“... It is as if a marriage –between heaven and earth – spirit and matter – is in the process of giving birth to something new and wonderful. ...

Within the cells of matter are found the elements of creation and of unlimited potential –the known and the unknowable.”

Various Notes from Alex:

There is a lot to digest here and so it is being sent out in two-parts once again. The second part will follow in a few days.

These notes are bits and pieces of things that have had my attention lately and it is something of a preface to the main essay on the ascension and transformation processes. Following this two-part Update, I am taking an indefinite break from writing, but will continue to post from time to time at the NES Forums. If there is anything urgent, I will use the “A-List” for an email alert.

If there are those in this group who would like to have a conference call to discuss the content of this article, please email me at info@pfcn.net. If there is enough interest, we will schedule a teleconference call for it. This is a one-time invitation that is extended to the entire “A-List”, not just the initial seminar/ discussion group.

What we have conveyed in Global Awakening News has been simple at its core, yet concerns a highly complex situation. This has never lent itself to superficialities or trite ‘sound bites’ and has been challenging to explain in words. This has naturally limited readership to those willing to pay attention and consider things deeply. It could not have been otherwise. We have done our best to not be alarmist or fear-mongering and have tried to explain a reasoning process that attentive readers can apply in their own unique development process. Those who have paid attention to the substantive meaning of what we have published, are much farther along than most others in understanding reality and how and why it is changing.

The questions discussed in this last “Update” may seem disturbing or frustrating to some, elating to others. But it is the sort of stuff that this group is good at working through. Whether one prefers to take a glass ‘half full’ or ‘half empty’ approach, these changes that our higher awareness is focused upon are very interesting and quite exciting, even if they are a source of more than a little apprehension.

Community

Wouldn't it be splendid if those who are focused around the larger questions of spiritual transformation and ‘new earth’ had a 150-acre ‘island of sanity’ and cooperative support? Perhaps even with some modest economic activities through which to connect the local area? After all, we really do not have a calendar date to ‘bank on’ so why not be able to enjoy one another’s company, privacy, nature walks, a few shared endeavors, and occasional afternoon tea and cookies or even a potluck? The Montana land/community cooperative project requires one or a few parties who have sufficient finances to acquire the land here and begin things. Once there are a few households established, then more can be done to involve others. Regrettably, the world still operates on the basis of financial transactions. If not one party, then we can coordinate multiple parties in acquiring the properties. People have asked about costs. There are too many variables for this size of a project to name any “set price”. Anyone with a serious interest and capacity simply needs to contact me.

A description of this new land situation was included in the September 10 Update that went to the ‘A-List’ group and a final update with information from our “field trip” this past week is now posted at NES Forums, See links:

and the pictures from our walk-about are posted here:

Autumn is now here in the Bitterroot Valley. Trees are starting toward gold and we have more garden and land chores to attend to. A new septic system has been installed to support future activities and residence on the south section, but we have postponed paying for any new work. As a low-cost cautionary measure, we might add to our existing water storage capacity for the main house and taking care of additional supplies in the event of a major disruption to ordinary life from human or planetary events. (The point of course is to have a transitional ‘cushion’ as much as possible.) As well, we are in the midst of many important choice-points that need our human focus while we putter around getting things ready for winter.

The Human World at Large

With regard to the confused and conflicting geopolitical alliances, there are relatively few people ‘in the know’ at the top tiers of the global ‘food chain’ of influence. They know they have a limited time to get their respective personal and social-political-economic houses in order. Anyone not on board is to be excluded and subject to the authority of a unified global control system. This is what is behind much of the high-level maneuvering going on now. Like a global ‘musical chairs’, when the music stops, not everyone will have a seat at the table. Some global figures and interests are understandably in denial that the end of their familiar ‘normalcy’ is near. So some of these characters will continue with their petty competition and avarices for a while longer.

The outcome of these changes in the human control realm as well as to the planetary environment is already well in evidence: growing suffering, disease, pandemics, famines, floods, droughts, warfare, toxic air/water/land, civil strife, daily brutality, more warfare, all continuously compounding –and the list goes on. The contributing human factors will eventually be overwhelmed by earth changes and changes in our solar system. One outcome will be a substantial reduction in the human population.

