward an “awakened” future for humans. Some were more focused on “social issues”, and others more on “spiritual issues”.

From 1994-1995, we were one of only a handful focused on exploring and promoting the possibilities of a global “spiritual awakening”. Today, the very word and concept of “awakening” has now been co-opted and buried so deeply in distortions and falsehood that it has been rendered into a meaningless slogan, regardless of its context.

Over time, our public readership expanded, but it occurred during a period of rapid atrophication of human mental and energetic capacity to contemplate the deeper questions, or to do so with sufficient depth and focus. Many readers preferred frequent and short “updates”, as is the habit of most “new age” outlets offering an eclectic “pabulum of palliatives”.

This tendency cannot be superficially attributed to the abysmal attention deficit of so many due to the social control systems via the Internet and telephonic technologies, and the degradation, pollution, and distortion of the food, air and water needed for a healthy human physical existence. The problem is far greater than that and is traceable to the breakdown of the fallen levels of creation (manifest reality) and all that is attached and self-identified with it. Furthermore, it is closely connected with the severe problem of spiritual depletion.

This fourth and final essay brings everything full circle and offers certain conclusions and additional guidance. Building off of previous conclusions, it explains more the relationship between the cosmic “big picture” and the human-spiritual microcosm. The previous three concluding essays, read in the order given, provide important background. Feel free as always to forward or provide links to others who you think may benefit in their own process from this.

It is the last lengthy piece that I will be writing and thus concludes the public work.

“New earth” is not to be found here in the familiar “3d earth”, nor is it found in the “virtual practice world” of the 4th or 5th dimensional levels where mutual illusions leads to mutual delusions, rather the “new earth” is requires concentrated focused and coherent intent and attention by spiritual beings who can develop the requisite levels of Spiritualized “Trust”, connected by a dynamic unifying field with the higher Oneness. This what forms the basis of a new field of creational work.

In the interim, there will be vibrational “spaces of transition” for those fragments of spiritual beings that need help “collecting themselves”.

This level of Higher “Trust” –something fundamental to the New Creation matrix and which still can be found in non-duality fields of this Creation –cannot exist in the realm of human-Earthly 3d. Perhaps it can be explored and demonstrated amongst some of the more spiritually evolved soul beings/higher level beings that have had human presences in recent Earth-time.

And thus once demonstrated and made into a coherent collective field among some portion of the more spiritual evolved higher level/soul beings that have had sufficient human or similar presences on other worlds –then it may be possible to descend the higher levels into density worlds such as 3d Earth for the purposes of the transformation of Creation.

Such spiritual advancement benefits Creation and Creator and will provide part of the basis for decisions as to what to do with worlds of density such as Earth – and how to assist in the transformation of other beings and matter here and elsewhere within the greater creation.

There are three possibilities, none of which are mutually exclusive of one another and all may be occurring for the relative duration of events of cosmic changes. These three would be rescue/extraction efforts, ignition of the energy matrix of the Earth into a higher vibrational state, and the present human and other similar 3d situations ongoing until totally collapsed. The “ignition” requires the greatest descension of the highest levels of spiritual energies and consciousness possible. This will likely not be welcomed by those human-identified-humans whose preferred default existence is that of social-tribal animals. If it is to occur, human “opinion” will play no role.

You have what is needed to help guide your higher choices. What is needed is to summon your Spiritual Will.

All my best to everyone here and I wish you the highest possibilities for your spiritual Being.

Follow-up to flaws or errors in the creation process:
Problems of Dissipation

Notes and reflections from January 2013 to November 2013

Creator is calling in to Itself, All of Itself and is asking all levels of being that it has given existence to, to do the same.

Our own higher level/soul beings are asked to do likewise for their domains as well.

Our human level spiritual Self is a microcosm of all of this and thus is asked also to “pull itself together” in terms of completions, detachment, and high attractor...

Of great importance is the choice to be made by those arriving to their spiritual transformational threshold.

Preface to the Final (4th of 4) Essay:

“Problems of Dissipation” was developed through the consideration of the larger questions of the relationship between higher self/higher level beings and human self and the seeming inability to influence meaningful changes at the human level. To minimize the complexity of the content, a series of short supplementary essays and comments have been placed in an “End Notes” section. These are each essential to the main body of this essay and are not minor “footnotes” to be ignored.

This last of the four concluding essays concerns itself with possible additional flaws in the creation process. (The primary flaw in the creation process led to the emergence of the dark forces and the spread of a fallen sector. This we have discussed in various essays which can be found under “Articles & Bulletins” at www.pfcn.net or its backup site <http://newearthforums.org/pfcn>.)

“Dissipation and replication” is also a function of this (fallen or defective) reality and relates closely to the tendency toward entropic decay and replication of more of the same (biology being a prime example). Therefore, an important question concerns whether this tendency toward dissipation was an internal flaw or was one that “crept in” due to the long term influence of the Dark?

While essays such as this may not “make” or “un-make” anything in your own process, at the least it provides new insights and perspectives to assist your expansion and ascension. None of what is included in this essay contradicts or repudiates previous guidance offered on these matters.

It is difficult enough for the human level Self to stay focused on its own spiritual expansion and ascension process –it is even more difficult to shift from a 3d human-level, human-centric point of view to a higher level perspective to gain a larger overview of your human and larger spiritual situation.

Nevertheless, the human mind does have the capability to focus on details and patterns in ways that higher levels of consciousness have difficulty with.

So now, what is this additional “flaw” or oversight all about? And why is it so important to pay attention to now?

Summary of Key Concepts

Within the context of the overall “dissipation problem” –from the originating highest level of individuation from Creator which has the capacity to extend itself across creation and descend portions and aspects of Itself into density –the individuation gains influence on spiritual beings and tends to overwhelm the more stable and static connection of the higher Oneness. This reinforces problems such as perceptions or feelings of “separation” from Source.

In the unifying fields of Oneness, there is relatively little “risk” to becoming over-extended/expanded through the Creator-imbued processes. However, with extensive and expansive individuations –without a sufficiently strong counter-balancing dynamic of Oneness, the influence of individuation can shift to a dominant role. Excessive individuation –without the balancing effects of a higher Oneness connection –provides a basis for self-centeredness and increased separation from Source. In the unifying fields of Oneness, this usually does not present serious problems.

The coinciding of individuation and dissipation with the intensely arrogant self-centeredness of the Dark forces was almost as if made-to-order (bespoke) by the Dark forces to make it easier to entrap and entwine those of the Light in a fallen state of existence.

Within the operating paradigm of the Dark, dispersed (dissipated) individuations of “spiritual beings” become functionally detached from themselves and from their higher order Source. This becomes fertile ground from which antagonistic conflict-duality flourishes. As it has developed, an anti-Creation/anti-Creator force became concentrated in this region and 3d Earth became a desirable locus of control for the Dark.

Non-duality creation has self-regulating qualities originating in the unifying field of Oneness flowing through it. All manner of things can be experimented with tested and tried. Some “ideas” may not work out and they are changed or removed, etc. This is in the context of non-duality and is an entirely different “operating environment” from that of the antagonistic conflictual-duality, that is closely associated with the Dark Error.

Furthermore, there is the consideration that the human form and the materium of Earthly 3d is fundamentally corrupted by the Dark Error and its agencies.

That which derives its Existence from the Light of Prime Creator must be extricated wherever possible from the entwining infection of the Dark, cleansed, healed, upgraded, and reconnected within itself and with the Absolute. Those levels to the beings involved that cannot be separated out, healed, upgraded and integrated into the whole being, may need to be dissolved or otherwise removed.

Too many of these greater beings have shown themselves unable to effect the needed changes on their own. This is partly due to the effects of dissipation and energy depletion, as well as becoming lost in the miasmatic delusions of the “human experience” and ongoing Dark interference. Hence they need assistance from the intermediate higher realms –from Creator Itself –and from their own human Selves that are wise to this situation. So “you” who is reading this have a part you can play!

Had the overall situation been otherwise, I think we would all be having a very different “human experience” at present and the “problem” of delusionary human-centric thinking from a human point of view –versus thinking and knowing as a spiritual being from a spiritual point of view –would not exist!

As part of the “corrections energies” and transformational process it is important for the soul beings and higher level beings to “collect themselves” –their missing or distant aspects –and to take stock of their state of being and spiritual learning. In other words, “time out”.

This is not the same thing as the dissolution of layers or portions of reality rendering those portions to non-existence. Rather this is all about the process of separating the light from the dark and bringing the light back into Itself to be more whole and to learn.

Another “cosmic day”, another time perhaps, there will be the possibility for properly prepared spiritual beings to explore matter density without falling under the influence of the Error –only after the corrections process is completed and the higher learning that has accrued circulated and processed by the higher levels of light based upon the sojourns into a fallen existence in a corrupt reality.

The human personal self will have much difficulty with these concepts as long as the human “you” believes/imagines itself to be the same as the animal body identity amidst a self-centered, social-tribal existence on earth that is subject to a corrupt biology in a corrupt planetary environment. And by corrupt, I am not referring to the superficialities of pollutants from civilization, I am referring to the corruption of matter itself due to the manifestation and ongoing guiding influence of the Dark forces and the Dark Error. Even the planetary consciousness Itself is in dire need of the “cosmic corrections” process that emanates from Prime Creator.

While the principles we describe here are simple enough, their dynamic inter-relationships can be complex. To help highlight some of the main points, here are additional short notes in outline style.