For these and other reasons, it is important for those who monitor world events to stay detached and not presume that any official pronouncements actually represent what they are advertised to represent to the public. Just because high officials of USA, Russia, Iranian or Chinese, etc. say or do one thing, does not actually inform what they are truly about. Publicly positioned international enemies are more likely than ever to be only playing their assigned roles. Even if that role may conclude with the invasion or destruction of the geography and people that they appear to represent.

Ideologies and religions are false constructs that serve agendas that are far beyond what they may advertise. Bloodlines, ancient or modern, are also false constructs designed to facilitate higher-level agendas. There are no nations to support or oppose either internally or internationally. Articles from 2008 and 2009 on the collapse and dissolution of civilization are at <http://www.pfcn.net/napsum-bul1.html>.

In addition, one needs to consider the influence of the shadow government and “ET” factor upon world affairs, including such things as the Gulf of Mexico situation. To be sure, none of the foregoing bodes well for any improvement to humanity’s situation.

These ‘collapse events’ are both of human design and that which is outside the human sphere of influence. Many current events are directly under the control of human powers-that-be and are being used to nudge, steer, and corral most of the human population into a position of subordination to a unified control system. The “ET” card will likely be played as a common threat or as a new benevolent powers-that-be –and perhaps played as both as it is presently.

The planetary environment is changing and this is largely due to the influences of solar and extra-solar factors. Global leaders will huff and puff and posture. Even those who seem to be the favorite to dump upon as ‘bad guys’ are more often playing a scripted role. The world is awash in confused or false “reform movements” and “protest groups”. Some people have attached absurd significance to one leading globalist’s remarks concerning the threat of a “global awakening”; but that figure was only warning their support circles that the masses could become a little restless and thus more trouble to control if they did not function in a more unified manner.

A similar message has circulated among the human global controllers from dark side interests that encompass more than this 3-d Earth. Adequate demonstrations have been made, and the message received. Thus, the human powers-that-be are aware that there are forces that they cannot control and if they wish to keep their privileged positions, they need to accept the roles that are available for them to play. They in turn explain what they need to others, such as leaders of the major economic interests or major governments. Their message is fairly simple, even what is asked for is complicated: “thus and so is happening and if you want a seat at the table, you will need to do thus and so. If you do well, we will look after you and your interests. If you do not, things will not go well for you as of now.”

One indication of the increasing rate of collapse is an increase in the public release of selective information about ‘secrets’ that were heavily guarded in the past. This is not an indication that the ‘good guys’ are ‘winning’. Rather, it is an indication that the controllers no longer need to contain certain information that they have closely guarded and that some of the information being released will likely be used to serve the next stage of their agendas.

Consider that some major future events were anticipated by the powers-that-be, and thus they began a crudely staged “take down” of society into one that is more pliable and manageable under drastically changing situations. Related to such anticipation has been the building of underground facilities of immense scale to allow the existing controllers to continue to dominate. This has been underway by overt and shadow governmental entities as well as by the very wealthy in preparation for 2011-2013 planetary changes and the collapse of this civilization. There are other concerns even farther out by another 25 years. Meanwhile, humans will never truly know the real truth about the events surrounding September 11, 2001, all the missing tens of trillions in currencies, nor will they ever know the real truths about major events surrounding the shadow government and so-called “ET’s”, not even when these will occur in plain sight.

Last week, the mainstream media reported that World War One is now ‘officially’ over when Germany completed its final installment payment for war reparations as per the 1919 treaty. There are many plans in the works by various dark forces, human and otherwise, to cause various forms of global destruction that will result in their either controlling the remaining humans and this planet or their destroying what they will as they retreat. This is what is known as a ‘scorched earth’ threat. One can always rationalize and prefer to believe these are merely the result of hubris and self-centered policies. And one would only be partly right. What such a superficial understanding does, however, is to mask something deeper. The Gulf of Mexico, various threats of global war, actions at a higher dimensional level, and more are in play. Intellectual, societal, and spiritual degeneration in the world worsens.