- Dissipation – the dispersion and expansion through manifest creation without an adequate dynamic of a counteracting attractor force of the higher Oneness.
- Individuation – refers to the deliberate splitting off of portions of itself by a spiritual being for the purpose of learning and exploration. When this expansive process is sufficiently complete, that portion or aspect is usually drawn back into the originating being. In the event of unrecoverable damage the extended portion may be dissolved entirely or let go of by its originating source.
- Replication – an innate capacity to reproduce patterns thought, energy, biology, and other facets of manifest creation. At many vibrational levels (such as 3d) replication requires the consumption of energy sources from matter or other forms. This implies predation and parasitism as the primary mode of acquiring energy. At the higher levels of Spiritual Intelligence there is the alternative possibility of voluntary or symbiotic combination as well as the application of the Light of Source. Replication and expansion is not a requirement for “life” or existence.
- Energy Depletion – the result of excessively expansive individuation and subsequent dissipation of core energy. In the short term, this can be noticeable from the level of an individuation from the originating being (such from the level of the human Self), as well as by attentive higher level being.

- Entropic Decay – the tendency of a system to breakdown into its simplest components when there is insufficient energy for its maintenance or the cohesive bonds which allow for its coherent existence, break down or cease. Ultimately, it is the principle of High Cosmic “Love” of Prime Creator that allows for its creations to exist. This can be withdrawn and dynamic forces can be used to expedite the dissolution or break up of portions of the larger creation. At the simplest level of 3d biology, the process of disease, injury, and internal breakdown leads to systemic decay, often facilitated by various classes of parasites and saprophytes, etc. These forces tend to be operative in most conflict-duality-based creation zones.

Readers are encouraged to review the essays on “Creation, Cosmology, and the Big Picture” that are available at the PFCN websites under “Articles & Bulletins” section –and to carefully read the first three of the concluding essays to the “A-List”.

Introduction to “Problems of Dissipation”:

Recent discussions concerning the dynamics of one’s human and spiritual “life review” pointed to the larger question of what is done with such “informational assessments” at the higher level of being and why it would seem to be so “willing” to plunge into the human 3d realm repeatedly without having a better understanding of the dangers and risks this represents. (See “Judgment, Accomplishments, Fulfillment -- What is Spiritually Real?” (October 1, 2013)
Link: <http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/Judging%20Accomplishment.pdf>

This brought me to consider the “problems of dissipation” in more depth.

One can say that Creator of All desired for there to be numerous individualizations of Itself for learning and exploration that would contribute to the overall evolutionary development of The All and more. This extension of Itself led to many unique expressions of Creator’s Being and Intention.

The impulse to these individuations of the Divine was to go forth, to explore, to learn, to expand, to evolve and to contribute to a panoply of enrichment to The All and to Creator while furthering their own development as potential creator beings or whatever else they could evolve into.

So it is that most higher level/soul beings have a potentially unlimited, innate capacity to expand and embrace all that can be –something that was part of the original blueprint and directive in the differentiating-out (or individuating) of soul beings, micro-holographic fragments of Creator of All.

One of more prevalent modes of expansion and exploration of spiritual beings is to send forth an aspect or portion of themselves, analogous in some ways to an amoeba extending a portion itself by forming a pseudopod.

I am suggesting in this essay that there was an additional unforeseen problem or flaw in the creation process. This relates to there not being a strong enough built-in measure of cohesive and integrative tendencies relative to the potential for dynamic expansion of the extensive individuations of the Light that makes nearly endless experiencing, learning, and spiritual evolution possible.

To phrase this a little differently, the unifying Oneness could be compared to a static and stable field whereby the dynamic forces of individuation and expansion (distancing and separation) can overwhelm the initial unifying oneness at some point down the chain of individuations of the spiritual Light of Creator.

This would also contribute to souls and other higher beings losing track of aspects of themselves since they are micro-holographic fragments of the greater One. A few recognized this and maintained a stronger linkage to Source, while most blithely descended into density and spread themselves wherever possible in their quest of learning and experiencing.

Throughout the vast expanse of The All, the Higher Oneness infuses a state of non-duality and interconnectivity. Thus there would be little or no basis for “concern” over whether there was a sufficient fail safe energy or “innate sense” to maintain connection to high cosmic Source. One could say it (non-duality) was a “safe environment” for spiritual beings to spread out through. As such, this principle carries over to the Soul and other higher level beings.

This relatively benign situation changed drastically upon contact with the Dark Error and interaction in the fallen realm it dominates. The fundamental *operating system, rules of co-existence and creation of the Dark are essentially and practically anti-Creation. Spiritual Intelligences that only knew non-duality and Oneness with Diversity (or Diversity within Oneness) were mostly unprepared and thus unable to function in an environment based upon conflictual-duality and self-centeredness. Both the “game” and its “rules” were stacked against them.

One of the effects from involvement within this realm of the “fallen” creation was a greatly diminished connection to Source leading to a diminishing of connectivity between soul/higher level being and its projections into lower levels, including humans. Another effect of involvement in the fallen realm led to depletion or damage to various levels of the energy bodies of higher level beings, especially at the level of their earthly projections.

One response of those spiritual beings most involved with the situation of 3d density was to persist at entering 3d, again and again, to learn and understand what occurred. Many became addicted to the sensorial and emotional stimuli of 3d as if this were some infinite virtual reality game. Extended out over a long duration, this resulted in serious energy depletion as they descended into lower levels of vibration, often losing fragments of their energy in the process.

Eventually certain other types of beings were sent in to investigate because the overall “energy loss” was noticed at the highest levels of creation (true creation, not the false one of the Dark). Some of them became caught up in the difficulties, necessitating sending yet more after them to learn what was going on and eventually to lend assistance. Some opted to emphasize their individuation and “separateness” and joined the Dark.

The lower in density that spiritual beings enter, the unifying field of Oneness lessens in influence and the stronger becomes the relative attraction of separation and individuation. Some go into “free fall” to a fallen state –unless they can recall their Source connection and exercise what remains of their Spiritual Will. Most cannot and require rescue or death of their bodily vehicle. And even then the illusions-delusions-beliefs from their 3d existence continues to exert an influence.

Much of this we have explained in various essays over the years.

From the human-level point-of-view, it would be too facile to say that many soul beings/higher level beings failed to take adequate precautions and thus allowed themselves to be caught up in a dysfunctional addiction to human 3d existence. But then, the human-centric, human-level view is inherently limited.

The situation has been that most of these “higher level” or soul beings are naïve in many ways and it was not in their nature to expect such “trouble” from Dark forces.

Most importantly, in the very process of increasing individuation –especially downward into increasing density –there was an insufficient primary and fundamental attractor between the individuation and its higher level Self/soul being. This is a reflection of a similar problem between the Soul being/higher self and its connection to its high cosmic Source. While this does not apply uniformly nor does it apply to all such beings, it is my assessment that the problem does apply to the vast majority.

In the context of the relatively “safe”, native environment of non-duality, dissipation from “expansive dispersion” is not major a problem for those individuations of Creator –and in some ways may even facilitate their expansion and learning. However, for such a Being to become immersed in the dark or fallen regions of creation and at increasing depths of density, this dynamic contributes to an energy-depleting dissipative system that lacks the internal diagnostics and corrections to protect and counter offset a deleterious cosmic environment.

I cannot attribute the disconnection problem entirely to the influence of the dark forces as that would also be a facile human-based response. I suggest that this contributed to the vulnerability of non-duality creation and its agencies to encroachment by the Dark. That the dark forces are intrinsically predatory and parasitic makes this an exceptionally severe problem.

Spiritual Learning

Where is the integration of the essence of the learning from so many forays into various vibrational levels of existence?

So many beings have been unable to integrate into their higher levels what they acquired from 3d –and in many cases their collective “mind” remains scattered across myriad “experiencings”. This is a part of the dissipation problem. What fraction was affected by this: 10%, 50%, 90%, ...more? The problem is relative to the vibrational state that is being examined, thus there are no simple, easy answers.

At the highest level of individuation of a higher level being, there may not appear to be a major problem, but as we look closely into the lower levels where human existence is focused, the problem appears to affect and infect a very large majority.

Answers are often as complicated as the essence of the question may be simple.

As individuation becomes more discrete at lower levels of density –and farther out from local or cosmic Source –the pull of this individuation was not balanced by a proportional strengthening of the attractor of higher Oneness, whether of the local or cosmic Source. The dissipation of energies increased and the integration of ongoing spiritual learning was made more difficult to achieve. Overall, this made it all the easier for the Dark to take advantage of the situation.

Dissipation with Individuation: A 2nd Flaw in Creation?

In addition to the origin error or flaw which gave rise to a “Dark” anti-creation force, this problem of dissipation could be regarded as a 2nd flaw in the creation process. For those beings that emerged from the episodes of creating new individuations for the spark Creator, measures were not taken to ensure adequate mutual attraction between their individuation and Source –between individuation and Oneness –and for this realm, between duality and the higher Oneness. Perhaps this began as an “experiment”, but it was replicated and spread widely.

This problem is being addressed at the highest levels of Creation. It is my sense that there was initially some understanding of the problem as Creator began to explore outward past the great Void that it finds itself suspended in. (This is another story for another time.)

To my knowing, there was a sufficient understanding of this problem that made it possible for some higher level beings to take precautions when extending themselves into the lower levels of the Dark controlled zone. It was still a risky proposition, nevertheless.

New Creation, A “Clean Start”

Comparing the situation in this Creation to that of the New Creation matrix suggests that exquisite care is being taken in the process of new “individuations” from pristine levels of being. This involves continuous checking to maintain the needed integrative capacity at all levels and between all levels –and making sure that all facets of their “new beingness” are properly connected before pushing on into a new level of density or individuation. In many ways, “they” have the benefit of knowing what went wrong in this realm from so many unexpected problems. This is something I have discussed in over the years.

Delving Further into the Problem

One of the positive attributes of the human mind is its ability to focus and process detailed specific information and ideas as well as broad patterns and concepts. This is the basis for genuine “intelligence”, not facts and formulas. But if the information being processed is false or distorted, then the first task is to sort out truth from falsehood.

With the weakening of the Dark at so many levels, there should be more engagement between higher self/soul and human self, etc. And thus by now we should have had more reports of unequivocally successful breakthroughs.

Let's look at this further...

One of the kernels of a higher Truth that has been buried and obscured by human religions is the concept of the “Body of Light”, the “Resurrection”, “Glorification”, the “Glorified Body” (of Light), etc. (In the more recent era, social control memes such as “rapture” were introduced into many religious teachings and variations of it woven into the “religion” of the “new age” tendencies to make sure that as many as possible would be “captivated” or held in its thrall if they had “escaped” the grip of the major religions.

As might be expected, these concepts were corrupted and obscured. However, the expression “ascension” has come to be generally accepted by both religious and non-religious people who aspire to a “spiritual life”. “Glorification” tends to be more in the province of the formal religions. (“Rapture” is only a contemporary term that varies according to the “belief-attitude” of the user.)

Winding in and around the deliberate obscurare of these matters, one thing stands out: the notion of “escaping” or “transcending” biological death of the body-self and “ascending” beyond the abysmal “deathness” of the 3d existence of humans. As one's human awareness expands beyond the default state of self-imprisonment through delusion and illusion, there is a growing awareness of a state of spiritual self-imprisonment. It is not until there is sufficient expansion and connection with one's true origins as a spiritual being that the greater truth becomes more clear and one is no longer enthralled by speculations about the plans of the global elite or aliens enslaving humanity, etc.

One conceptual term associated with this all this is “Glorification”, a “linguistic marker” referring to the “glorifying” (that is, spiritually exalting) effects on the consciousness of the human Self when in a state of “God-Self Realization” and connecting with the realms of the higher light.

This is all about receiving or achieving a “Glorified Body of Light” and is simultaneous to the “glorification” of Creator of All.

Notions such as “Glorification” are deliberately intertwined with the dead doctrines of religions designed to reinforce the separation between individuation and higher Oneness, in a similar manner to the concocted worship of dead saints and avatars meant to reinforce a sense of separation. (For example, from the IOOW-2000 national social science research, USA adults were roughly divided in half over the question of whether “god/higher consciousness” was something separate from themselves or not.)

Oneness with Diversity – Diversity with Oneness

As we focus on our own process, it is even more important to detach from that which distracts from this. For some, they continue to pursue ambitions of “helping others”, saving the planet, etc. This is both self-centered arrogance and “Quixotic” naïvete. By focusing on your own expansion and ascension process, you will be helping many more in their own expansion and ascension –far more than you could from your ordinary human state of being.

Expressed differently, the problem is concentrated at the higher level beings and soul beings themselves –their aspects at levels, such as 3d human, are partly microcosms of this larger dynamic–and usually very self-centered at that.

One of the values of the human level of “thought” is the potential to focus on details and to follow through with details. While this has limitations in terms of capacity for expansion into Oneness, the power of individuation – when it is acting out of Higher Service –represents a potentially important contributor to its own higher level of being. From that more concentrated state, which generally spans multiple vibrational states, so much more can be done to aid in the overall cosmic “corrections” process and Creator Itself.

The “new age” variations on traditionally religious themes such as “glorification”, “resurrection”, and “transfiguration” tend to be framed and regarded by the limited and self-centered human mind-self as something “for themselves” with little regard to the larger questions nor to the larger potential to be of Greater Service to Source, etc. While this is understandable given the context of the human level of Self, it can feed a desire for supranormal abilities and amplifies human-level individuation and self-centered indulgence to a higher level. This is a problem with many higher level beings who have human presences. The “everything is light and happiness” gloss and glibness of “new age” spokespeople just adds to this self-centeredness.

Of course there is no problem or issue with wanting “to go Home” to one’s true Self, to one’s true origins as a spiritual being. It is, after all, an important motive –an imperative even –for many who are spiritually awakened.

To recapitulate, there simply is insufficient attention to considering ways to be of higher service, to help in the larger process of the recall of the Light to Source which has been an overriding concern of Prime Creator. This is a problem with the level of the human aspects as well as with the higher level/soul being.

An example of this can be seen in the distorted or fractured relationship between many human level Selves and their own higher level/soul being. Their human level cries out for rescue, for release from the torments of a degenerating human world existence.

Where is the tangible support and aid from one’s own higher levels? Where is the focus of mind toward completion and spiritual learning by one’s human level of Self that will contribute to ones’ greater level of being? At either or both levels of being, where is the focus on connecting with and retrieving those latent reserves of spiritual energy?

There is no point in attributing “blame” since there is enough mutual responsibility to go around. Higher level beings tend to act irresponsibly by persisting in the virtual reality of human existence, while their human level aspects have a diminishing capacity for clear minded informed choices with regard to much of anything, even the most mundane. The higher level beings either lack the ability to extricate themselves –either by facilitating an increase in spiritual Oneness –or by extracting/extricating their aspects from the lower densities. Eventually they become seriously mired and begin losing energy.

Soon enough, the dissipation problem will have become so extreme that there will be a severe depletion of spiritual energy for the human level aspect as well as its higher levels of being.

This is partly why a “rescue” and “retrieval” is underway, facilitated from yet higher levels of beings and staged in phases to give the greatest possible outcomes in connection with the larger “corrections process”.

In order to continue on as an individuation of that spark of Light, it may become necessary to extract what energy is possible and delete or jettison certain levels or aspects of one’s larger level of being. -- For the human level, this would pertain mainly to its lower aspects and portions of the human level subtle bodies. -- For the higher level/soul being of the human Self, there may also be the necessity to retrieve what can be and to dissolve those lower levels that it cannot be retrieved or reintegrated into a unified field. It is even possible that the human level aspect may become subject to dissolution in some situations.

I realize this may be a hard thing for many to consider and fewer to accept, but this is my description of where things are headed soon if there is too little focus paid to the true Light and the call of Creator of All.

Soon enough, there will be that choice in a moment of catastrophic crisis when each will come to find either the Absolute or the Abyss.

In Summary

This essay is directed to the human Self as well as the human Self’s higher level being. Whatever the words that one proffers to represent the higher energies and effects, there is a singular problem at the human level, generally without regard to religious-spiritual beliefs.

Superficially the problem can be described as that of self-centeredness, but the very notion of self-centeredness must be expanded beyond the mere petty version of the human ego self. The focus of this is identified with the nature of a level of limited awareness that is the human-centric, “human-identified-human” perspective. This point-of-view is not only limited in its dimensionality (3d dimensional physicality in linear time) but is even more limited by virtue of its innate self-centeredness based upon both excessive individuation into density and the dissipation of the higher Oneness that occurs at these lower levels thus reinforcing a state of relative separation from Source.

The “as below” human level has its counterpart in the “as above” levels as well, partly based upon the extensive individuations of Source and partly upon the error of the Dark, and it exists at many levels of spiritual intelligence far beyond human.

The better one can understand this, the more one will be able to assimilate and contribute to one’s greater being ...and more. This is about engaging the potential of the human level mind to embrace and integrate expanded/ascended states of consciousness.

The consciousness of non-duality and higher Oneness can be very disturbing to many human minds that are programmed and singularly inured to individualism of the separate self. But it was always intended to embrace infinite diversity within the context of a higher Oneness. Such is its self-regulating nature that conflictual-duality does not dominate the higher realms. There are also those principles of the “new creation” which we have described and framed in simple human terms in previous essays. These principles can be applied to the remaking and rejuvenation of this Creation while working to extricate as much of its Light from the entwine of the Dark. They begin with the high “Trust”, a manifestation of the Higher Oneness through diverse individuations. (See End note # )

What we are most concerned with here is the transformation or transfer of spiritual consciousness to the higher vessel of light that is defined primarily in accord with the vibrational state and corresponding energy capacity of the consciousness which inhabits it. In most instances the human biological body is left behind.

When one has consolidated their energy at a higher level of being than 3d human, it is possible to consider the larger picture and what one’s role as a being of light could be. This is no guarantee against falsehoods and misdirection of course as evidenced from the endless stream of rubbish from entities claiming to be “ascended masters”. However, it is at these higher levels that the consolidation of learning can occur. Those closest to the “ground level” can be of great service in the larger process of correcting and rejuvenating Creation and in aiding Prime Creator in its process.

Over the years we have advised spiritual aspirants to work on their own process and achieve those higher level breakthroughs themselves. At the same time we have cautioned against throwing away or dissipating their nascent spiritual energies they have concentrated to endless “black holes” of social or political causes. In so doing, one can and will be in a position of greater capacity to help and work with other human and higher level beings working toward their own reconnection. In short, one can be more effective in “spiritual service” to whatever levels of creation they are most focused on.

Those who are so caught up in the human-centric social “causes” are objectively indulging in a type of self-centered hubris imagining they are going to “make a difference” –or that collectively some humans can effect such a change without benefit of an ascended state of being. Good intentions aside, all these “causes” simply serve to patch up or otherwise reinforce the control systems and usually do more harm than good to the very object of the stated purposes of said cause.

With the foregoing as summary, there is the problem of the personalization of these concepts at the human levels. The more banal or vulgar application of this co-opts spiritual energies for personal aggrandizement, often with imagined “high” intents and purposes. This dynamic of self-centeredness tends to be mutually self-reinforcing with the extant state of separation from Source.

All this relate to the larger cosmic problem of “dissipation”, a poorly understood oversight or error in Creation in which the attraction of individuation or separateness overtakes the attraction of higher Oneness.

And in concluding...

I wish to say again that Creator of All is Calling All of Itself Home...

This does not mean the end of manifest reality here or elsewhere. I wish to emphasize that this is “call” is first and foremost about the reconnection of the Light That has Its Origins with Creator. For human levels of spiritual consciousness this means reconnection and ascension to its originating higher level of being –and vice versa. This helps a greater critical concentration of the light energy and consciousness that can be focused properly. This cannot happen under the present situation.