A wide range of scenarios have been planned and prepared for and with some unfolding now. These would include various concocted ‘terror’ false flag events in more than one ‘western’ city, including actions directed toward one or more global political figures. Humans have been deliberately steered into a shaken and unstable mode of life that further increases susceptibility to nationalistic and overt militaristic moods. This in turn makes it easier for humans to more willingly ‘sacrifice’ themselves for some falsehood of ‘common interests’. Anyone who needs a graphic example should read “Brave New World” or “Fahrenheit 451”. What has been demonstrated over the recent century and the recent millennia is that regardless of how dire or how beneficent human circumstances, there is no basis for a social-spiritual awakening of humans.

The Gulf of Mexico (GoM) situation continues to worsen. More and more people are becoming seriously ill, exotic diseases are developing at the coastal zone, and toxic air and rain is moving farther inland as evidenced by observation and health reports. One recent survey found nearly one third of eastern GoM coastal residents reporting health issues. Yet too few are leaving who have the material means, and those who do not are barely aware of the slow death that is overcoming them. It is a slow moving growing wave of debilitating diseases and death. Tens of millions of dollars from BP and the US government are being spent to encourage people to eat the poisoned seafood, swim in the water, go to the beaches, and pretend there is no problem. Those who object to publicly receive frightening threats from private thugs. It is largely a microcosm of the entire world situation.

A recent article from a social-political commentator highlights a few examples of a slow-moving “scorched earth” policy by the dark forces, humans or otherwise. (Link: <http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php?topic=1071.msg4838#msg4838>)

There are some who decry the lack of care and attention to those who are suffering en masse in Pakistan, Gaza, Haiti, various African countries, etc. It is not that humans do not care, although they are becoming desensitized, rather it is that the problems are so overwhelming in scope and implication and so many are increasingly dealing with their own problems. And of course it is completely absurd to expect any of the major governments to do anything to be of genuine aid to those most in need. As to the white is black/black is white double-speak mind control of the various brands of memes, I will not comment any further on these matters except to say that anyone who is still waving a flag for one country or another or for one political party or another has a very poor grasp of the social reality of human life.

Overall the level of personal and collective insanity is growing, fueled by deliberately manipulated fear. This stimulation of fear is being effectively used by the powers-that-be and otherworldly forces to neutralize and direct masses of humanity as desired. Even children are involved in this process from recruitment into spying, becoming combatants, or surreptitiously recruit as test subjects in remote control war. In many countries, children are regarded as slaves and in others are severely monitored through new social mind-control systems. This is far easier than a forced military rule and fits readily onto the carefully cultivated social control systems based upon maintaining their own imprisonment. Overall, these considerations have a profound effect upon the near future potential of the spiritual evolution of present-day humans. It is a form of ‘scorched earth’ policy that ravages the social-spiritual consciousness.

ET's and Aliens

Two years later, we again have grand pronouncements of “ET” spaceships hovering over major cities. It is claimed that “they” say that they will not land nor communicate directly, only hover. We are told, that “they” say they are here to protect us from the danger of CO2 in the atmosphere, etc. Another reason given for the consumption of the gullible is that they are “only” hovering over major cities, so as not to cause fear and panic. Do I need to explain this?

By pre-announcing that there would be “hovering only”, no contact, no landings, it establishes limited expectations and sets the stage for a possible shadow government operation. If these are ground or high altitude optical projections and are interspersed with actual earth-built craft, it will appear quite real, and suddenly hundreds of millions of ‘non-believers’ will become ‘believers’. But believers in what? Perhaps in a new global threat beyond shadow government false flag events?

I have noted some recent of new attempts all concentrated over recent weeks at presenting the ‘alien agenda’ to the masses of people. A major television network in the USA has begun a new “aliens are amongst us” series called “The Event”. Various sources are fueling speculation of 100-mile-across spaceships at the edge of the solar system based on only one set of radio telescope images and rumor. This has generated ‘tons’ of data bits on the Internet as one person after another copies, forwards, and adds their own spin to wild conjecture. A group of ex-military people recently announced that ET’s/aliens have interfered with nuclear weapon installations over a period years (old news). Now, an author named Fulham is promoting an October 2010 mass ET arrival that will save humanity from the dangers of too much carbon dioxide! What was not clear is that this is derived from a channeller from Canada, not from high-level insider knowledge of the shadow government. The whole business is reminiscent of the October 2008 channelled announcement that was later repudiated by the medium herself.