The ultimate bifurcation is being presented:

What is one’s choice as a spiritually-oriented being in Earthly density:

Higher Oneness and Creator ...or an isolated existence in lower density.

Until the greater being that is the true “You” has integrated more of its learning and evolved further, the practical choice is really this simple.

One or the other.

Under the present situation, the vast majority of humans have only their default existence that is fairly obviously laid out before them with minor variations.

Those who are aware of their “threshold to spiritualization” have the capacity for spiritual choice.

The human Self level of greater “you” can and must play a role in this process and not sit by passively “waiting for the end”. After all, human “you” is part of the greater “You”, and as such all of “you” has an active role to play in making this momentous choice but also to contribute to the spiritual evolution of your own greater level of Being.

To end as we began:

Within the context of the overall “dissipation problem” –as the originating highest level of individuation from Creator which has the capacity to extends itself across creation and descend portions of Itself into density –the tendency toward individuation tends to increase in its influence and can overwhelm the more stable and static connection to the higher Oneness. Individuation and Higher Oneness become functionally detached at the foundation of Duality –and when taken to the extreme, becomes the basis for antagonistic conflictual-duality. When this develops to its extreme, it is fundamentally an anti-Creation/anti-Creator force –in other words, the locus of the Dark Forces.

Non-duality creation has self-regulating qualities from the unifying field of higher Oneness flowing through it, and thus all manner of things can be experimented with tested and tried. Some things do not work out and they are changed or removed, etc. This is in the context of non-duality, rather than antagonistic conflictual-duality which is closely associated with the Dark error and that of individuation that lacks a sufficient counter-balancing dynamic of Oneness.

The point here is that this entire dynamic between spiritual beings and a corrupted fallen order of existence must stop.

It is possible to reintroduce a relationship between higher order being and a personal/social density embodiment –in a realm where a type of duality can be experienced yet not be dominated by conflict, predation, and parasitism –and become isolated through separation from Source.

One example would be the “new earth” in all its variations through the cosmos.

In addition there are other approaches, one of which would be the pristine creation space we have described before in where there is no rush to form physical 3d like individuations by higher level beings. And of course there would be “new earth” like situations that exist in the space of true Creation and Higher Oneness –non duality space and non-duality consciousness –yet still there is individuation.

A Brief Recapitulation

November 1, 2013

To recapitulate main points here:

- Dissipation
- Individuation
- Self-centeredness (naturally associated with individuation process)

- Weakening attractor of the higher oneness field relative to the strengthening of the individuation-dissipation dynamic that reinforces the problem of separation

- Coinciding with “Dark force” reinforces all of the above and makes predation, parasitism, antagonistic conflict the norm.

- The human and other physical vehicles, including the planetary body itself, are products of the Dark force distortions and manifested to serve the agendas of the Dark.

- Such fundamentally flawed structures resist spiritual rehabilitation and transformation –and the spiritual intelligences that came to reside in these forms were, for the most part, ill-equipped and vulnerable to the ravages of the Dark forces through these forms.

- Many structures in this zone of creation are based upon Divine Intentions and Templates that were co-opted and utilized by the Dark.

- That which cannot be restored or upgraded and integrated into true Creation can be closely quarantined or dissolved.

Service to the Light

The “glorification” of the individual being is more than “merely” its resurrection to “lightbody” or beyond that even. It is also of service to Creator. This last point is one of the religious mysteries that are seldom discussed.

What is this “service”? It is to assist in the collection, recollection, the calling in of the Light of Creator to Itself.

The human level is perhaps the lowest density at which this consciousness has some residual or latent capacity to deliberately re-engage itself. Most humans have a very low “light quotient” and many who are spiritually oriented carelessly and heedlessly dissipate their spiritual energies in a situation where spiritual depletion is already occurring. Try as they may, there does not seem to be a good signal between them and their higher origins. In some cases it is as if the “engine” is stalled and the “battery” cables are corroded.

Initially the “rescue” and “retrieval” priority will be those with the highest light quotient potentials and sudden emergency situations.

Collectively, the human Self rejoined with its origins will have greater energy and spiritual knowledge with which to help with the larger work of aiding many more seemingly stuck in their human levels and to help those soul/higher levels as well.

One might call this a convocation of the higher level beings and soul beings.

The locus of consciousness for each being is its supramental Self, its true Christ consciousness. Once this is “ignited” then there is a stronger basis to address the more far-reaching concerns.

This is one of the preferred paths for ascension now.

#3 Problems of Individuation

One of the problems of the higher level/soul being is found in the problem of dissipation and its own level of individuation that has its origins in the individuations Creator of All.

The problem, as we discuss in “Problems of Dissipation”, can now be seen as related to the lack of a dynamic Higher Oneness counterforce to expanding individuations of the Original Light. The Higher Oneness permeates The All and has mainly been excluded in the fallen realms under Dark influence or control. In the realms of non-duality, a pervasive field of this unity consciousness has generally served its purpose and has been reinforced by the cosmic Love of Creator for Creation –a universal bonding force –the ultimate unified field. However as the expansion of the individuations grew and spread, it would seem as if the unified field of non-duality –Oneness –had a static or non-dynamic quality to it that was unable to exert a near real time counter force to the dissipative dynamic of individuation.

Thus whatever can be done is needed now –even from the human level –to tap into the inner reserves of the Cosmic Light to spark a stronger mutual attraction with one’s higher levels.

And it is possible for a spiritual human Self to play an active part in the Cosmic Reconnection, but this usually requires one to exclude all but the most essential of those distractions associated with the human level.

There is a “saving grace” to all this –and I have mentioned this in the context of a widespread NDE –there is a type of built in humility that occurs upon reconnection with the higher Light –it is “spiritual awe” and “spiritual expansion” that occurs in that moment of meeting one’s own microcosm of the “Christ Consciousness”. Then there is the higher free will and from there, higher choices and attractors.

Exploring Disparate Realms of Existence

Even for those who have reached their own “threshold of spiritualization”, it is very difficult to comprehend the complexity and difficulty of creating and expanding/extending a unifying field from higher levels of Creation –which are unaffected by the Dark –into those regions and levels that are under the Dark influence.

There is the fundamental incompatibility between the basic “operating system” environment of the Dark and that of the Light.

One simplistic example would be a headquarters on one planet and new colonies on another. Communication take place at a circuitous or distorted version of “light speed” due to highly restricted direct connection between these disparate “places” (vibrational states). The information signals become distorted or garbled.

For example, imagine that “headquarters” develops new ideas, but those beings who go forth to prepare or to implement these find conditions are not as expected and have trouble explaining how different things are and what the problems are. In addition to the problem of communicating new information from the field to headquarters, there is an eventual and additional problem of how to implement anything. New plans are made, new groups of “line managers” sent out to establish work details, work details need to develop their own levels of oversight and coordination, etc. As communications are difficult, many field decisions are tried without adequate understanding at any of these levels. This results in counter-productive chaos and confusion.

For another simple example, imagine a space launch from Earth. Plans are made to achieve agreed upon goals. Designs are made. Fabrication of material stuff commences. Things begin to come together. Eventually more of the public gathers to see how the new launch vehicle is coming along. Launch crews gather. Everyone thinks most things are ready. But no one was aware that the fellow who fills the gas tank called in sick and their backup person was unavailable. Worse yet, unbeknownst to those Earthside, the target location for the launch is subject to dimensional distortions that those Earthside have no idea exist. So the launch proceeds as planned but upon approach, the situation is not what was anticipated and there is little basis for successful improvisation the first time around.

Fortunately the “correction energies” have been implemented to aid in correcting the overall trajectory and plans during the period of “travel”.

Lassitude of Higher Level and Soul Beings

There have been many rationales and enticements used to trick beings of the true Light into believing that human life was most important above all else and that “death” at their human level of descent was something to fear, etc. Even more importantly was the illusion that the only way for higher level/soul beings to evolve spiritually was to continually reincarnate as humans, with some interludes in between embodiments.

Many beliefs systems were developed for the human level of limited awareness to use in maintaining their own imprisonment and relative isolation from their true nature. At the lower levels, especially 4th, 3rd, and lower levels, there were various ways for Dark influences to infiltrate the consciousness of higher level beings. One of these way is through the human vehicle. These became like a pathogenic virus or a cancer that would continually adapt and replicate.

Lacking sufficient internal self-regulation and discernment, too many soul beings went along with this. Once “hooked’ into the positive and negative stimuli of human density, they became enthralled like an addict.

I am aware of a belief among some who seem to be more spiritually informed than most. This belief generally centers around believing that it is a requirement, an innate impulse, perhaps a “directive” of some sort, that higher level/soul beings are somehow obliged or impelled to continually incarnate in an 3d animal like form, usually with some interlude between incarnations.

To the contrary, I am not aware that this is the case and therefore object to such “presumptive errors” and distortions.

In this and the other concluding essays and others, I have commented on the existence of a gap or inculcated limitation of higher levels being that tends to narrow their focus to human or human-like 3d level existences, precluding them from accessing wider potentials and avenues for exploration of creation.

These other avenues can be are more enriching and more stimulating and complete than the inherently limited and deliberately constrained awareness and functionality of 3d human and comparable 3d animal forms.

To my knowing there is no such requirement that a higher level being must incarnate into a lower density form –and be locked in to such an embodiment until that form ceases to function.

“Time” and biological lifespans on earth are not experienced by higher levels in the same way their human levels experienced the passage of time while embodied. Traumas at the human levels were not felt or understood higher up, and on it went.

This has been discussed in various contexts in our published essays, including those from the second half of 2009 to present.

#6 Ascension and Dissipation

From the perspective of the “high compassion” it is easier to comprehend how most human selfs would prefer to hear stories about being able to literally walk out of this realm, nice and easy, compliments of space aliens, or their physical bodies “disapparating” from Earthly 3d and “reapparating” in a “paradise”. All quite understandable. (And I do not doubt there will be instances of such phenomena!)

These “happy fairy-tale” descriptions are imbedded in modern new age lore, and have nothing to do with the deeper problems of spiritual evolution and the cosmic-scale processes aimed at correcting the error of the Dark. Just because a human self says they hate their life and want to go to heaven, ascend, rapture, etc. does not mean they can or will “ascend” to a higher plane of being. Of course when their bodily vessel ceases to function, they will be forced out and need to go somewhere. Perhaps adrift in the astral, perhaps their higher level being will “take care of them”. Or perhaps they will be joined with some alien ET types, of benign or benevolent intentions.

Everything is governed by vibrational states and corresponding states in the evolution of spiritual consciousness.

This latter facet point is of absolute importance, yet is ignored or glossed over by most spiritual aspirants who do not want to consider that the “ascended master” realm has been cultivated by the Dark forces as a trap for the potentially more capable and evolved human Selves. It also explains how it is that Dark entities can appear as “light beings” or “magical creatures”. Some of the most “cherished” of spiritual mythologies have been deliberate deceptions. These wishful beliefs are reinforced through socially or genetically “engineered weak-mindedness” with a corresponding inability to discern truth through critical thinking.

Implicit in most of these notions is that anything (including human delusions and the dark forces) can change “like magic”, with no need to pay attention or work at learning about the dynamics of a fallen realm, or learning about the limitations (and failings) of one’s own higher level being, or how so many have been deceived at various levels of their greater being.

Humans have been habituated to various types of mental laziness that has become pandemic with severe implications in the context of dissipation of spiritual energies in this realm.

All illusions and delusions must be removed in order for spiritual evolution to develop and to free the true Light from the embrace of the Dark. This is occurring concurrently now, but for those human level selves who do not “get the message” and persist in denial or delusions, they (and their greater being) will experience a very “arduous learning process”.

The “GIGO” Principle in a Nutshell: (Garbage In, Garbage Out)

Notes from April 2013

(“GIGO” is a self-explanatory term and has come to be known today in the context of computing and information systems.)

Higher spiritual levels of being only know what it is like at lower levels of density, especially that of “3d”, through having had a human presence –or impressions conveyed through other beings that have had the experience. This includes the total of whatever has been “learned” through their previous 3d presences. Take a moment and reflect on the implications of this in the context of a “GIGO principle” operating at spiritual levels.

Consider how very little the vast majority of humans know in term of meaningful human knowledge and how little capacity there is to comprehend anything. Humans today have little to no idea how to maintain much of anything required for the maintenance of their own human life. At the collective level of what is referred to as “civilization”, there is no capacity left and the downward slide into entropic decay and decrepitude is accelerating at an increasing rate now. This applies to human and the planetary biology as well as the artifices of “civilization”.

Over the recent decades IQ (intelligence quotient) values have fallen, along with the capacity to handle simple things in contemporary society like reading, writing, math, etc. While attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder has been admitted to not really be a “genuine” psychopathology, the fact that it is recognized as a problem is a significant indicator of a type of collective dementia, exacerbated by a toxic environment that favors disposable robotic-like humans.

When one considers the appalling lack of discernment among so many spiritually-oriented people, then it is possible to see how pervasive the problems are at both the human level as well as the higher levels that rely upon a type of “knowledge transfer” from their 3d levels to their upper levels. Like the standardized IQ testing (intelligence quotient), these are only symptomatic indicators of a more profound situation of a functionally retarded basic human awareness and a functionally retarded genuine (spiritual) consciousness. This has not changed much over thousands of years.

Of course some humans have been motivated by evidence of the collapse of civilization to learn useful skills in order to survive out of various imagined motives. But humans have no adequate existential framework in which to place themselves and have no sense of the present day situation on this planet. In other words humans will be thrust into a dystopian mixture of medieval era existence under a techno-fascistic society that serves the higher levels of an elite. This might be disturbing enough, but the planetary conditions of a dispersed and low human population and relatively untouched wildernesses no longer exist for those imagining themselves “living off the land”.

Thus “survival prepping” is little more than the efforts of very clever animals who are desperately running a long treadmill to nowhere imagining it to actually be a road to somewhere.

Without looking at all this in its larger context or frame of reference, it is easy to fall into a default condition of “presumptive error”. Only a spiritual cosmic perspective can properly inform and guide, nothing less.

Pursuit of Spiritual Power

A few individuals who have been in correspondence with me over the years have been pursuing their own versions of acquiring “spiritual powers”. In all instances they intend for their motives to be noble and high –to help others, etc. –battle the dark, etc. Yet they cannot understand that as long as this is their focus, they will not attain these powers while humanly embodied. One of the reasons for this is the latent “christ consciousness” that is of the original spark of Light they carry and which has a correspondence in their own higher level of being as well. I find this state of being, of consciousness, comparable to the supramental state –and it is uniquely coded or keyed so that it is not possible to misuse it, even inadvertently. Well, that is my version of it.

In most instances when individuals became obsessed (and possessed) with the pursuit of spiritual powers, they eventually “fall” (under the influence of the Dark), one way or another.

Rare few have taken the time to understand the lessons learned and warnings from those such as Mirra and Aurobindo based upon their own exploration of the supramentalization (divinization/glorification) of the human level of being and Earthly matter. Invariably my cautions are usually dismissed or ignored as well.

I mention all this here as segue to the intertwined problem of the spiritual dissipation and the extensive individuations of Creator –and the state of the human-level of awareness that seeks their own “threshold of spiritualization” (or the “outer court” as Merrell-Wolff expressed it).

These are part of the factors as to why there has been no noticeable ascension, rapture, or whatever you want to call it to date.

Those who spiritually thrive and expand in their process, eventually find there is a noticeable disparity as they compare between their knowledge of 3d density and their stronger connection to the highest of The All.

This disparity appears through many variations on a common theme involving intermediate range high-level beings that do not have a human-earth presence or direct linkup and those who are involved with facilitating the many levels of changes required for the larger cosmic corrections process, of which Earth is a part. It is at these higher levels that there is a paucity of accurately informed insight into the specific problems to bring about workable solutions.

These higher level intermediate beings are “on duty” for service to Creator, –but to whom do they report, in practice? What are their specific missions? How are they going about this?

If the direction from the highest levels is insufficient in detail, those beings at these higher levels are sufficiently individuated that they can then “improvise”. The result has been an ongoing mishmash of potentially contradictory and possibly dead-end actions. And this has been an ongoing problem with poor quality “information” and “insight” streaming in/up from the lower levels from beings that are barely aware of the extent of illusionary and delusionary existence they have been immersed in. (See section on the “GIGO” (garbage in-garbage-out) problem which is only now being addressed in the higher realms.)

These are all reasons that the ascension and extraction from 3d by those who have the most to offer is of great importance to bridge this gap.

From all this, it would be understandable to wonder about the “competency” of the various levels of spiritual realms version of “upper management” –it shares similar dynamics with those of complex organizations in human society.

The high level/soul beings (your own higher level being) that have human presences are generally not in a position to make these changes, but do have the closest connection to the human-Earth situation. They remain mired with too little internal or collective coherency as we discussed in essays at the end of 2009 and early 2010.

One of the benefits of the human mind is its ability to focus and process detailed specific information and ideas as well as broad patterns and concepts. This is the basis for genuine “intelligence”, not facts and formulas. But if the information being processed is false or distorted, then the first task become one of sorting out truth from falsehood.

This ability to focus also extends to spiritual energies. This is yet another reason why we have shared the crystal body series and the advanced short form version. Alternately, one can rely more on pure focused intent. But focused intent it easier said than done, some structure often helps and that is where the short form exercises can be beneficial.

Presumptive Error

One example is to presume that 3d material density is the only or best way to learn and explore and help the processes of Creation. This can be a disastrous error whose basis for presumption is delusory thinking about an illusionary existence.

Spiritual Depletion & Death by Delusion

There are risks for light beings to become energetically depleted by remaining in this realm too long. This is another factor that makes it necessary to speed up the cosmic “corrections process” and bring this dysfunctional spiritual dynamic to an end –and to do so while facilitating as much spiritual learning as possible to be achieved on behalf of the greatest possible number of beings. (This statement may appear somewhat equivocating, but it is not and is the most accurate summary description I can offer. It should be obvious from this that such a “directive” requires constant adjustments to be as optimal as possible. The situation requires constant feedback from all vibrational levels which are involved, not just 3d.)

This especially applies to those beings with human presences and to those human presences who are unable to exercise sufficient willpower to detach and focus on what they imagine could be very important: that they are not human beings, but rather spiritual beings who have become deluded with the illusions and limitations of 3d human existence. Those that understand this, eventually come to know that it is of the utmost importance to their spiritual survival and spiritual growth and ascension.

In previous essays I have discussed many facets of the problems of ascension as well as completion, detachment and the high attractor. It is in this context that I have discussed the importance of an inner dialogue with your lower or basic human self, particularly with regard to your completions and high attractors. Your lower level self can assist in making available additional spiritually refined energy needed to make a more expansive reconnection with your own higher levels of being.

At the human level there is the problem of the “falsehood of limitation” that you are really a “human” creature that is part of some extended “community” of other human creatures, ranging from your familial gene pool, circles of acquaintances, and those wider social control systems such as religious, gender, ethnic, racial, national, and, various other belief systems. (Many of these we detailed in the national social science research work from 2000.)

Humans became inured to the social control memes and came to accept them as “normal”. This is delusionary and it is at the basis of the human-level of self-imprisonment process that has been skillfully engineered by social controllers for many centuries.

It takes a substantial effort and will to develop, maintain, and strengthen the spiritual energies available to the human level. This is impeded by social control systems designed to dissipate this and to prevent any significant “prison breakout”. So-called “positive” social-political causes only dissipate and siphon energy from the human spiritual Self. Through a serious lack of discernment too many will throw away their nascent spiritual energies in favor of falsehoods and futility.