Nevertheless, new age/ET-believers are an endless source of ignorant hope and dangerous gullibility. In addition, there are new attempts at “disclosure” using public relations-web-based services to promote yet again, claims of ET/UFO cover-ups and government complicity. This time, the story of “ET’s” interfering with various nuclear weapons sites has made into the international wire services. Some foolishly believe that ET’s will ‘save us’ from self-destruction and will make for a ‘golden age’ of some sort. So little discernment, so little critical thinking.

Some believe that all ET’s are the enemy, and on it goes. But it is not so simple.

What is more to the point is why now and how does it fit into the global control scheme over humans by other humans?

How does this fit into the global control schemes of the dark forces that exist outside of Earthly 3-d existence?

Bear in mind that dark forces, including those "ET's" have instructed humans to expect their return and to mark the days. Some cultures simply gave up since "they" never did show up --as promised. But this also set the stage for all those religious stories about messiahs and second-comings.

Overall, the “ET” alien agenda over millennia has been dominated by dark forces seeking control over human existence for their own purposes. These purposes include gaining access and control of the soul being and for replicating themselves in an organic fashion, thus spreading the dark forces domains even further. Humans mimic this agenda with their usual arrogance to spread a diseased and fallen consciousness that dominates humanity ‘to the stars’. Behind all of this is the prime driver of the origins of the dark: to overtake and replace divine creation with itself. Stories of genetic experiments going back to ancient times, breeding humans as slaves, etc., all relevant and general true accurate, however this was only a secondary agenda.

One consideration rarely discussed and then without much depth is that there are various dark forces entities seeking access through a ‘side door’ to the human awareness. This explains much of bizarre and wildly varied reports –from unusually consistent appearances to those differing enormously from one another in behaviors and appearances.

Another consideration that is rarely addressed is at the higher self/soul level, there are aspects that are directly linked to what humans would consider extra-terrestrials. Consider this a form of soul-level student exchange and guide program. In some cases humans also have a tiny fraction of corresponding “alien” DNA activated as well. This is not necessarily the result of ET interferences, etc. but can also be simply a direct result of the higher aspects working quietly with your human self at a cellular level. As I said, this is complicated and one should not presume things unless one is sure.

Additional discussion on this can be found at the NES Forum, at <http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php?topic=207.msg4840#msg4840>. Also, there is a post of the December 2009 article on Aliens and Exopolitics – Link: <http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php?topic=207.msg4434#msg4434>.

Situations and Scenarios

I have little more to say concerning planetary changes than what I have written previously. Suffice to say the planet is changing and so is the space this planet travels in. Before the end of this year there are likely to be very dramatic events and ongoing. If one is living in one of the areas most likely to be affected, one should do what can be done to ease one's transition in remaining or to plan now for an alternate location.

Now I wish to simply state two scenarios: [A] Most of present humanity continues on through these coming months and few years, surviving more wars, more material suffering from the breakdown of civilization, pandemics, and more suffering from increased planetary earth and solar changes. The human powers that still retain much power to enforce their rule over humans, albeit weakened by upheavals from social rebellion and earth changes; or [B] A very large portion of humanity perishes, the dark human powers that can no longer rule over people and much of humanity is 'free' to figure out what to do with the whole mess. To keep things simple, let's also assume that there is no successful "ET/Alien" takeover and they and the higher level dark forces are mostly gone or are packing to leave.

In whatever variations one envisions, the state of human consciousness must change and the condition of the planetary environment is anywhere from the present toxic mess or something far worse in terms of devastation and environmental hazards.

A third scenario introduces a new element: [C] A portion of humans undergoes a rapid change in their state of consciousness and subtle bodies that allows them to 'see' and 'know' things from an expanded state that includes the spiritual dimensions. What are these "changed" humans going to choose relative to the scenarios described above?