If one suffers under the illusions of an existence based upon human-identified-human – (these present differently at your high levels than they do from your human level) – then this becomes delusionary. If one passively or actively allows oneself to become too attached to the illusions and delusions, then one’s spiritual attractors tend to dissipate and fade.

Remaining too long in a dying human civilization can result in a serious depletion of spiritual energies and then one is left waiting to be “rescued”.

In the short term, “rescue” is focused upon those emergency situations and upon those with the highest “light quotient potentials”. Why this latter criteria? It is, as we have pointed out in various contexts, about those who have the greatest capacity and can therefore be of the most assistance to the overall transformation process through their higher level of being where a concentration of spiritual energies can best be focused.

There can be duality within Oneness. But not of the same nature as that which exists here in the fallen sector. Here, duality is a self-centered dynamic of antagonistic conflict.

The ascension process is of great importance –to recall, reconnect all the energy possible in ways that will support and facilitate the larger processes of transformation and correction –not just one’s own development as a spiritual being. Ideally these two goals or high aspirations should never be in contradiction with one another.

#11 Dispelling a Grand Delusion

From the perspective of the “High Compassion” it is easier to understand how most humans prefer stories about being able to literally walk out of this realm, nice and easy, perhaps compliments of “friendly ET aliens”, or perhaps imagining their physical bodies disappearing from Earthly 3d. All quite understandable. (And there may well be those instances of such phenomena!)

However, the “happy fairy-tale” descriptions imbedded in modern new age lore only mask and obscure the deeper problems of spiritual development and the cosmic-scale processes working to correct the “Error of the Dark”. Implicit in most of these notions is that anything (including human delusions) can change “like magic”, with no need to learn anything. Thus existing levels of delusion, ignorance and stupidity become elevated to a higher dimensional versions of a new “golden age” on some imaginary “new earth”.

At the very best, those who maintain such beliefs as they transition from 3d human existence will be relegated to some safe quarantine zone where they can re-live something of their illusions from Earthly 3d (those “Kodak moments”) or actually learn something of value for their evolution as a spiritual being.

The level of infection from the human 3d level is a serious problem among a majority of higher level/soul beings that have been vicariously “acting out” through human hosts.

One saving Grace of all this is that in the moments of greatest existential catastrophe, human level Selves and their higher level Being will have the choice as to whether they choose Creator of All or not.

All illusions and delusions must be removed for spiritual evolution and for freeing the true Light from the embrace of the Dark.

#12 Further Thoughts on the “Human Question”

November 2, 2013

The “The Human Question” begins as follows: “ ‘Modern humans’ began as tribal-social animals with a capacity for self-centeredness. Social programming has shifted humans more toward self-centered, social-tribal animals, with only the rarest of exceptions.”

(Original essay: <http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/The%20Human%20Question.pdf>)

Among those in the latter portion of their probable human lifespan, there are far too many still “under the influence” of psychological aberrations from childhood involving siblings, parents, various relatives, and the immediate social environs in which they found themselves as a young person.

During adulthood, there is more widespread social control programming arising from one’s direct personal interactions as well as from global mass mind control systems. Some of these deliberately reinforce positive or negative conditioning from childhood.

The human emotional energy body is a primary interface for the control and influence over human level of awareness and this infects levels above as well. Humans also parasitize energy from one another, as well as to infect one another energetically. Usually this is an unconscious effect, but there are those who engage in these types of attacks deliberately.

All of the above represent a comprehensive range of degenerating downward effects, ranging from genetic-familial tribal situations to the infection of social programming from personal peers as well as the overall mass mind control processes.

Whether one rejects or embraces any of these positive or negative influences, they are all nonetheless powerful forces that bind the human level of spiritual Self to a low level of existence.

The key is to recognize these things for what they are, appreciate whatever there may be to appreciate, reject whatever there is to reject, but to do so from a position of equanimity and detachment –from a position of ones higher consciousness that has no need to “react”.

Failure to do this, there will leave countless fine threads continually pulling at you to keep you held down and captive in a type of spiritual stasis that leads to spiritual depletion.

#13 Tearing Down the Theater

Imagine an audience in a theater. They have been taking part in a virtual reality movie and they no longer remember that they are so involved in a nearly endless loop, set up with variations on the same themes, over and over and over. They are watching the action as well as participating in it. Newcomers may show up over time and they become mesmerized and drawn in to this as well.

Some may be deluding themselves into staying in the virtual reality by imagining they are “creating” or that they are “creators” --some may be immersed in suffering and torment while others are immersed in some “new age”. However, those who are looking from outside the theatre see the situation otherwise for what it is. We are at a point where the theatre needs to be torn down to end the movie and to let the higher Light in and to let the trapped Light out to reconnect with its true origins.

The Spiritual Sovereignty Problem

Many science-fiction stories have addressed various facets of sentience in relations to definition of “sovereign rights” of artificial life forms, encounters with alien entities, etc. Sometimes this has involved new forms of organic or inorganic life that is encountered in the far reaches of space. Other times the focus has been upon something closer to humans: the creation of autonomous artificial intelligence –and more specifically, android forms of this. One notable example was portrayed through the character of “Commander Data” in the television and movie series “Star Trek, Next Generation”.

One of the problems being examined at the intermediate higher realms concerns the “sovereignty” of humans as a self-aware animal. This is related, yet separate matter from the consciousness that forms the actual human “Self” and which has its origins with the soul or other higher level being that has a presence through the human vehicle.

Where there are fragments of the spiritual Self that become detached from its origins and are not retrieved (for whatever the factors), then there is a stronger potential for there to be an isolated human Self that is coupled with its human host’s lower self. Similar situations occur with non-human animals as well, but our focus is on the spiritual human situation.

With regard to the human animal level, one reason it is given special consideration over other highly developed animal life forms on Earth is the long history of spiritual consciousnesses interacting through human form. Thus there is familiarity and even some habituation to this mode of existence.

With regard to the separated human Self that lacks a connection to its spiritual origins, there is the problem of engendering a variation on the original Dark error, one that arises out of the material life form and fragmented spiritual consciousness.

It is here that we are noticing the development of spiritual nihilism on this planet. This spiritual nihilism may ostensibly reject both Dark and the Light for now, but overall it is preconfigured to gestate a new Dark force consciousness that rejects Creator and higher Oneness. Indeed, those with spiritual awareness that are advocates of this are aligned with the ancient Luciferic tendencies.

At the very least, it would be spiritually irresponsible on the part of the higher realms to allow such a situation to grow

#15 The “Left Behind” Problem

Note: This expression has also been associated with a series of fiction books of a similar name that describe “the rapture” (comparable to some notions of “ascension”) and of those who are “left behind” in human embodiment, and all that ensues. I have absolutely no interest or intention in promoting or invoking the malefic energies of any religious fundamentalists, however it is worth noting that this is yet another example of “new age” and various old-line religious beliefs becoming intertwined.

I bring this up in a similar manner as I did reframing the expression “In His Image” to partly counter the distortions of the material presented in a recent book similarly titled, only with a negation of the expression. (See link: <http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic,1416.msg6066.html#msg6066>)

In previous essays I have discussed the problem of large numbers of humans remaining on Earth in a state of relative isolation from higher spiritual intelligences (including their own) and of the dangers of the nascent spiritual nihilism in this period, coupled with the severely limited, human-centric point of view. The main risk of all this, as I have explained in other essays, is that it provides a basis and an impetus for a new variation of the original Cosmic Error that gave rise to the Dark forces –this time through the level of human awareness. In addition to the usual naïve characters that promote these things, as a social tendency it is worth noting that this human-centric (“human sovereignty”) is supported by those allied with the initial “luciferian rebellion”.

To my knowing there is no “reason” to allow such a situation to develop and to do so would be spiritually irresponsible. The two factors that I am aware would be a prolonged inability to complete the “corrections” process here to fundamentally alter the situation here –and that of those spiritual beings that imagine there is some good reason for spiritual beings to witness the demise and suffering of their human aspects –perhaps to disabuse them of pursuing a fallen path again. There is no good reason to pursue a course of “learning by negative lesson” –it has not worked to date and at best teaches avoidance, not true Knowing.

Regardless of the causative factors, Creator of All will need to directly and fully take charge of the situation.

A Larger Point of View

In examining many of the problems of developing spiritual consciousness at the human level, it is important to stretch one’s horizons and consider that higher realms of existence connect in with upper levels of the higher level/soul beings that have human presences.

Just as it is with discrete human points of view, there are various “schools of thought” and agendas in the intermediate range of spiritual existence that has overall responsibility for the corrections and helping to regulate or guide creation. These “higher realms” of beings are not some monolithic integrated or otherwise unified point of view with regard to the resolution of the overall human-earth problem situation. Why is this? Partly because of the innate qualities of individuation accorded to our greater being from its inception. And partly due to the distorted information that has been influenced by the Dark forces and the entire situation itself. This becomes a type of self-perpetuating feedback “loop” with variations. It would be an “as above” version of the Earthly 3d social control systems of self-managing imprisonment in a state of delusion.

It is this manner of larger perspective that is needed in order to dispassionately consider the larger field of being and the problem of lower density spiritual existence on Earth. Without this expanded awareness, there is only the default of the narrow human-centric judgmental reactive attitudes based upon conflict-duality and self-centeredness.

Change of State ≠ Change of Consciousness

It is important to bear in mind that just because one may transfer to a lightbody state does not mean that they are omniscient, nor does it mean they are instantly in non-duality reality. A change of state does not equate to a change of consciousness. One example is seen with the falsehood of “ascended masters”.

Theirs is only a transitional state that was co-opted by the dark forces –and one in which the retained beliefs from human density, the problems of dissipation and individuation, etc. persist through certain “higher levels” of being and consciousness.

One of the first things that change for those who depart 3d existence is that they are no longer subject to the endless discomfitures of demands of a biological animal form.

What one does with their growing higher vibrational state of being is a matter of internal discussion for you and the rest of your greater Self –and to explore new possibilities with others who are at compatible vibrational states.

#18 Faith

“God has not called me to be successful. He has called me to be faithful.”

-from the recent essay “Accomplishments and Fulfillment: What is Spiritually Real?”
<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php/topic.1416.msg6167.html#msg6167>

Only a small fraction of human Selves today have a spiritual consciousness beyond simplistic “faith” and intellectually attractive spiritually ideas. Most rely upon some type of “faith” in “God” or “agencies of God”, or in a “spiritual existence” and their own spiritual potentials. (Intellectual knowledge or awareness is not the same as consciousness.)

“Faith in the spiritual”, regardless of belief systems, is all that most have to draw upon in extreme crisis. Of those who have “spiritual faith”, some believe this justifies predation upon others to survive, etc. Others who have “spiritual faith” do not share this aggressive quality and will “go quietly” to their “next existence”.

Those without “faith” in a spiritual existence rely upon the collectively-reinforced moral or ethical precepts created through the self-centered social tribal control systems that they most identify with. Those with very little or no spiritual inclination will behave in a similar manner to those with “spiritual faith” under extreme crisis. Some will believe that survival of the individual is sufficient to justify violence or predation. Some will not engage in such aggressive behavior.

In any of these cases, regardless of any belief system, there be those who will be open to “spiritual salvation” in their moment of most extreme personal crisis.

Rescue, Extraction, Ascension

Ascension is an ongoing and uniquely personal process at this time.

Other than the very small fraction of Selves who will be leaving their human bodies to rejoin their spiritual origins, those remaining spiritual fragments will require assistance to leave –or assistance upon the cessation of their human form.

And there are a great many in human form that have no spiritual aspects in residence –or who have dark entities residing in their human form. (This is something I will refrain from further elaboration.)

“Rescue and extraction” is ongoing for emergency situations and for those with the highest “light quotient potentials” and spiritual learning about density. Mass events have also been prepared for.

The main focus is to collect and consolidate the most spiritual capacity in a useful and coherent manner in order to increase the available capacity of spiritual energies. As this capacity grows, so does the capacity to assist ever more. This cannot be accomplished at the human level, only at the level of our own higher being. Hence, those with the greatest capacity to be of help are of greater practical value to the overall process at the outset.

Soul beings/higher level beings with human presences are gradually being aided in their reconnecting and in removing themselves from 3d density to their natural higher state. This will enable them to better “collect and reconnect” and to reposition themselves whereby to aid other souls/higher beings –and directly and indirectly aid the overall cosmic “corrections process” as well as Creator.

As it becomes possible to describe examples of this process to assist in recognizing confirmatory signs, we will post at the NES forums. For now, this remains a very unique process to each individual.

Supramental and the Divine

A parallel, ongoing experiment is underway which involves the descent of the Supramental through those willing and able to accept it and test how far it can go. Generally, the human body is unable to withstand these energies and be able function in the 3d physical world. At the very least, this process would aid some in gaining more ready access to their lightbody and thus move into a more ascended state of consciousness, including embarking from 3d entirely.

This is not about any one individual achieving a supramental state and supramental “powers” among humans, rather it is about the possibilities of the diversity of spiritual beings working together connected through Oneness. I make this a point here since there are those who to this day persist in trying to achieve “higher powers” while still humanly embodied. Other than to demonstrate some minor paranormal abilities, such a situation will not be allowed to occur. There are many good reasons for this, and one of them is simply that those who choose such a path are inherently defective in their motivation and defective in their knowledge of the nature of this reality and no good can come from amplifying such a state of “incompleteness” with extraordinary powers over the lower levels. Good intentions, aside.

Three Main Zones of Spiritual Focus

For purposes of discussion here, we would distinguish three main levels to the spiritual realms: the lowest would be those beings with human presences; an intermediate range which includes some very vast beings; and the highest levels of Creator of All and those agencies most closely associated with Creator.

Among those at the intermediate and highest levels, there are those who imagine sufficient cause to maintain the situation of soul beings/higher level beings in human embodiment. It is my assessment that this only perpetuates a state of growing suffering in 3d human reality and perpetuates a source of confusion in the levels “above”. And there are those who simply lack sufficient understanding of the complex situation of spiritual beings and their human levels and the relationship of all this to the most central problems of the corrections process and the dynamics of the larger Creation and Creator.

There are those in the lower range of existence who also find cause to perpetuate the present state of illusion and delusion, and in a similar manner so would their human level Selves. And there are those beings that are seemingly addicted to the endless sensorial and emotive stimuli of the human level. This is all something we discussed in 2009.

#22

Human Level of Spiritual Presences

Foremost, it is important to distinguish between those levels of spiritual beings that have human presences now or recently enough –and those beings that have very little or no human experience. This latter category includes those whose intermediate role is to facilitate the “cosmic corrections process” between the highest levels of Creation and the lower levels.

One question at these intermediate/higher levels concerns how long to allow the human-earth situation to continue with humanly-trapped/resident spiritual beings.

I would remind all concerned at whatever their level of existence that there are other ways of learning for spiritual beings than through the animal bodies of their individuations.

Another question has to do with the potential of personal and collective catastrophic crisis leading to Spiritual Realization by the human level –and/or its higher levels.

The entire dynamic must stop the ongoing and heedless incarnating (carnal  $\approx$  of the flesh  $\approx$  animal) through human form by spiritual beings. The very process has become a lurid tragedy in a “virtual reality” that has infected entire sections of spiritual beings with an addiction to an existence primarily dominated by the Original “Error of the Dark”. In the absence of a coherent higher Oneness connection, the inherent of power individuation has acted as “low attractor” like a gravity force pulling on everything in reach to drag it down to an increasingly spiritually fallen state. The attractor of individuation, in the absence of a counter balance of the higher Oneness, exerts its influence over light beings as well.

At this point I should state that one of the potential (but very seldom realized) benefits of individuating into 3d level, especially through human or a comparable form, is to be able to focus upon specific information and ideas and goals –and to better understand certain facets of manifestation.

Those who agreed –out of the highest of intentions –to come here in human form to help assess and influence the situation did so at great peril to themselves and to that portion of themselves that they extended into the human level.

As I have discussed the extraction, rescue, ascension of those with the highest “light quotient potential” needs to take a higher priority in order to increase the available spiritual energy to focus on the problems we have been dealing with here and those similar situations of other worlds.

With regard to those higher level/soul beings with human presences, I would say that there is as much “reluctance” on the part of some of these beings to put a stop to the human “virtual reality game” –as there is on the part of the more aware human level Self to seek ascend/rescue to their higher vibrational “home”.

(Read this again.)

This is partly due to the problem of “garbage in-garbage out” (GIGO) whereby too little is learned of any value by spiritual beings through their human existence – and partly due to the problem of becoming “addicted” to the infinite sensoria and emotive experiencing through humans –and partly due to the deliberate entrapment by the Dark of spiritual beings through human forms.

Related to this, there is also a problem among a portion of human level Selves who have some spiritual awareness. This involves their upset with their own higher level of being for leaving them “hanging” for so long. This leads to an additional problem whereby a fraction of spiritually aware human Selves (and their human host level of self) reject the higher spiritual realms out of frustration and upset.

From the perspective of some (not all) higher level/soul beings that have a human presence, the loss of a small portion of their matrix to a failed exploration in the land of humans is not always of the of greatest concern to them. It would be like human body breathing, excreting moisture and other bodily substances. Your body will tend to compensate for the loss of “substance”. Or perhaps a more apt analogy is that of an amoeba extending a small portion of itself through a pseudopod which becomes separated from the main body due to circumstances. The amoeba continues on and eventually replenishes its lost substance and continues on as before, extending another pseudopod, etc.

And so there have been many fragment, wisps of higher level beings that been lost between human 3d and next levels up. Some completely dispersed (dissipated) some were relegated to the realm of ghosts and other lost spirit fragments.

To the human “you”: It is important to realize that in many situations the higher level “you” is simply unable to effect any change at its human level of being. This cannot be allowed to dominate one’s human thought through anger or blame based upon human-centric beliefs. Rather, it is cause to deepen one’s spiritual understanding so as to be better able to contribute to the larger “corrections process” and the spiritual growth of ones greater state of being.

To the higher realms: Understand this, there are too many human level Selves that may not have “figured out” very much in terms of spiritual truth, nevertheless, they have placed their “faith” in a process and in their own spiritual origins. Do not let this become like the “misplaced faith” which is endemic to the falsehoods of this distorted and spiritually and energetically decrepit realm.

#23

A Plan

There is a significant portion of humans that carry the “Spark of Creator” –a particle of the Absolute that forms the human Self. (Indeed, not all humans have this.)

Of those who do, there is a small fraction that have a very high light quotient potential and it is their spiritual learning and energy needs to be integrated into their originating being where it can be of the greatest value at many levels, not just to further assist the corrections process that is focused around Earthly humans but in other levels of existence as well –including direct aid to Creator.

Given the present state of affairs, their ascent and integration into their “being of origin” is preferred until more experience is gained that would allow a full descension, perhaps of the the Supramental Intelligence itself. Meanwhile, integration and sharing of learning, healing, rest, reflection, is the order of the day as each ascension, “rescue” or extraction is completed.

From this higher level of energies and perspective, soul beings and other higher level beings can share and exchange learning with one another. Some may effectively constitute a “local council” to facilitate the next stage of the process directed towards the balance of those with a relatively high “light quotient potential”.

The main point of this initial process is to lead to useful and functional spiritual energetic capacity at a level that is relates closely with 3d density.