As the material and illusionary reality becomes more visible to more people, there will also be greater capacity to see what so many have been involved with so unconsciously and for so very long. This will further help accelerate an ascension and transformation process.

It is important to let go of trying to ‘fix things’ in a collapsing social and energetic reality, it is important to let go of trying to get others to see what they cannot yet see for themselves, it is important to let go of trying to heal every hurt and suffering in the world.

A new earth, new human, and new state of consciousness awareness awaits. Initially, letting of the old will not be easy for most. This includes attachment to familiar bodily existence. All can change in a few short years or sooner and something very different and new can emerge from the new consciousness. The exact timing and exact scenarios of this remain unknown and are not all to be found in the 3-d reality. It is also important to let go of notions as to how many humans may or may not be alive and living on this earth.

A question for those who are primarily spiritually focused would concern the remaining attraction of to them 3-d reality at this point. This is a facet of the “three questions”. Being spiritually aware and conscious and deliberate in life becomes more and more essential.

The human form occupies an interesting potential, intermediate as it is between consciousness of matter (form) and the consciousness of formlessness.

Until it is all is ‘said and done’, there remains the likelihood that humans of today will continue living on this Earth and will somehow find ways to do their lives differently than at present. If such a situation develops, to avert additional degeneration and chaos, they will need exemplars and teachers. This is another reason for awakened and conscious community. For some, this is a choice to pursue. If this is to be one outcome from the wreckage of the present ‘civilization’, then these new communities will need to develop a good measure of internal self-sufficiency as well as positive relations with the surrounding populace. In more remote areas there are those extant communities that rely upon extended families to build self-sufficiency and land-based wealth. However these have their basis in an earlier era of human society founded on collective familial and tribal labor and distribution. While materially successful, these do not represent a basis for spiritual evolution.

Some hypothetical suppositions: If humans have the capacity to engage in different behavior than at present, if humans find a way to address their daily requirements for a safe and healthy living environment, if general chaos does not jeopardize such efforts, if..., etc. These points are mentioned here, if for no other reason but to restate the possibility of the present society somehow struggling through the collapse of this civilization –and the possibility of some humans managing to organize themselves into more conscious and cooperative community. (That so little of this is going on now does not bode well for the near future.) Nevertheless, what if... ? Where in all this is there spiritual evolution or at least a significant shift in social-spiritual consciousness? And so there enters the next question concerning what is to be done with the present version of human? This is a very serious question, one that perhaps some readers here may have insights to and will post comments at NES under the “Three Big Questions” thread (<http://newearthsummit.org/forum/index.php?topic=1105.msg4845#msg4845>).

One question some readers are dealing with has to do with how long those who are more aware of the spiritual ‘bigger picture’ will be willing to stay on here? What is the deeper point and value to trying to correct the damage done to the planetary and human social environment from millennia of abusive control by a wide range of human and other levels of dark forces? There are after all, planetary processes that can alter this situation very quickly if necessary. Some are willing to ‘stay on’ but there needs to be a very full spiritual understanding as to why. Those who are more ‘spiritually conscious’ need to address this question on behalf of higher level ‘deliberations’. Too many are hanging on out of habit or implanted belief systems designed to keep everyone chained to this existence. In turn the soul beings, for all their faults or weaknesses tend to help maintain all of this out of a loyalty through their human aspects to their human hosts/partners.

Soul Beings – Higher Self

Big changes must be implemented at the soul being/higher self level and those more conscious humans need to become more clear on what they choose and why. Those who have already thoroughly assessed the situation may at some point be called upon for one last review of the whole situation on behalf of the ‘correction energies’ and that which guides them. This may be coming very soon. For some, it is already in their field of awareness.

There is an idea, that with enough awakened and embodied humans, each operating from a range of ascended awareness, there is the possibility of cleaning up and improving this planets habitation zones. There might even be the possibility of some “good guys” ET’s lending aid (since humans would then be operating from true free will). I cannot dispute these possibilities, given what I am aware of. However, this would most likely only apply to a small fraction of humans while the masses of people would be in a quandary as to how to simply survive in a healthy manner and how to deal with those who would rather forcibly take what they want. The problems of health and sanitation are already overwhelming throughout the world given the poisoning of Earth’s human habitation zones.