One of the outcomes will be to have collective enough capacity to aid as many of the remaining spiritual essences out of 3d and to directly aid the corrections process.

This entire effort does not mean the end of 3d plane of existence, it does mean that what is gained from all that has transpired here can be applied with other worlds facing similar problems.

#24

A Possible Quarantine

At some point, “visitor passes” with “qualified” support teams will be arranged for those spiritual beings charged with implementing the next stages of changes on behalf of Creator, etc. As part of this process, these may also include “familiarization tours” for beings who do not have much a feel for the situation of 3d humans on Earth. Through this they also get to experience a little of what it is like for humans on earth now. The details of this process are nothing new.

#25 Spiritual Stewardship

At a non-spiritual level of human intelligence, there are some who learned something of a self-centered ethos that usually includes concepts of maintaining a “clean” and “balanced” environment of “nature”. Some take this a step further and aspire to be “stewards” to help clean up or care for the planetary environment. While most humans who ascribe to such notions are usually of high and good intention, there are also those who readily co-opt such ideas for purposes of social control. With regard to those with “best of intentions”, they do not realize how arrogant and ignorant they are.

First of all there is no human level solutions to “cleaning-up” the Earthly environment. Second, without a higher spiritual perspective –one based upon direct spiritual Knowing, to undertake such actions would be, at the very least ludicrous for more reasons than could be listed here. Third, the planetary consciousness Itself is in dire need of correction and resurrection into the Light.

However, from one’s higher level of Being –one’s true origins as a spiritual Being, it is possible to become involved in helping to correct, repair, and guide a planetary environment, working with higher level Beings as well as those at a planetary level. Some spiritual human Selves with their higher origins may well choose such a role for their own spiritual evolution and for their own greater service to creation and to Creator.

#26 A Corrected Creation

One of the formulations of the “new creation” (given the limits of human language) is trust, caring, service, in larger unifying setting. TRUST is primary and first.

Genuine “Trust” is in short supply and tends to be limited to the very nature of the extensive fragmenting/individuation process of this Creator and much of what it gave rise to. The static unifying field (to my knowing) is unable to compensate for any dynamic increase in individuation that occur as the field of individuations expands. This contributes to the dissipation problem.

As the unifying attraction force is overwhelmed by the forces of dissipation an individuation, the potential of the unifying force of high trust is also diminished.

The new creation system “knows” of this problem and from its beginning set out to avoid this as described in my earlier short sketches of its internal dynamics.

“The Light of Consciousness Turns upon Itself Toward Its Source”

-from “Pathways Through to Space” (1973 edition) by Franklin Merrell-Wolff (originally published in 1944)

A New Word

November 7, 1936

IN THE EFFORT to give expression to Values which have their source in the Transcendent World, a serious difficulty is encountered, owing to the inadequate supply of words having the appropriate meaning. One result is, that very often the writer or speaker asserts ineffability in a wider sense than is necessarily the case. The Transcendent as such is inexpressible within the relative manifold, but there is an intermediate domain, between the Transcendent proper and the more restricted subject-object consciousness, where partial expression is possible. If this were not so, it would be entirely useless to write or say anything on these subjects. But when we come to the question of how far expression is possible, there is no definite answer. The problem seems to be much like that of the evaluation of an irrational number in terms of rational numbers. We know that a perfect evaluation is a theoretical or absolute impossibility, but at the same time the evaluation can approach perfection without limit. In actual practice, the mathematician proceeds in this evaluation just so far as is significant for his purposes, and stops there. With respect to the expression of the Higher Values, there is likewise no theoretical limit to the process of approximation. The absence of the conceptual tools or the limitations of the intellectual capacity of a given individual determine the limits for him, but do not define the limits of possibility for other individuals. This is all a question of relative skill and equipment. The higher approximations are, admittedly, very difficult to produce and they are, progressively, less and less easy to understand as they are extended into the unknown. Yet the process in approximation releases ever more and more power of an increasing inclusiveness. So work of this kind is important for mankind as a whole, even though those who directly benefit by it are necessarily quite limited in number.

For the expression of the Transcendent, the Sanskrit is unquestionably the best of the fairly well known vehicles, for in this language there are many words representing metaphysical significance, for which there are no equivalents to be found in western languages. But outside a limited group of specialized scholars, an extensive use of Sanskrit is impractical. A few Sanskrit words may be introduced with appropriate explanation, and that is all. One who confines himself to the more common portion of the English language is restricted to the Anglo-Saxon and derivatives of Latin and Greek. Without the aid of the latter derivatives, the writer would be all but incoherent, once he reaches beyond very simple levels of thought; and, even with all three resources, a certain straining of the meaning of words is often unavoidable. A great deal of the actual expression which one encounters in his various readings involves a very careless use of words, and the result is often one of needless confusion. I believe that this confusion should be avoided wherever possible. Part of this confusion grows out of a usage of words that is neither in accordance with their etymological meaning nor with current dictionary definition. Often this can be guarded against by a more careful selection of words and word-combinations and, where this is impossible, by taking pains to define the new usage of a given term. Sometimes new words may be coined in accordance with the established rules of word-building. It is not good practice to employ this device if adequate word-tools already exist, but where it actually clarifies meaning it would seem to be beyond criticism.

I have coined a new word that seems to supply an unfilled need. It is the noun, “introception”, with the verb form, “introceive”. This word is from the combining forms 'intro,' meaning 'within/ 'into/and 'in/ and 'capere,' meaning 'take.' Hence it has the primary meaning 'to take into or in.' The principal meaning for which I find this word useful is: 'The process or mode of consciousness which penetrates to profundity through the affective function/ Thus, it is the kind of insight aroused through music, poetry, and the fine arts in general. Both the words 'understanding' and 'perception have been, at times, stretched in their meaning to carry this significance. But such usage is not consonant with the current meaning of these terms. 'Understanding/ properly, is related to cognition, while “perception” is grounded in sensation. An idea or a concept may be understood; a sensory datum, either in a subtle or gross sense, may produce a perception; but the quality of consciousness, associated with the affections, is something of quite a different sort from either of these.

In principle, inward penetration is possible through any of the three modes of consciousness, or various combinations of them; but, practically, perception as a complex of sensation—not intuition—is rarely a Road in this cycle. Thus, in general, man Enters through understanding, or introception, or intuitive perception; or rather with one or the other of these as the predominant mode of his consciousness. With most individuals who reach the Outer Court of the Path, introception or intuitive perception is more developed than understanding, and thus he who would directly influence the greater number of people should speak mostly to the introceptive or intuitively perceptive consciousness. On the other hand, those who have attained a considerable development of power are likely to have exceptional understanding, at least in some fields. Thus, he who would effect an influence with the latter group must appeal, in large measure, to the understanding.

* * * * *

Note: Subsequently, I have broadened the meaning of introception so as to designate a third function of consciousness defined as: "The Power whereby the Light of Consciousness turns upon Itself toward Its Source".

*-from "Pathways Through to Space" by Franklin Merrell-Wolff
(Julian Press 1973 edition; originally published in 1944)*

[Ed. Note:] This term was originally used in the 19th century to describe the dynamics between neural sensations and mind-body awareness. As usually occurs with nearly all concepts and ideas of any real importance to spiritual evolution, they are trivialized or distorted. And so it was that this term became co-opted into the lexicon of the “social disease” known as the “psychology professions”. [-ASK]

“The End of the World”

- by Teilard de Chardin

Note: The following is excerpted from the essay, “Judgment, Accomplishments, Fulfillment” - What is Spiritually Real? (October 1, 2013)

I would like to paraphrase de Chardin on the subject of “end times” from his essay, “The End of the World” (1924 – translated from the original French). He presumed and projected (incorrectly in my assessment) that humanity would reach a critical mass of consciousness, a unified consciousness capable of taking in the immensity of the cosmos. Nevertheless, he wrote of the moment of consciousness shifting into a higher and more expanded state, and thus I have filtered this presumption of his as I paraphrase the essence of his comments. His words are italicized and with quotation marks.

Of the human level of consciousness which “comes of age”, for each individual there will be that choice made – “the yes or no as an answer to God, pronounced individually”...

“It is by no means easy to picture to ourselves what sort of event the end of the world could be.

“Spirit has only to be reversed, to move into a different zone, for the whole shape of the world immediately to be changed.”

“When the end of time is at hand, a terrifying spiritual pressure will be exerted on the confines of the real, built up by the desperate efforts of souls tense with longing to escape from the earth.”

“...at the same time the world will be infected by a profound schism (or bifurcation – ASK) –some trying to emerge from themselves in order to dominate the world even more completely –others, relying on the words of Christ, waiting passionately for the world to die, so that they may be absorbed with it in God.”

He goes on to describe a climax of the capacity for union for those spiritual beings have chosen this course. This process “...will be impelled by the most powerful organic attraction that can be conceived (the very force by which the universe holds together) that the monads will join in a headlong rush to the place irrevocably appointed for them...”

This is essentially the same as which I have observed in discussing the ultimate high attractor – the force of Divine Love of Creator and the Higher Oneness, which gives coherency and continuity to that which exists. His use of the term “monads” is essentially the same as the expression I have preferred: “highest level of individuation from Creator of All”.

It is in this context that he makes reference to the “mystery” of the importance that “...it is the cosmos itself that has to disappear”.

As I read his words from 1924, it has close similarity with what I have written about the culmination of Creator of All calling in all of Itself for a new stage in being—a new creation and in which the Error of the Dark will have been erased as if it never had existed.

He concludes with, “Like a vast tide, Being will have engulfed the shifting sands of being. Within a now tranquil ocean, each drop of which, nevertheless, will be conscious of remaining itself, the astonishing adventure of the world will have ended.” “...Erit in omnibus omnia Deus” ... (All things in God and God in all things.)