Matter and Spirit are different expressions or emanations of Creator. It is in the human body that there is a living interface between matter and spirit.

In this thought exercise, let’s consider the situation of those of an ascend consciousness who would have to deal with severely damaged infrastructure while trying to create a different modality of social order and physical survival, while taking care of an endless refugee crisis on every continent. And to keep this simple, let’s assume there is not a war situation with the powers-that-be.

How will a transition be effected? How will humans learn differently? How can more humans develop their consciousness to a higher state? (Consider that in the ancient past, living near and among lower order humans, there were some “ET’s” who possessed advanced knowledge of cosmology, technology, and spirituality to some extent. I must extend the benefit of the doubt that there were some who had benign intentions with regard to native humans.

Would transformational changes for earth-bound humanity go any better if the present human population were substantially less in number than at present? As we will be discussing in this concluding Update, it is all about the state of consciousness and the relationship of the soul beings to those human beings residing in 3-d. Also it is very important to very clear as to the distinction between your human-focused higher self aspects and your human-focused physical aspects of beings. I know many beings have become very fond of certain facets of human physicality. Perhaps too much so.

So, when is it all ‘said and done’? No one at any level can say with certainty to the human calendar. It is such that it could be at any moment for any one of us or all. Will there be an interim period for all this, perhaps ending around 2036 or sooner? While “2012” is only a human calendar notion, it presents a virtual marker flag that humans can contemplate their existential purpose and the failings of human society. At the same time, planetary and space discoveries indicate we are entering a highly unstable and physically dangerous period. So again we see a type of as above/as below dynamics. On the one hand, human society disintegrating from within while external events force change and destruction of the old.

From email and phone visits, there are those who are now keenly aware that their state of consciousness is undergoing major changes and is expanding in many ways. This has provided for some a sense of wonderment with ‘what’s next’ and a sense of peace, despite knowing of the world in chaos. August was a month in which the normal flow of time had changed. For some it was as if time stopped and August would go one and on. For others it was like a start-stop or slow-fast experience. It is my sense that this alteration to the flow of reality (time) was to give the correction energies additional opportunities to do their work. Consequently I expected September to zoom by in a blink or two –and it did!

For those who are experiencing expanded states of awareness, this includes an enhanced awareness of the 3-d energy matrix. One way of describing this is to imagine looking through the edge of a thick plate of glass or plastic instead down at or through its planar surface. Compare this to looking down at the surface of the plate or compare this to looking down on the ocean surface versus to being in the ocean looking all around. Two different perspectives on the same thing. This new ‘angle’ may provide new insights into the state of reality. Something is definitely changing in the reality ‘structures’. Something(s) are being deleted, removed, vanished.

Global Awakening News – “A-List” Update – October 1, 2010

It may be a surprise to some, but there are humans alive today who are in a position to help the soul beings to advance in their evolution and who are already contributing toward this even while embodied and involved in their own process of integrating into their own larger being. An evolved and ascended human self can become the locus of intelligence for the soul being. It is able to assimilate much of the learning from the realms of density as well as the higher levels and thus is a key factor in the evolutionary development of souls. Without attachment to this present human existence, it is more possible to see how the profound existential problems will be worked out and corrected at our higher levels, not amongst the human level of consciousness. For some it may not matter initially whether they are embodied or not as it is their state of consciousness that has become primary.

For those who are ready, there are these evolutionary changes to look forward to.

The potential for ‘vastness of being’ and ‘oneness with creation’ has always been present, but until recently it has been suppressed in many ways for a very long time. We are now living at the time of the end of all suffering and all that which gave rise to it and the time of the beginning of new earth and new creation. There will be those who may continue to ‘walk the lands and skies’ of this familiar earth, as interdimensional beings, shaping, creating, learning. Some may go elsewhere. What has been learned now throughout all that has taken place among humans on this earth is of inestimable value to the remaking of this creation as well as to a new creation.
